Hope Is Aired In A-Test Ban Pact

JFK Reveals Details Of Agreement

Sees Ratification As Step Toward World-Wide Peace

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, speaking to the nation in a spirit of cautious hope, said Friday night the tripower test ban agreement of Moscow "is a victory for mankind."

The chief executive added that:

"This treaty is not the millenium. It will not resolve all conflicts, or cause the Communists to forego their ambitions, or eliminate the dangers of war.

"It will not reduce our need for arms or allies, or programs of assistance to others.

"But it is an important first step — a step toward peace—a step toward reason—a step away from war."

The chief executive spoke via radio and television at a time when the Senate is rumbling with an awareness that Russia, in the past, has broken treaties, and with the misgivings that recall Senate rejection of the League of Nations a generation ago.

The limited nuclear test ban agreement, worked out in 10 days of climactic discussions between the United States, Britain and Russia, would outlaw tests in space, the atmosphere and under water, but not under ground.

With the negotiation of the pact, initialed Thursday in Moscow, went a British-U.S. agreement to explore with their NATO allies Russia's bid for a nonaggression pact to establish a cold war truce between the East and West.

Changing World

Kennedy noted Friday night that the advent of nuclear weapons 18 years ago changed the course of the world and the course of war. In the interval, he said, tension has mounted and produced increased arms, and "each increase in arms has produced an increase in tension."

The President said that, through the years, the two great nuclear powers—the United States and the Soviet Union—frequently exchanged suspicions and warnings, but rarely hope—that "our representatives had met at the summit and at the brink."

"Yesterday," the chief executive said, "a shaft of light cut into the darkness. . . . For the first time, an agreement has been reached on bringing the forces of nuclear destruction under international control. . . ."

Various control plans, starting in 1946, Kennedy recalled, all have been blocked by those opposed to international inspection —he meant Russia.

Kennedy said that a ban on nuclear tests, however, requires on-the-spot inspection only for underground tests. He offered this assurance:

Detection Possible

"This nation now possesses a variety of techniques to detect the nuclear tests of other nations which are conducted in the air or under water. For such tests produce unmistakable signs which our modern instruments can pick up."

Thursday's treaty, Kennedy said, prohibits only those tests which Americans themselves can police.

In contrast with any risks that might be involved in signing the test ban treaty—and Kennedy was sounding the opening gun in an apparent campaign for Senate ratification — the President said a full-scale nuclear war lasting less than 60 minutes "could wipe out more than 300 million Americans, Europeans and Russians, as

Syncom 2 Satellite Races To High Orbit

By HOWARD BENDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Syncom 2, a new breed of space communications station, raced into orbit Friday but faced critical barriers before it could achieve its goal as the world's first synchronous satellite — one which appears to hang like a start over one area of the globe.

As the glittering package raced into space, it demonstrated it was ready for communications tests by receiving and beaming back to earth a recording of the music of "The Star-Spangled Banner," a voice tape and a Teletype message.

The experiments were beamed from the Navy communications ship Kingsport, anchored in the harbor at Lagos, Nigeria, on the West African coast. The satellite transmitted back to ship.

The workhorse Delta rocket, which now has rung up 19 straight launching successes, hoisted Syncom 2 over the first hurdle and propelled it into a great elongated orbit ranging from 140 to 22,300 miles above the earth. The three-

U.S. Air Force, Naval Missions Leave Haiti

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —The U.S. naval and Air Force missions to Haiti left Friday after being ordered out by President Francois Duvalier.

This left only the U.S. military attache and seven Marine guards in Port au Prince.

A total of 27 men were flown out to Guantanamo Naval Air Station in Cuba. They will be reassigned from there to new posts.

The U.S. missions were ordered out last week, it was learned, as a result of an incident involving three your Marines and Haitian police.

Duvalier had been seeking their removal since last fall, when the Haitian government released a letter purportedly written by the man then commanding the naval mission, Col. Robert Heinl, and claiming to link him with attempts to subvert the army against Duvalier.

Under Duvalier's harassment, the U.S. government had been reducing the size of the missions.

The U.S. military groups at peak strength totaled 70 officers and men, mostly Marines. In the group Friday were eight Marine officers and 10 enlisted men and four Air Force officers and five enlisted men.

Five members of the naval mission, including its commander were expelled last week on a charge of violating regulations covering travel in restricted areas.

The U.S. Embassy refused to comment either on the latest expulsion or reasons for it.

48 Children Felled By Gas At Swim Pool

READING, Pa. (UPI) — The valve on a chlorine tank at a city swimming pool "blew" Friday, sending deadly gas over the area and felling 51 persons, all but three of them children.

Robert Grinnage, 3, was listed in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital and Andy Stopper, supervisor of the pool, was admitted to Reading Community General Hospital in good condition. The 13 others admitted to the hospitals were listed in good or satisfactory conditions.

All available fire and police vehicles were sent to the scene as youngsters in a dazed state wandred aimlessly through the street. Many were ill and some were almost unconscious.

Private automobiles and trucks also were commandeered to convey the young victims to the city's three hospitals. They were given oxygen and a solution to induce vomiting to help clear their systems of the fumes.

Mr. K Urges Additional Negotiations

Nonaggression Treaty His Next Major Objective

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, a partial nuclear test ban treaty initated, Friday called on the West to press ahead with negotiations for a nonaggression pact between NATO and the Communist bloc.

He called the test ban treaty a step toward ending cold war tensions.

He said Britain and the United States already had agreed in the test ban talks to negotiations on the nonaggression question.

Khrushchev's views were released as he conferred in the Kremlin with Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman on the thorny problem of Laos. The United States wants Khrushchev to use his influence to get the fighting stopped in that Red-threatened Southeast Asian Kingdom.

No details of the long talk on Laos were disclosed.

While Harriman was at the Kremlin, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko gave the Soviet Union's chief European allies a fill-in on the test ban talks. Leaders from all the Eastern European Warsaw Pact powers have been here for an economic meeting.

General Approval

Tass reported they all approved of what was accomplished.

Communist China, however, did not. A Radio Peking broadcast assailed the treaty and hinted that Red China would have its own nuclear weapons in the not too distant future.

Kuo Mo-Jo, chairman of the China Peace Committee claimed:

"The present attempt of a small number of countries to control the destiny of the people of the world by means of monopolizing nuclear weapons will certainly be smashed in the not too distant future."

Termed Breakthrough

Khrushchev, in an interview with the two main Soviet newspapers, Pravda and Izvestia, hailed the treaty banning all but underground nuclear tests as a breakthrough in East-West relations.

"As a restult of the agreement on the prohibition of nuclear weapon tests," he declared, "favorable opportunities have arisen enabling progress to be made in the solution of fundamental international problems.

"It is necessary to embark on this work at once."

Asked what should come first, he answered that a nonaggression pact was the most urgent.

Both Britain and the United States have refused to be drawn into any pact which could be interpreted as giving NATO recognition to East Germany. President Kennedy has indicated, however, that he might consider exchanging unilateral declarations with the Soviet Union not to go to war to change the status quo in Europe.

India Reports Red Military Buildup

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The Indian government is keeping "all friendly governments" informed of Communist China's "heavy military buildup" along their common border, a Foreign Office spokesman said Friday.

The "friendly" nations presumably included the United States and Britain both of whom are helping India to strengthen its defenses.

Rail Unions Oppose ICC As Arbitrator

By LEWIS HAWKINS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Railroad union spokesmen Friday assailed President Kennedy's plan to hand the lingering work-rules dispute to the Interstate Commerce Commission. One called the proposal "harsh and unfair and dangerous in the extreme."

The union broadside was fired before the Senate Commerce Committee soon after the ICC chairman told the House Commerce Committee his agency didn't seek the job but "will make every effort to meet the heavy responsibility" if Congress so directs.

The dual hearings went ahead while congressional leaders pressed for legislative action ahead of the newly established strike deadline of Aug. 29.

Railroad management already has endorsed Kennedy's proposed legislation to let the ICC make interim findings in the four-year-old work-rules controversy for a two-year period while the parties continue to bargain for a permanent solution.

But Roy E. Davidson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers (ind.), told senators the proposal not only is "harsh and unfair" but is doubly unacceptable because it "is not only compulsory arbitration, it is compulsory arbitration with the added evil of an utterly unfair preferment for the demands of management."

Davidson said the ICC is about the last abritrator to whom we would think of submitting our dispute."

Reach Accord In Aluminum Negotiations

NEW YORK (AP)—Major aluminum producers came to terms with the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers Friday, in an agreement similar to that in the steel industry. A major feature of the new contract is a 10-week vacation every five years.

Negotiations for extension of an old contract began only nine days ago, and the talks were among the shortest and most harmonious in the history of the aluminum industry.

The aluminum contract was patterned after that achieved by the Steelworkers in the steel and can industries. It is intended to cover more than 50,000 employes in 55 aluminum plants.

Agreement was reached with Aluminum Co. of America, Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Co., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Ormet Corp., and Reynolds Metal Co.

No wage increase is provided in the contract, although its terms will increase labor costs. However, industry spokesmen said no rise in the price of aluminum is expected.

3 Men Killed As Copter Falls

BLOOMFIELD, Conn. (UPI)—An experimental helicopter fell out of the sky Friday, killing two veteran test pilots and a man beside an automobile at an intersection.

Witnesses said the 'copter, owned by the Kaman Aircraft Corp., was about 100 feet up when it plunged to the ground near the company plant.

The dead men were identified as William Gronwaldt, 31, of Granby, and Al Newton, 44, of Avon, the test pilots, and Albert Punti, 50, of Bloomfield. Punti's son, Ronald, 16, who was watching the helicopter go through its paces, was injured.

The company said the helicopter, described as a single rotor UH-2, was an experimental version of the U.S. Navy's "Sea Sprite." It was being prepared for a record altitude attempt in Maine, the company said.

Rockefeller Says Goldwater Is Now GOP Frontrunner

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller said Friday that he believes that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is presently the frontrunner for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller, here for a social weekend at Bohemian Grove in Sonoma County, said he "would not venture to guess" whether or not Goldwater would get the nomination.

Asked if his recent attacks on the extreme right would affect his popularity in California, Rockefeller said that he made those statements, not as a political candidate, but as a citizen.

He said he was not as strongly against the right as the statements might sound.

Red Cross Appeals For Quake Aid

World Faith Reports Assail Discrimination

MONTREAL (AP)—The fourth World Conference on Faith and Unity, in a committee report, Friday called on Christians to fight racial discrimination "whatever the cost."

The report charged such discrimination is one of the major problems preventing Christian unity.

"God does not ask the sex of a person or the color of his skin, or his social class, or the economic status he holds, or his language, or his political affiliation, or his denomination," the report said.

It was one of five submitted to the final session of the two-week conference. No particular country was singled out for criticism, but earlier delegates had assailed racial practices in the United States, South Africa, Ceylon and the Portuguese African territory of Angola.

The conference, sponsored by the World Council of Churches, was described as one of the most important for Protestant and Orthodox churches in this century.

It brought together 300 theologians from 50 countries. Delegates said they believed they had laid an important foundation for future decisions in this field.

The Roman Catholic Church sent five observers.

Students Who Visited Cuba May Be Fined

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Friday that 58 American students who visited Cuba in defiance of a government ban on such travel may face fines and imprisonment.

Press Officer Richard I. Phillips said it was up to the Justice Department what action would be taken against the students, whose U.S. passports have been cancelled.

Phillips said letters sent to the last known addresses of the students notified them that their passports had been "tentatively withdrawn except for direct return to the United States."

The students went to Cuba by way of Communist Czechoslovakia, Phillips said.

President Flies To Hyannis Port

Half Skopje Is Destroyed In Yugoslavia

Thousands Hurt As Buildings Crumble To Dust

BULLETIN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council was told Friday that almost 10,000 people were killed in the early-morning earthquake in Skopje, Yugoslavia.

Council President Ahmed Taibi Benhima said:

"According to the most recent news that we have just received from Belgrade, almost 10,000 people were killed and over 100,000 are homeless."

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A violent earthquake hit the heart of Skopje at dawn Friday, badly damaging or destroying 80 per cent of the city's buildings and killing possibly 10,000 persons, Tanjug news agency reported.

Fires broke out. Great clouds of dust rose over the city of 270,000 people as buildings came crashing down. Thousands of persons, clad only in nightclothes, fled into streets in panic.

Radio Belgrade said there were "thousands of injured" but it was impossible to say yet how many died although the number "must be very great."

Some Americans, tourists or other visitors, were reported in the city when the first shattering quake struck. There was no word whether any had been killed or injured.

Evacuation Begins

Rescue squads rushed to Skopje, a city of minaret and mosques 210 miles southeast of Belgrade. From all over Yugoslavia trucks and buses were pressed into service to evacuate victims.

The official news agency Tanjug reported a mercy airlift was operating between Skopje and Ljubljana in northern Yugoslavia to ferry rescue teams and medical supplies.

By noon—6 a.m. EST—rescuers still were digging through the rubble from which screams and calls for help could be heard.

Thousands Homeless

Tens of thousands of persons stood in the ruined streets, some weeping, others just staring blankly at the wreckage of their homes. Many still were in their nightclothes.

Yugoslav army units set up emergency distribution centers for water since the city's supply —as well as its telephone and telegraph lines—was knocked out.

Army barracks and Communist party headquarters were reported toppled as was the four-story New Macedonia hotel. There were 200 guests in the hotel when the first shock hit at 5:17 a.m.—11:17 p.m. EST Thursday—and wrecked it. How many lost their lives was not known.

It was believed some of the hotel guests were Americans.

Witnesses reaching Belgrade from the stricken city reported seeing buildings collapse before their eyes. Among the first were two West German girl tourists who had spent the night at the New Macedonia hotel.

Horrifying Rumble

"We left the hotel shortly after 5 a.m. to catch the airport bus," said one, Ingeborg Weiss "We were barely 20 yards from the hotel when the ground began

Earthquakes Have Taken Heavy Toll In Recent Years

By United Press International

The most disastrous earthquake in recent history was the tremor that rocked Agadir, Morocco, March 1, 1960, killing an estimated 12,000 persons.

But the worst earthquake in terms of number killed in the 20th century occurred Dec. 16, 1920, in Kansu, China, in which more than 180,000 died. Another quake hit the same city Dec. 26, 1932 killing 70,000.

On Sept. 1, 1923, a quake struck Tokyo and left an estimated 143,000 dead.

Other major quakes of the century included:

—Quetta, India, May 31, 1935, 60,000 dead.

—Erzingan, Turkey, Dec. 27, 1939, 23,000 dead.

—Northern Afghanistan, June 10-17, 1956, 2,000 dead.

—Northern Iran, July 2, 1957, 2,500 dead.

—Southern Chile, May 21-30, 1960, 5,700 dead.

Armed Services May Declare Off-Limits Places Practicing Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Armed Services were authorized Friday to declare off-limits to troops any areas where "relentless discrimination persists against Negro servicemen and their families."

In granting the authority, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara provided that such declarations may be applied by base commanders only if they have a prior okay from the secretary of the service concerned — Army, Navy or Air Force.

He said he hopes such sanctions —which he likened to those invoked in vice-ridden areas—will never have to be imposed.

McNamara simultaneously rejected as not now feasible a recommendation by a special presidential committee that the Pentagon close military bases near communities where discrimination is particularly prevalent and where it cannot be reduced by persuasion from the military.

McNamara announced these actions in telling President Kennedy what steps have been taken to comply with recommendations made more than a month ago by the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in the Armed Forces.

The committee proposed a variety of actions designed to eliminate discrimination against Negro servicemen in housing, school and other fields.

McNamara, in a memorandum to Kennedy and an accompanying directive, took these additional steps:

—He ordered the services to outline plans for combating discrimination and to give him a report by Aug. 15.

—He authorized creation of the position of assistant secretary of defense for civil rights to carry out an antidiscrimination program.

He added that "certainly the damage to military effectiveness from off-base discrimination is not less than that caused by off-base vice, as to which the off-limits sanction is quite customary."

As for the committee's suggestion that some bases in areas where discrimination is prevalent be closed as a last resort, the defense secretary told Kennedy: "I do not regard this as a feasible action at this time."

McNamara estimated that there are nearly a quarter of a million Negro U.S. servicemen.

He noted that the committee concluded that for the most part racial equality is a reality now on military bases, and he pledged that the Pentagon "will eliminate the exceptions and guard the continuing reality."

Noting that the committee has proposed a wide range of actions in the fields of recruiting, promotion, housing, education and elimination of discrimination both on bases and off, McNamara said:

"Many of these have been or will be put into effect, but some require more study and on a few we have reservations."

He did not elaborate.

No wage increase is provided in the contract, although its terms will increase labor costs. However, industry spokesmen said no rise in the price of aluminum is expected.

3 Men Killed As Copter Falls

BLOOMFIELD, Conn. (UPI)—An experimental helicopter fell out of the sky Friday, killing two veteran test pilots and a man beside an automobile at an intersection.

Witnesses said the 'copter, owned by the Kaman Aircraft Corp., was about 100 feet up when it plunged to the ground near the company plant.

The dead men were identified as William Gronwaldt, 31, of Granby, and Al Newton, 44, of Avon, the test pilots, and Albert Punti, 50, of Bloomfield. Punti's son, Ronald, 16, who was watching the helicopter go through its paces, was injured.

The company said the helicopter, described as a single rotor UH-2, was an experimental version of the U.S. Navy's "Sea Sprite." It was being prepared for a record altitude attempt in Maine, the company said.

Rockefeller Says Goldwater Is Now GOP Frontrunner

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller said Friday that he believes that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is presently the frontrunner for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller, here for a social weekend at Bohemian Grove in Sonoma County, said he "would not venture to guess" whether or not Goldwater would get the nomination.

Asked if his recent attacks on the extreme right would affect his popularity in California, Rockefeller said that he made those statements, not as a political candidate, but as a citizen.

He said he was not as strongly against the right as the statements might sound.

Red Cross Appeals For Quake Aid

World Faith Reports Assail Discrimination

MONTREAL (AP)—The fourth World Conference on Faith and Unity, in a committee report, Friday called on Christians to fight racial discrimination "whatever the cost."

The report charged such discrimination is one of the major problems preventing Christian unity.

"God does not ask the sex of a person or the color of his skin, or his social class, or the economic status he holds, or his language, or his political affiliation, or his denomination," the report said.

It was one of five submitted to the final session of the two-week conference. No particular country was singled out for criticism, but earlier delegates had assailed racial practices in the United States, South Africa, Ceylon and the Portuguese African territory of Angola.

The conference, sponsored by the World Council of Churches, was described as one of the most important for Protestant and Orthodox churches in this century.

It brought together 300 theologians from 50 countries. Delegates said they believed they had laid an important foundation for future decisions in this field.

The Roman Catholic Church sent five observers.

Students Who Visited Cuba May Be Fined

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Friday that 58 American students who visited Cuba in defiance of a government ban on such travel may face fines and imprisonment.

Press Officer Richard I. Phillips said it was up to the Justice Department what action would be taken against the students, whose U.S. passports have been cancelled.

Phillips said letters sent to the last known addresses of the students notified them that their passports had been "tentatively withdrawn except for direct return to the United States."

The students went to Cuba by way of Communist Czechoslovakia, Phillips said.

President Flies To Hyannis Port

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy flew to Hyannis Port, Mass., Friday night to spend the weekend with his family.

The President left Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington at 8:04 p.m. EDT after making his television and radio speech to the nation on nuclear testing.

Half Skopje Is Destroyed In Yugoslavia

BULLETIN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council was told Friday that almost 10,000 people were killed in the early-morning earthquake in Skopje, Yugoslavia.

Council President Ahmed Taibi Benhima said:

"According to the most recent news that we have just received from Belgrade, almost 10,000 people were killed and over 100,000 are homeless."

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A violent earthquake hit the heart of Skopje at dawn Friday, badly damaging or destroying 80 per cent of the city's buildings and killing possibly 10,000 persons, Tanjug news agency reported.

Fires broke out. Great clouds of dust rose over the city of 270,000 people as buildings came crashing down. Thousands of persons, clad only in nightclothes, fled into streets in panic.

Radio Belgrade said there were "thousands of injured" but it was impossible to say yet how many died although the number "must be very great."

Some Americans, tourists or other visitors, were reported in the city when the first shattering quake struck. There was no word whether any had been killed or injured.

Evacuation Begins

Rescue squads rushed to Skopje, a city of minaret and mosques 210 miles southeast of Belgrade. From all over Yugoslavia trucks and buses were pressed into service to evacuate victims.

The official news agency Tanjug reported a mercy airlift was operating between Skopje and Ljubljana in northern Yugoslavia to ferry rescue teams and medical supplies.

By noon—6 a.m. EST—rescuers still were digging through the rubble from which screams and calls for help could be heard.

Thousands Homeless

Tens of thousands of persons stood in the ruined streets, some weeping, others just staring blankly at the wreckage of their homes. Many still were in their nightclothes.

Yugoslav army units set up emergency distribution centers for water since the city's supply —as well as its telephone and telegraph lines—was knocked out.

Army barracks and Communist party headquarters were reported toppled as was the four-story New Macedonia hotel. There were 200 guests in the hotel when the first shock hit at 5:17 a.m.—11:17 p.m. EST Thursday—and wrecked it. How many lost their lives was not known.

It was believed some of the hotel guests were Americans.

Witnesses reaching Belgrade from the stricken city reported seeing buildings collapse before their eyes. Among the first were two West German girl tourists who had spent the night at the New Macedonia hotel.

Horrifying Rumble

"We left the hotel shortly after 5 a.m. to catch the airport bus," said one, Ingeborg Weiss "We were barely 20 yards from the hotel when the ground began

Earthquakes Have Taken Heavy Toll In Recent Years

By United Press International

The most disastrous earthquake in recent history was the tremor that rocked Agadir, Morocco, March 1, 1960, killing an estimated 12,000 persons.

But the worst earthquake in terms of number killed in the 20th century occurred Dec. 16, 1920, in Kansu, China, in which more than 180,000 died. Another quake hit the same city Dec. 26, 1932 killing 70,000.

On Sept. 1, 1923, a quake struck Tokyo and left an estimated 143,000 dead.

Other major quakes of the century included:

—Quetta, India, May 31, 1935, 60,000 dead.

—Erzingan, Turkey, Dec. 27, 1939, 23,000 dead.

—Northern Afghanistan, June 10-17, 1956, 2,000 dead.

—Northern Iran, July 2, 1957, 2,500 dead.

—Southern Chile, May 21-30, 1960, 5,700 dead.

Armed Services May Declare Off-Limits Places Practicing Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Armed Services were authorized Friday to declare off-limits to troops any areas where "relentless discrimination persists against Negro servicemen and their families."

In granting the authority, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara provided that such declarations may be applied by base commanders only if they have a prior okay from the secretary of the service concerned — Army, Navy or Air Force.

He said he hopes such sanctions —which he likened to those invoked in vice-ridden areas—will never have to be imposed.

McNamara simultaneously rejected as not now feasible a recommendation by a special presidential committee that the Pentagon close military bases near communities where discrimination is particularly prevalent and where it cannot be reduced by persuasion from the military.

McNamara announced these actions in telling President Kennedy what steps have been taken to comply with recommendations made more than a month ago by the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in the Armed Forces.

The committee proposed a variety of actions designed to eliminate discrimination against Negro servicemen in housing, school and other fields.

McNamara, in a memorandum to Kennedy and an accompanying directive, took these additional steps:

—He ordered the services to outline plans for combating discrimination and to give him a report by Aug. 15.

—He authorized creation of the position of assistant secretary of defense for civil rights to carry out an antidiscrimination program.

He added that "certainly the damage to military effectiveness from off-base discrimination is not less than that caused by off-base vice, as to which the off-limits sanction is quite customary."

As for the committee's suggestion that some bases in areas where discrimination is prevalent be closed as a last resort, the defense secretary told Kennedy: "I do not regard this as a feasible action at this time."

McNamara estimated that there are nearly a quarter of a million Negro U.S. servicemen.

He noted that the committee concluded that for the most part racial equality is a reality now on military bases, and he pledged that the Pentagon "will eliminate the exceptions and guard the continuing reality."

Noting that the committee has proposed a wide range of actions in the fields of recruiting, promotion, housing, education and elimination of discrimination both on bases and off, McNamara said:

"Many of these have been or will be put into effect, but some require more study and on a few we have reservations."

He did not elaborate.

National Guard Command Changes In Cambridge, Md.

Taverns To Reopen; Curfew Eased

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — A new commander took charge of National Guard troops in Cambridge Friday as the force garrisoned in the city dwindled to a single battalion.

Otherwise, all was quiet in the community of 12,000 where troops were sent July 12 after a night of racial violence in which six white persons were wounded.

Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, Maryland's adjutant general, announced in Baltimore that Col. Elmer Bright was taking command of the troops from Brig. Gen. George M. Gelston. Gelston, Reckord's assistant, had been here since June 14 except for four days in July when troops were withdrawn.

Gen. Gelston will begin two weeks summer training in the field immediately. Col. Bright, a Timonium schoolteacher, is with the 3rd Brigade of the 29th Infantry Division.

Meanwhile, a convoy of 40 trucks rumbled across the Choptank River Bridge on U.S. 50, returning 300 men of the 1st Battalion, 110th Artillery, to their homes in the Baltimore area.

The only unit remaining in Cambridge was the 300-man 2nd Battalion of the 110th. A three-day troop rotation will be completed Saturday when that group is replaced by the 450 men of the 1st Battalion, 175th Infantry.

One of Gen. Gelston's last official acts was to ease the militia law restrictions which have been in force since the troops moved in the second time two weeks ago.

A curfew requiring everyone off the streets by 9 p.m. was changed to midnight, a ban on sale of alcoholic beverages was lifted so taverns may remain open until 11 o'clock nightly, and a 7 p.m. closing time for businesses was changed to 11 p.m.

A ban on demonstrations remains in effect, vehicles still may be stopped and searched, and persons with firearms in their vehicles are subject to arrest.

An agreement signed in the office of Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy last Tuesday brought a truce to the summer-long demonstrations by Negroes seeking equal public accommodations, complete school integration and improvements in housing and employment.

Some white residents of Cambridge are trying to get enough signatures by Aug. 10 to petition the town charter public accommodations amendment to referendum. City officials are waging a campaign of quiet persuasion to head off the drive.

Cost Of Living Takes Longest Leap In Months

Prices Advance For Most Goods And Services

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs in the United States in June took their longest leap forward in nine months and the end is not in sight.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor statistics reported Friday the June consumer price index stood at 106.6, up four-tenths of one per cent from the previous month and a record high.

The price index, a comparison with the base period of 1957-59, was 1.2 per cent above June of last year, primarily because of higher prices for food, housing and medical care, the bureau said.

After a two-month period of stability, prices advanced in June for most major types of goods and services. Substantial increases were noted in food, tobacco and used cars. New increases in sales taxes also helped boost living costs.

Arnold Chase, the bureau's assistant commissioner for prices, predicted a further increase for July, but said it would be mostly seasonal.

The new June index means that it now costs 66 cents more to buy the items that $10 would have purchased in the 1957-59 period.

Chase said the story of the living cost rise in June was "primarily the story of sugar, cigarettes and higher taxes." Seasonal trends helped too, he said, particularly in used cars for the summer driving season.

Chase indicated, however, that the general price rise did not point to an inflationary trend but reflected more past inflationary pressures than future.

Indicating another probable advance for July, Chase said, is the fact that meats usually go up this time of the year along with eggs and dairy products and used cars and gasoline. Medical costs can be expected to be rising, he said.

A strong factor in the food price rise of eight-tenths of one per cent in June was the sharp boost in the cost of sugar. Prices for this product rose by 32 per cent in June and was 44 per cent above a year before.

"We may see a decline but sugar prices are not likely to go back to where they were," Chase said. "There will be high prices for sugar for some time to come."

Half Skopje

to rumble. It was a horrifying rumble.

"Then we saw our hotel collapse like a house of cards. A cloud of dust sprang up around us and we couldn't see anything for a full quarter of an hour."

The center of disaster was the city of Skopje itself. Seismologists said the epicenter of the quake was the heart of the city. Lesser damage was reported in the surrounding parts of Macedonia, the southernmost state in Yugoslavia.

The earthquake followed a week of tremors across the Adriatic Sea in Italy. Almost daily earth movements had occurred, spreading terror throughout the region but causing no casualties.

Vatican Favors Ban

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano said Friday that the Moscow accord on a nuclear test ban was a first step toward a peaceful future.

Caracas Police Capture Eight More Escapees

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Police captured eight more escapees Friday from Thursday's mass jailbreak at La Planta Prison, and said around 80 were still at large.

Two of those captured were wearing police uniforms and carrying weapons they had taken from guards. Police overpowered them before they could resist.

About 2,500 troops and armored cars aided police in subduing the 800 prisoners who took over the crowded prison. At one point 620 had left the prison compound, but most failed to penetrate a police cordon around a 30-block area surrounding the prison.

More than 100 political prisoners refused to take part in the break, largest mass escape attempt in Venezuelan history, and Interior Ministry officials said their reports of Thursday that Communist terrorists triggered the escape had proven unfounded.

Japan To Join Economic Group

PARIS (AP)—Japan signed Friday for membership in the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development—OECD.

The 20-nation OECD strives to promote commerce by removing trade barriers and facilitating currency exchange.

The OECD has been made up of 18 European nations—ranging from Iceland to Turkey—and the United States and Canada.

Seventh Day Adventist Hits Parochial Aid Plan

CATONSVILLE (AP) — An official of the Seventh-Day Adventists Church criticized Friday a proposal for federal payments to parents of parochial school children.

Cyril Miller, secretary of the Columbia Union Conference of the Seventh Day Adventists Columbia Union Conference, said such a plan would "raid the treasury of the United States in behalf of sectarian schools."

Miller, of Washington, D.C., expressed his views in a statement issued through the annual summer conference of Maryland and Delaware Adventists, which opened yesterday in Catonsville.

"Lobbyists and lawyers are attempting to break down the wall of separation of church and state which has long been established by the Supreme Court," he said.

"The latest device of evasion is a plan to persuade the federal government to pay money to the parents of parochial school children and then pass the money on to the treasury of those who operate parochial schools.

"If this plan is adopted, our whole educational system will be like the Netherlands where four out of five children attend sectarian instead of public schools."

Conference officials expect more than 2,500 to attend sessions lasting through Aug. 3.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mrs. Madeline Harper, 40, was shot to death Friday in the second-floor bedroom of her home.

Several hours after the shooting, police said Cephus Jones, 35, turned himself in and was charged with homicide.

The victim's daughter, Mrs. Sarah Ann Henry, 21, told officers her mother screamed and a shot was fired after she heard someone enter her mother's room about 2 a.m.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Marylanders have been asked to join a march on Washington set for Aug. 28 by integrationist leaders.

At a meeting Thursday night, Troy Brailey, president of Maryland's Negro American Labor Council, was named chairman of a temporary committee to coordinate Maryland participation.

"We expect Maryland's participation in the march to be massive and significant since we are close to Washington," said Brailey.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Planning Department predicts that Maryland's population will total 5.5 million by the year 2000. This would be an increase of 2.4 million over the 1960 census.

"The greatest growth will obviously occur in the two Maryland metropolitan areas of Baltimore and suburban Washington," the department said in its news letter.

It said the Washington suburban area in Maryland increased 494 per cent from 1900 to 1950 and is expected to increase 370 per cent from 1950 to 2000. Comparable figures for the Baltimore metropolitan area were 104 per cent and 95 per cent.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Public Service Commission will hold a hearing Aug. 22 in Baltimore on the question of reducing rates charged by the Potomac Edison Co. in Western Maryland.

Albert L. Deen, executive secretary of the PSC, said Friday a preliminary analysis by accountants showed that Potomac Edison's net operating income was greater than a reasonable return. An investigation was ordered in May.

Potomac Edison has about 116,000 customers in the counties of Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick, and in portions of Montgomery and Carroll counties.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Dr. Roy D. Cassell, a coordinator of programs for the University of Maryland Extension Service since January, 1962, has been appointed assistant director of the service.

A resident of Lanham, Prince Georges County, Cassell was assistant and associate county agent in Frederick County in 1954-57 and has been with the Extension Service since 1957. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from West Virginia University and a doctorate from the University of Wisconsin.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Montgomery Ward & Co. said Friday it would spend about $3 million to renovate its store on Monroe Street in Baltimore, the work to be completed in the fall.

Air-conditioning the building and illuminating the parking lot are included in the work to be done by the construction firm of Austin & Co.

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP)—Army Maj. Lawrence R. Bailey of Laurel, Md., awarded the Bronze Star by President Kennedy last fall for his courage in resisting Communist interrogation, will appear on a national television show July 30.

Maj. Bailey was imprisoned almost 1½ years by the Communists in Laos after a transport plane in which he was a passenger was shot down. When he was released last Oct. 18, President Kennedy called Bailey's ordeal "a more exacting test of a man's courage than the battlefield."

Since his release, Bailey has been operations officer of the 2nd Army Aviation Division at Ft. Meade.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A researcher at the University of Maryland School of Medicine has been awarded $90,000 from the National Institute of Health for his study of how emotions trigger hormone output by the body's adrenal gland.

The grant went to Dr. Jack Raher, assistant professor of psychiatry who is correlating such emotions as anxiety, depression and anger with the hormone output.

London Critics Pan "PT 109"

LONDON (UPI) — London movie critics Friday banned the film "PT 109," which tells of President Kennedy's exploist as a Navy lieutenant in World War II.

Headlines over the reviews ranged from "It's enough to make a president blush" to "Tarzan Kennedy beats the Japs and surrenders to cliches."

The Daily Express critic asked how a movie could be made about the heroism of a future President "without exaggerating the exploit and making the President look like a damned fool.

"Kennedy emerges not only as a damned fool but a terrible prig," the critic added. "Sitting through this film. . .must surely has been his most blush-making experience this year."

The critic for the Daily Herald said the movie "embodies all the worst features of the worst type of American war film, including great dollops of sentimental dialogue that are frankly laughable."

He said the movie made Kennedy "appear as one of those smug all - American servicemen who delivered reassuring little homilies to their battle - worn men in the intervals between facing up unflinchingly to the enemy."

Similar criticisms were voiced by the other critics.

Syncom 2 Satellite

stage rocket roared away from Cape Canaveral at 10:33 a.m.

However, just placing the satellite in orbit was not the purpose of the launching. Project officials want it to settle into a steady path about 22,300 miles high and then jockey it into a synchronous position over the equator over northern South America. The satellite would stay above this area because it would be traveling at the same relative speed that the earth rotates beneath it.

Some 5½ hours after launching, Syncom 2 was to reach the high point of its egg-shaped orbit.

The above-South America location was selected as the best for communications experiments between the two principal ground stations—the Kingsport and a facility at Lakehurst, N.J.

Major Test Monday

Syncom 2 was expected to be "mutually visible" above the horizon to both stations for the first communications tests between the United States and Africa by Monday.

Telephone, Teletype, radio and photo-facsimile experiments were planned between the ship and Lakehurst. The satellite is not large enough for television transmission. This is planned for a much larger advanced Syncom which could be in the sky in 1965 if Syncom 2 proves the feasibility of a synchronous system.

Syncom 1 achieved the 22,300-mile altitude last February, but a power failure prevented it from achieving synchronous orbit and made it useless for communications tests.

Because of a satellite at the 22,300-mile altitude would be within radio range of more than one-third of the earth's surface, only three advanced Syncoms at equally spaced points around the equator would provide continuous worldwide communications coverage.

The lower-altitude Telstar and Relay communications satellite systems would require 40 to 50 vehicles and more extensive ground facilities.

Typhoid Closes Century-Old Bible Camp

21 Youngsters Are Stricken

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — On a sloping green hillside in southern Franklin County lies the rustic Rhodes Grove Bible camp, a century-old summer playground for children.

The camp is silent today. Rhodes Grove has been closed by typhoid fever.

Twenty-one youngsters who attended the camp in June still lie in area hospitals with the disease.

State health officials are working round the clock in an effort to find the typhoid carrier — the person who brought the epidemic to Rhodes Grove.

Carriers can pass typhoid to others, but are immune themselves. There are 250 known carriers in Pennsylvania, perhaps many others unknown.

"It's a manhunt," said Dr. William D. Schrack Jr., director of the health department's division of communicable disease control. The sooner the carrier is located, the better the chances of halting further outbreaks.

The epidemic was uncovered earlier this month when a pathologist at Chambersburg (Pa.) Hospital reported laboratory findings in four youngsters.

Within days, the incidence of typhoid mounted, first to 12, then 15, and finally 26.

All the victims had been at the camp between June 16 and June 29. Health officials began at once compiling a list of all children present during that period.

Nurses visited as many as possible with a long list of questions designed to uncover more patterns. Authorities in Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia and Florida, were alerted to watch for typhoid symptoms among out-of-state youngsters who attended the camp.

Everything at Rhodes Grove from water supply to food was checked and rechecked. The camp got a clean bill of health, but officials closed it for 21 days as a precautionary measure.

"We must remember, the ultimate source, no matter what the vehicle, whether it was water, milk or food, was a person, and that is who we must find," Dr. Schrack says.

Mt. Climber Still Missing

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP)—Four climbers in radio contact with a helicopter found no trace of a missing Maryland man Friday on the east face of a Glacier National Park peak.

David Wilson, 21, of Severna Park, has been missing since Monday on Going-to-the-Sun Mountain. Park rangers say the sides of the peak are soft, shale rock that crumbles easily, making climbing hazardous.

Lyle McDowell, chief park ranger, said the rescue team and helicopter searched the east side of the mountain at dawn when sunlight was shining directly at the area. Later, they moved to the west side.

Wilson's father, Paul O. Wilson, arrived at the park Thursday.

Young Wilson is a senior at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio.

JFK Reveals

well as untold numbers everywhere."

Words Of Khrushchev

Picking up the words of Soviet Premier Khrushchev in a warning to the Communist Chinese, Kennedy said that the survivors "would envy the dead."

"For," he said, "they would inherit a world so devastated by explosions and poison and fire that today we cannot even conceive of all its horrors."

The President told his listeners the step taken in Moscow Thursday could mean to them and their children and their neighbors a "step toward reduced world tensions and broader areas of agreement."

Kennedy said no one can predict with certainty "what further agreement, if any, can be built on the foundations of this one." He noted that Russia still is unwilling to accept the inspection required by a ban on all tests, including those underground, and that the Moscow talks reached no agreement beyond the one on a limited test ban pact.

Nor, the President said, "is this treaty conditioned on any other matter."

No Secret Agreements

This was a way of saying there were no secret agreements extending beyond the range of the three-power pact initialed Thursday — such as a nonaggression treaty between NATO and Warsaw Pact nations which Khrushchev advocates.

But Kennedy speculated that, from the start now made, it might be possible to move on to agreement on controls over preparations for surprise attack, or on numbers and types of armaments, or on further limitations on the spread of nuclear weapons.

"The important point," Kennedy said, "is that efforts to seek new agreements will go forward."

As a third point, Kennedy said the new treaty "can be a step toward preventing the spread of nuclear weapons to nations not now possessing them."

Washington Archbishop Attacks Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington, urged today the adoption of regulations to outlaw what he called immoral discriminatory practices in housing.

Speaking at a public hearing called by the District of Columbia commissioners, the archbishop said discriminatory actions in housing "disparage and degrade God's children, whom he created in his own image, and impose upon them indignities and living conditions which are repugnant to the moral principles of justice and charity."

The purpose of the hearing, at which about 50 witnesses were scheduled to appear, was to help the commissioners decide what type of housing regulations should be approved to ban discrimination.

The archbishop gave these examples of discrimination which he said should be banned:

"The refusal to sell or rent a house or apartment to a financially and morally qualified purchaser or tenant, solely by reason of his race, color or national origin.

"The refusal of a lending institution to lend money, insure a loan or accept a mortgage in connection with a financially and morally qualified person's desire to purchase property, solely by reason of the applicant's race, color, religion or national origin.

"The use of what are called 'block busting' tactics, that is, to create panic among residents in an area, and to persuade residents to sell their homes because one or more Negro families, or families of other ethenic groups, have purchased or reside in the area."

Caterer Sentenced For Tax Evasion

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Washington area caterer was sentenced Friday to six months in prison on charges of federal income tax evasion.

H. William Birgfeld Jr. had been accused of failing to report some $90,000 in income between 1954 and 1956.

He interrupted his three-week trial in U.S. District Court last March by pleading guilty. Judge Harrison L. Winter imposed the sentence and also levied a $5,000 fine.

Birgfeld was given six weeks to complete business arrangements and report for jailing on Sept. 3.

FBI Recovers Painting Stolen 11 Months Ago

BALTIMORE (AP) — The FBI said Friday it had recovered the painting "The Golden Age," a work done by Benjamin West in 1777 and stolen last year from the University of Nebraska gallery.

Thomas J. Jenkins, special agent in charge of the FBI Baltimore office, said the painting, valued at $6,500, had been offered for sale to an art dealer here. He said the dealer recognized the canvas as one which had been reported stolen and contacted the FBI.

Jenkins said investigators still were trying to trace those responsible for the theft.

A second painting also stolen from the gallery at the same time, "Doune Castle" by Gasper Francis, still is missing, Jenkins said.

Otherwise, all was quiet in the community of 12,000 where troops were sent July 12 after a night of racial violence in which six white persons were wounded.

Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, Maryland's adjutant general, announced in Baltimore that Col. Elmer Bright was taking command of the troops from Brig. Gen. George M. Gelston. Gelston, Reckord's assistant, had been here since June 14 except for four days in July when troops were withdrawn.

Gen. Gelston will begin two weeks summer training in the field immediately. Col. Bright, a Timonium schoolteacher, is with the 3rd Brigade of the 29th Infantry Division.

Meanwhile, a convoy of 40 trucks rumbled across the Choptank River Bridge on U.S. 50, returning 300 men of the 1st Battalion, 110th Artillery, to their homes in the Baltimore area.

The only unit remaining in Cambridge was the 300-man 2nd Battalion of the 110th. A three-day troop rotation will be completed Saturday when that group is replaced by the 450 men of the 1st Battalion, 175th Infantry.

One of Gen. Gelston's last official acts was to ease the militia law restrictions which have been in force since the troops moved in the second time two weeks ago.

A curfew requiring everyone off the streets by 9 p.m. was changed to midnight, a ban on sale of alcoholic beverages was lifted so taverns may remain open until 11 o'clock nightly, and a 7 p.m. closing time for businesses was changed to 11 p.m.

A ban on demonstrations remains in effect, vehicles still may be stopped and searched, and persons with firearms in their vehicles are subject to arrest.

An agreement signed in the office of Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy last Tuesday brought a truce to the summer-long demonstrations by Negroes seeking equal public accommodations, complete school integration and improvements in housing and employment.

Some white residents of Cambridge are trying to get enough signatures by Aug. 10 to petition the town charter public accommodations amendment to referendum. City officials are waging a campaign of quiet persuasion to head off the drive.

Cost Of Living Takes Longest Leap In Months

Prices Advance For Most Goods And Services

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs in the United States in June took their longest leap forward in nine months and the end is not in sight.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor statistics reported Friday the June consumer price index stood at 106.6, up four-tenths of one per cent from the previous month and a record high.

The price index, a comparison with the base period of 1957-59, was 1.2 per cent above June of last year, primarily because of higher prices for food, housing and medical care, the bureau said.

After a two-month period of stability, prices advanced in June for most major types of goods and services. Substantial increases were noted in food, tobacco and used cars. New increases in sales taxes also helped boost living costs.

Arnold Chase, the bureau's assistant commissioner for prices, predicted a further increase for July, but said it would be mostly seasonal.

The new June index means that it now costs 66 cents more to buy the items that $10 would have purchased in the 1957-59 period.

Chase said the story of the living cost rise in June was "primarily the story of sugar, cigarettes and higher taxes." Seasonal trends helped too, he said, particularly in used cars for the summer driving season.

Chase indicated, however, that the general price rise did not point to an inflationary trend but reflected more past inflationary pressures than future.

Indicating another probable advance for July, Chase said, is the fact that meats usually go up this time of the year along with eggs and dairy products and used cars and gasoline. Medical costs can be expected to be rising, he said.

A strong factor in the food price rise of eight-tenths of one per cent in June was the sharp boost in the cost of sugar. Prices for this product rose by 32 per cent in June and was 44 per cent above a year before.

"We may see a decline but sugar prices are not likely to go back to where they were," Chase said. "There will be high prices for sugar for some time to come."

to rumble. It was a horrifying rumble.

"Then we saw our hotel collapse like a house of cards. A cloud of dust sprang up around us and we couldn't see anything for a full quarter of an hour."

The center of disaster was the city of Skopje itself. Seismologists said the epicenter of the quake was the heart of the city. Lesser damage was reported in the surrounding parts of Macedonia, the southernmost state in Yugoslavia.

The earthquake followed a week of tremors across the Adriatic Sea in Italy. Almost daily earth movements had occurred, spreading terror throughout the region but causing no casualties.

Vatican Favors Ban

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano said Friday that the Moscow accord on a nuclear test ban was a first step toward a peaceful future.

Caracas Police Capture Eight More Escapees

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Police captured eight more escapees Friday from Thursday's mass jailbreak at La Planta Prison, and said around 80 were still at large.

Two of those captured were wearing police uniforms and carrying weapons they had taken from guards. Police overpowered them before they could resist.

About 2,500 troops and armored cars aided police in subduing the 800 prisoners who took over the crowded prison. At one point 620 had left the prison compound, but most failed to penetrate a police cordon around a 30-block area surrounding the prison.

More than 100 political prisoners refused to take part in the break, largest mass escape attempt in Venezuelan history, and Interior Ministry officials said their reports of Thursday that Communist terrorists triggered the escape had proven unfounded.

Japan To Join Economic Group

PARIS (AP)—Japan signed Friday for membership in the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development—OECD.

The 20-nation OECD strives to promote commerce by removing trade barriers and facilitating currency exchange.

The OECD has been made up of 18 European nations—ranging from Iceland to Turkey—and the United States and Canada.

Seventh Day Adventist Hits Parochial Aid Plan

CATONSVILLE (AP) — An official of the Seventh-Day Adventists Church criticized Friday a proposal for federal payments to parents of parochial school children.

Cyril Miller, secretary of the Columbia Union Conference of the Seventh Day Adventists Columbia Union Conference, said such a plan would "raid the treasury of the United States in behalf of sectarian schools."

Miller, of Washington, D.C., expressed his views in a statement issued through the annual summer conference of Maryland and Delaware Adventists, which opened yesterday in Catonsville.

"Lobbyists and lawyers are attempting to break down the wall of separation of church and state which has long been established by the Supreme Court," he said.

"The latest device of evasion is a plan to persuade the federal government to pay money to the parents of parochial school children and then pass the money on to the treasury of those who operate parochial schools.

"If this plan is adopted, our whole educational system will be like the Netherlands where four out of five children attend sectarian instead of public schools."

Conference officials expect more than 2,500 to attend sessions lasting through Aug. 3.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mrs. Madeline Harper, 40, was shot to death Friday in the second-floor bedroom of her home.

Several hours after the shooting, police said Cephus Jones, 35, turned himself in and was charged with homicide.

The victim's daughter, Mrs. Sarah Ann Henry, 21, told officers her mother screamed and a shot was fired after she heard someone enter her mother's room about 2 a.m.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Marylanders have been asked to join a march on Washington set for Aug. 28 by integrationist leaders.

At a meeting Thursday night, Troy Brailey, president of Maryland's Negro American Labor Council, was named chairman of a temporary committee to coordinate Maryland participation.

"We expect Maryland's participation in the march to be massive and significant since we are close to Washington," said Brailey.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Planning Department predicts that Maryland's population will total 5.5 million by the year 2000. This would be an increase of 2.4 million over the 1960 census.

"The greatest growth will obviously occur in the two Maryland metropolitan areas of Baltimore and suburban Washington," the department said in its news letter.

It said the Washington suburban area in Maryland increased 494 per cent from 1900 to 1950 and is expected to increase 370 per cent from 1950 to 2000. Comparable figures for the Baltimore metropolitan area were 104 per cent and 95 per cent.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Public Service Commission will hold a hearing Aug. 22 in Baltimore on the question of reducing rates charged by the Potomac Edison Co. in Western Maryland.

Albert L. Deen, executive secretary of the PSC, said Friday a preliminary analysis by accountants showed that Potomac Edison's net operating income was greater than a reasonable return. An investigation was ordered in May.

Potomac Edison has about 116,000 customers in the counties of Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick, and in portions of Montgomery and Carroll counties.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Dr. Roy D. Cassell, a coordinator of programs for the University of Maryland Extension Service since January, 1962, has been appointed assistant director of the service.

A resident of Lanham, Prince Georges County, Cassell was assistant and associate county agent in Frederick County in 1954-57 and has been with the Extension Service since 1957. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from West Virginia University and a doctorate from the University of Wisconsin.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Montgomery Ward & Co. said Friday it would spend about $3 million to renovate its store on Monroe Street in Baltimore, the work to be completed in the fall.

Air-conditioning the building and illuminating the parking lot are included in the work to be done by the construction firm of Austin & Co.

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP)—Army Maj. Lawrence R. Bailey of Laurel, Md., awarded the Bronze Star by President Kennedy last fall for his courage in resisting Communist interrogation, will appear on a national television show July 30.

Maj. Bailey was imprisoned almost 1½ years by the Communists in Laos after a transport plane in which he was a passenger was shot down. When he was released last Oct. 18, President Kennedy called Bailey's ordeal "a more exacting test of a man's courage than the battlefield."

Since his release, Bailey has been operations officer of the 2nd Army Aviation Division at Ft. Meade.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A researcher at the University of Maryland School of Medicine has been awarded $90,000 from the National Institute of Health for his study of how emotions trigger hormone output by the body's adrenal gland.

The grant went to Dr. Jack Raher, assistant professor of psychiatry who is correlating such emotions as anxiety, depression and anger with the hormone output.

London Critics Pan "PT 109"

LONDON (UPI) — London movie critics Friday banned the film "PT 109," which tells of President Kennedy's exploist as a Navy lieutenant in World War II.

Headlines over the reviews ranged from "It's enough to make a president blush" to "Tarzan Kennedy beats the Japs and surrenders to cliches."

The Daily Express critic asked how a movie could be made about the heroism of a future President "without exaggerating the exploit and making the President look like a damned fool.

"Kennedy emerges not only as a damned fool but a terrible prig," the critic added. "Sitting through this film. . .must surely has been his most blush-making experience this year."

The critic for the Daily Herald said the movie "embodies all the worst features of the worst type of American war film, including great dollops of sentimental dialogue that are frankly laughable."

He said the movie made Kennedy "appear as one of those smug all - American servicemen who delivered reassuring little homilies to their battle - worn men in the intervals between facing up unflinchingly to the enemy."

Similar criticisms were voiced by the other critics.

21 Youngsters Are Stricken

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — On a sloping green hillside in southern Franklin County lies the rustic Rhodes Grove Bible camp, a century-old summer playground for children.

The camp is silent today. Rhodes Grove has been closed by typhoid fever.

Twenty-one youngsters who attended the camp in June still lie in area hospitals with the disease.

State health officials are working round the clock in an effort to find the typhoid carrier — the person who brought the epidemic to Rhodes Grove.

Carriers can pass typhoid to others, but are immune themselves. There are 250 known carriers in Pennsylvania, perhaps many others unknown.

"It's a manhunt," said Dr. William D. Schrack Jr., director of the health department's division of communicable disease control. The sooner the carrier is located, the better the chances of halting further outbreaks.

The epidemic was uncovered earlier this month when a pathologist at Chambersburg (Pa.) Hospital reported laboratory findings in four youngsters.

Within days, the incidence of typhoid mounted, first to 12, then 15, and finally 26.

All the victims had been at the camp between June 16 and June 29. Health officials began at once compiling a list of all children present during that period.

Nurses visited as many as possible with a long list of questions designed to uncover more patterns. Authorities in Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia and Florida, were alerted to watch for typhoid symptoms among out-of-state youngsters who attended the camp.

Everything at Rhodes Grove from water supply to food was checked and rechecked. The camp got a clean bill of health, but officials closed it for 21 days as a precautionary measure.

"We must remember, the ultimate source, no matter what the vehicle, whether it was water, milk or food, was a person, and that is who we must find," Dr. Schrack says.

Syncom 2 Satellite

stage rocket roared away from Cape Canaveral at 10:33 a.m.

However, just placing the satellite in orbit was not the purpose of the launching. Project officials want it to settle into a steady path about 22,300 miles high and then jockey it into a synchronous position over the equator over northern South America. The satellite would stay above this area because it would be traveling at the same relative speed that the earth rotates beneath it.

Some 5½ hours after launching, Syncom 2 was to reach the high point of its egg-shaped orbit.

The above-South America location was selected as the best for communications experiments between the two principal ground stations—the Kingsport and a facility at Lakehurst, N.J.

Major Test Monday

Syncom 2 was expected to be "mutually visible" above the horizon to both stations for the first communications tests between the United States and Africa by Monday.

Telephone, Teletype, radio and photo-facsimile experiments were planned between the ship and Lakehurst. The satellite is not large enough for television transmission. This is planned for a much larger advanced Syncom which could be in the sky in 1965 if Syncom 2 proves the feasibility of a synchronous system.

Syncom 1 achieved the 22,300-mile altitude last February, but a power failure prevented it from achieving synchronous orbit and made it useless for communications tests.

Because of a satellite at the 22,300-mile altitude would be within radio range of more than one-third of the earth's surface, only three advanced Syncoms at equally spaced points around the equator would provide continuous worldwide communications coverage.

The lower-altitude Telstar and Relay communications satellite systems would require 40 to 50 vehicles and more extensive ground facilities.

Mt. Climber Still Missing

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP)—Four climbers in radio contact with a helicopter found no trace of a missing Maryland man Friday on the east face of a Glacier National Park peak.

David Wilson, 21, of Severna Park, has been missing since Monday on Going-to-the-Sun Mountain. Park rangers say the sides of the peak are soft, shale rock that crumbles easily, making climbing hazardous.

Lyle McDowell, chief park ranger, said the rescue team and helicopter searched the east side of the mountain at dawn when sunlight was shining directly at the area. Later, they moved to the west side.

Wilson's father, Paul O. Wilson, arrived at the park Thursday.

Young Wilson is a senior at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio.

JFK Reveals

well as untold numbers everywhere."

Words Of Khrushchev

Picking up the words of Soviet Premier Khrushchev in a warning to the Communist Chinese, Kennedy said that the survivors "would envy the dead."

"For," he said, "they would inherit a world so devastated by explosions and poison and fire that today we cannot even conceive of all its horrors."

The President told his listeners the step taken in Moscow Thursday could mean to them and their children and their neighbors a "step toward reduced world tensions and broader areas of agreement."

Kennedy said no one can predict with certainty "what further agreement, if any, can be built on the foundations of this one." He noted that Russia still is unwilling to accept the inspection required by a ban on all tests, including those underground, and that the Moscow talks reached no agreement beyond the one on a limited test ban pact.

Nor, the President said, "is this treaty conditioned on any other matter."

No Secret Agreements

This was a way of saying there were no secret agreements extending beyond the range of the three-power pact initialed Thursday — such as a nonaggression treaty between NATO and Warsaw Pact nations which Khrushchev advocates.

But Kennedy speculated that, from the start now made, it might be possible to move on to agreement on controls over preparations for surprise attack, or on numbers and types of armaments, or on further limitations on the spread of nuclear weapons.

"The important point," Kennedy said, "is that efforts to seek new agreements will go forward."

As a third point, Kennedy said the new treaty "can be a step toward preventing the spread of nuclear weapons to nations not now possessing them."

Washington Archbishop Attacks Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington, urged today the adoption of regulations to outlaw what he called immoral discriminatory practices in housing.

Speaking at a public hearing called by the District of Columbia commissioners, the archbishop said discriminatory actions in housing "disparage and degrade God's children, whom he created in his own image, and impose upon them indignities and living conditions which are repugnant to the moral principles of justice and charity."

The purpose of the hearing, at which about 50 witnesses were scheduled to appear, was to help the commissioners decide what type of housing regulations should be approved to ban discrimination.

The archbishop gave these examples of discrimination which he said should be banned:

"The refusal to sell or rent a house or apartment to a financially and morally qualified purchaser or tenant, solely by reason of his race, color or national origin.

"The refusal of a lending institution to lend money, insure a loan or accept a mortgage in connection with a financially and morally qualified person's desire to purchase property, solely by reason of the applicant's race, color, religion or national origin.

"The use of what are called 'block busting' tactics, that is, to create panic among residents in an area, and to persuade residents to sell their homes because one or more Negro families, or families of other ethenic groups, have purchased or reside in the area."

Caterer Sentenced For Tax Evasion

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Washington area caterer was sentenced Friday to six months in prison on charges of federal income tax evasion.

H. William Birgfeld Jr. had been accused of failing to report some $90,000 in income between 1954 and 1956.

He interrupted his three-week trial in U.S. District Court last March by pleading guilty. Judge Harrison L. Winter imposed the sentence and also levied a $5,000 fine.

Birgfeld was given six weeks to complete business arrangements and report for jailing on Sept. 3.

FBI Recovers Painting Stolen 11 Months Ago

BALTIMORE (AP) — The FBI said Friday it had recovered the painting "The Golden Age," a work done by Benjamin West in 1777 and stolen last year from the University of Nebraska gallery.

Thomas J. Jenkins, special agent in charge of the FBI Baltimore office, said the painting, valued at $6,500, had been offered for sale to an art dealer here. He said the dealer recognized the canvas as one which had been reported stolen and contacted the FBI.

Jenkins said investigators still were trying to trace those responsible for the theft.

A second painting also stolen from the gallery at the same time, "Doune Castle" by Gasper Francis, still is missing, Jenkins said.

Subdivision Rules Go To County Board

C. Lee Renaud, County planning director, yesterday presented the Planning and Zoning Commission's recommendations for adoption of the Subdivision Regulations to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Renaud stated that the subdivision regulations as presented were adopted by the commission at its meeting May 23, 1963. Since the county has adopted a Major Highway Plan, Subdivision Regulations may be adopted as provided in the state enabling legislation for planning and zoning.

It was emphasized that many meetings were held by the commission with citizen advisory groups, local builders, and other interested citizens for approximately one year. In addition to this, Renaud pointed out that the commission had held two public hearings on subdivision regulations to inform the residents of the nature and content of the regulations and to receive the benefit of their comments and specific recommendations.

Renaud stated that all departments and agencies concerned have been consulted in order to assure that the new regulations will not conflict with any existing departmental regulations in effect.

Some changes were made by the commission, which were requested by the builders and other interested citizens through numerous meetings the commission held. The last public hearing held by the commission brought out two major points of criticism, Renaud pointed out. It was felt that the requirement for a performance guarantee were too stringent and there was some question as to the policy of changing assessments after plats are filed.

Renaud stated that the commission is recommending an alternative proposal in lieu of posting a performance bond when the final plat is recorded and still guarantee to the county that improvements will be installed. This will enable a developer to record a final plat with a written agreement between the county without a performance bond immediately.

The existence of this agreement is called to the attention of title examiners by a notation on the recorded final plat which points out that no lot or lots may be sold or building permits issued until improvements are installed or performance guarantee is provided. After the final plat is recorded the developer is assured of all necessary approvals and he may arrange for construction financing and install all or a portion thereof of the required improvements.

By this time the subdivision or a portion thereof is ready for the sale of lots and houses and the subdivider has had no money tied up with a performance guarantee. At this time the subdivider can finish the installation of improvements or provide a performance guarantee on that portion of the subdivision that he wishes to sell lots, and then building permits can be issued. With this procedure the subdivider has had his money invested for a minimum period and still provides the county and the potential lot purchaser the assurance the required improvements will be installed.

Renaud stated that the commission has checked into the policy on changing assessments from acreage to lots.

The Department of Assessment and Taxation advised the commission that the Assessment Department policies are controlled by state laws. In addition, any change in the character or use of land affects the assessed valuation. In order to partially cover the cost of checking and reviewing the plats a filing free schedule was recommended to the Board for adoption, separately, to tie in with the subdivision regulations.

Renaud stated that the commission strongly recommends the adoption of the subdivision regulations as presented and urges that expeditious action be taken.

The board said they would study the proposal over the weekend and make a decision at next Tuesday's meeting on adoption of the regulations.

Frostburg Gets Urban Renewal Planning Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md., announced Friday that a $16,320 federal grant has been approved for urban renewal planning at Frostburg, Md.

Sickles said the Urban Renewal Administration had authorized the grant to the Maryland State Planning Department under the Joint Urban Planning Assistance Program.

He noted that the money would be supplemented by $5,400 in State and local contributions.

Birth Curb Data Goes Begging

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Board of Public Welfare discovered Friday its birth control policy, set forth last September, has not resulted in a significant number of enlightened parents.

The policy permits welfare case workers to take the initiative in referring married couples on the welfare rolls to Planned Parenthood clinics, health departments and physicians for birth control information.

Mrs. Elizabeth Don Leavy, chief of the state department's division of supervision of local services, told the board that only 119 couples in Baltimore City and eight counties had been referred for birth control advice in the last 10 months.

There are 2,974 couples on the welfare rolls. Information from the other 15 counties was not available.

"We ought to have a more dynamic approach," said Howard H. Murphy of Baltimore, a board member.

"We have a gang of large families on our case load," he said.

Attorney Draws 18-Month Term

BALTIMORE (AP(— Attorney J. Thomas Ellicott was sentenced to 18 months in prison and two associates, also lawyers, were fined $2,000 each Friday on charges of mail fraud in connection with a savings and loan operation.

Judge Harrison L. Winter of U.S. District Court told the three men, all from suburban Towson, that in deciding their penalties he had taken into account the fact they were losing their law practices.

Convicted along with Ellicott, 35, after a 15-day trial last April were Lewis L. Fleury, 36, and Harvey C. Jones II, 27. Ellicott is a former president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland.

The judge stayed the sentences pending possible appeals of their convictions. In addition to their fines, Fleury and Jones were placed on one year's probation. The three defendants also were ordered to share the burden of court costs.

Celanese Plans Joint Venture In Nylon Yarn

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Celanese Corporation of America yesterday announced plans to become a major U.S. supplied of nylon yarns in a venture with Imperial Chemical Industries Limited and British Nylon Spinners Limited of Great Britain.

The venture will involve building a new plant with an initial Nylon 66 yarn capacity of 40,000,000 pounds a pear, according to Harold Blancke, president of Celanese. The plant is expected to start producing on a commercial scale during 1965. The location was not revealed.

Blancke reported that the yarn will be manufactured in the U. S. by Fiber Industries Inc., a company to be owned 62½ percent by Celanese, 25 percent by I.C.I. and 12½ percent by British Nylon Spinners. Fiber Industries organized originally in 1958 as a company owned 50 percent each by Celanese and I.C.I. has been producing Fortrel polyester fiber in a plant in Shelby, N. C.

Celanese plans under the new Nylon 66 venture supersede its previously announced intention to undertake manufacture of the yarn alone. Peter H. Conze, president of Celanese Fibers Company, a division of the corporation, pointed out that the interchange of technological knowledge and experience with I.C.I. and British Nylon Spinners will permit Celanese to introduce nylon commercially with a full product range earlier than previously planned.

The fiber industries venture he said affords Celanese a working relationship with two British organizations who are leaders in their fields. I.C.I. is one of the worlds three largest chemical companies in terms of 1962 sales and British Nylon Spinners likewise is one of the world's three largest producers of nylon yarns.

Celanese Fibers Company will undertake the marketing of Nylon 66 yarn as it does fortrel polyester yarn. The nylon will be marketed for apparel, carpet, tire cord and industrial applications. The addition of nylon it was noted further broadens the Celanese Fibers line which also includes acetate, arnel, triacetate, rayon and Fortrel polyester fiber.

The addition of nylon was cited as part of a long-range Celanese program of continuing product diversification within all technological areas of the corporation's activities. ers of the tradition of the place might be a courteous provision."

The state tourist official notes the origins of Deer Park in her report. She points out that in 1870, Henry Gassaway Davis, founder of the Western Maryland Railway, and John W. Garrett, president of the B&O, enclosed 10 acres as a deer refuge a little east of Oakland. It was this Mr. Garrett for whom Garrett County was named when it was created out of the western portion of Allegany County in 1872.

Deer Park's Origin

This became the site of the fashionable resort, Deer Park, Presidents Grant and Harrison vacationed, followed by Washington society. Deer Park also was the destination of President Cleveland's wedding trip.

Miss Roberts also reports that Mountain Lake Park Hotel has never missed a season from 1882. She concludes that there are few places quite like it.

The last segment of the report is concerned with historic places that commemorate early American customs. These include Penn Alps Inc. near Grantsville, Yoder's locker plant at Grantsville, the Bear Creek fish rearing station, the Sang Run area, the maple sugar camp near Bittinger and finally the Grantsville Sub-Artic Swamp on the Youghiogheny.

Life Of The Hunter

Of course, in her reference to Sang Run she includes the almost legendary Meschach Browning, whose book, "44 Years Of The Life Of The Hunter," has rated as a gunner's classic for 100 years. The unmarked foundations of Meschach Browning's home stand along the banks of Sang Run.

Although most of her report is devoted to the past glories of Garrett County, one page is devoted to Deep Creek Lake. Here she notes that Pennsylvania Electric Company created the large artificial lake in 1925. She stresses that Deep Creek continues to attract people of taste and discrimination rather than mere throngs of indifferent idlers.

Miss Roberts notes in her report that she uses three standards in determining whether a place should be considered as an historic attraction. These are: (1) The place must be open to visitors at regular stated times. (2) The place must be of more than local interest, since visitors come from all over the country and from much of the world. (3) The place should be in some manner unique — as the only, the first, the oldest or something not to be duplicated in other states.

SRC Director Will Hold Meetings On Area Roads

John B. Funk, chairman-director of the State Roads Commission, wrote the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday that he will be here next month to confer on roads.

Funk said he would visit in Garrett County Tuesday, August 6 during the morning to confer with the county commissioners there.

He will meet with the Allegany County board at 2:30 p.m. the same day. His letter said the roads need study of the county will be reviewed and future plans for the county system discussed.

The board also had a number of complaints on road matters.

John Ridenbaugh, who resides on Pack Horse Road, asked that dust control measures be taken on the roadway. He said he operates a swimming and picnic area on Town Creek and that there are 24 families living along the roadway.

Both mail trucks and school buses also use the road, he added. He asked that the board consider a hazardous condition where a bridge crosses the stream with a steep grade on the approach.

William A. Parr, of the State Department of Parks and Forests, wrote the board he would be in the county next month to inspect a new roadway in the Dan's Mountain State Park near Lonaconing.

The county had a 1,200-foot road graded, drainage installed and shale aplied to service an area of the park. Albert S. Paye, county engineer, said the project has been completed.

Harry T. Skelly, roads supervisor, reported that a small bridge on Powell's Lane in Grahamtown will be repaired. He also said that a headwall will be repaired. There is sewage in the stream from homes above the bridge, he added.

Avenue F in Potomac Park will be treated for a dust condition arising from traffic using a 600-foot section of the roadway to and from other areas of the community.

Green Ridge Road will be treated for dust conditions next week, Skelly reported.

The board also signed the agreement for the hard-surfacing of the Oliver Beltz Road for a distance of about one mile. The State Roads Commission will advertise the project under the federal aid program.

Mrs. William Cutter, Midlothian, appeared before the board yesterday to ask that a "hump" in a roadway in that community be removed. She said that the cars using the road drag when they come to the hump.

Propst evidently shot himself upward under the chin, the projectile tearing through the top of his head.

The bodies were within a few feet of each other, authorities said, adding that they were notified of the tragic affair around 8:30 p. m.

In trying to recreate the incidents that led to the deaths, authorities said Propst left his work at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant at 7 a.m. Thursday. His wife, Mrs. Henrietta Propst, went to work Thursday morning at a local bakery.

Mrs. Propst told authorities her husband was to have picked her up at work at 6 p. m. Thursday, but failed to show up. She obtained a ride home with a fellow-worker and became alarmed when she could find no one at home and saw the rifle with the broken stock in the kitchen.

Notified Police

She notified State Police and then went to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Loring Helmick, to see if she knew of the whereabouts of the family. The bodies were discovered by Mrs. Helmick, who decided to walk to the end of the lane in back of the Propst home just before it turned dark.

The boy and girl were children of Lloyd Edward Harrison 2nd, 644 North Centre Street. He and Mrs. Propst were divorced a number of years ago and each remarried.

The two children had been members of the Fort Hill Senior Band, with Bonnie serving as treasurer of the group. Ricky was a past president of the school's Junior Band. His sister was press relations secretary of the school's Student Council and was a member of the Future Nurses Club.

Surviving, besides their mother, the former Henrietta Armbruster, is a brother, Lloyd E. Harrison 3rd, stationed in Japan with the Air Force.

Their bodies are at the Silcox Funeral Residence where friends 9 p. m. and tomorrow from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Propst was born at Circleville, W. Va., a son of Charles A. and Lucy (Thompson) Propst, Valley Road. He was a veteran of World War II.

Surviving, besides his parents and widow, are three brothers, Elmer Propst, Valley Road; Floyd Propst, Bowman's Addition, and Fred Propst, Baltimore Pike, and two sisters, Mrs. Medie McLaughlin and Mrs. Elsie Lemaster, both of Baltimore.

The body is at the Silcox Funeral Residence, but there will be no viewing.

Tragedy has stalked Propst, authorities report, explaining that his first wife, Mrs. Ressie Propst, was the victim of death by accidental drowning.

Her body was located along the Potomac River below North Branch several years ago when high water receded and her body was discovered held in the branch of a bush.

Missionary Will Address Group

Miss Meredythe Scheflen, missionary to Bolivia, will speak at the First Methodist Church tomorrow at 10:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Miss Scheflen, a native of New Jersey, has completed two teaching terms among the people of Bolivia.

A trained teacher, she taught first in the elementary school in Ascension, and later helped to establish the Berea Bible School and High School, at Santa Cruz. She has also been active in daily vacation Bible school work there.

She is a graduate of Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., where she was chosen for "Who's Who in American Colleges." After college, she taught for two years at Mt. Carmel High School in Lawson, Ky.

Church Will Greet New Superintendent

The members of Park Place Methodist Church will welcome the new Methodist District Superintendent and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Roderick, at a covered dish supper tomorrow evening at 6:30.

At 7:30 p.m., Rev. Mr. Roderick will conduct the church's first quarterly conference. This meeting will mark his first visit to the church as district superintendent. He was chosen as head of the Hagerstown District at the Baltimore Annual Conference, in Westminster, last month.

Gets Suspended Term

Urban Renewal Applications Being Studied

An official of the Housing and Home Finance Agency yesterday advised William F. DeMare, executive director, that applications filed recently by the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency are being reviewed.

Jason R. Nathan, Philadelphia, acting regional HHFA director, said the city's two applications have been received by his office, have been given code numbers and are being reviewed.

No indication was given as to how long it might take to process the applications. They must be reviewed and approved in the Philadelphia office and then forwarded to Washington for final approval.

Sought are funds to develop a general neighborhood renewal program for the downtown area and to prepare a specific plan for the proposed George Street urban renewal project.

Cooperators Approved

Five new district cooperators were approved at a meeting last night of district supervisors of Allegany County Soil Conservation Service at the County Agent's office in the Court House.

New cooperators are Harvey Hogamier, Mt. Savage, 110 acres, interested in a basic plan; Leo P. Robey, Little Orleans, 110 acres, interested in a farm pond and wildlife development; C. Lear Twigg, Christie Road, 85 acres, interested in better soil fertility and woodland improvement; William Hinkle, Hinkle Road, 200 acres, interested in basic plan, and L. N. Duncan, Bedford Road, 60 acres, interested in grassland farming.

Announcement was made of revision of plans for Darby Healy, Oldtown, 80 acres, and basic plans prepared for Boy Scouts of America Camp Straus, Pearre, 953 acres, and Paul Browning, Murley's Branch, 200 acres.

Wilbert Paul, chairman, presided and the report of activities in the district since June 28 was submitted by Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist.

Youth Breaks Leg

Robert Eugene White, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. William White, RD 3, Lake Gordon Road, was admitted to Memorial Hospital last evening after falling from his bicycle while riding near his home.

The mishap occured at about 5:30 p.m. and he was admitted at 7 p.m. with a compound fracture of the left leg. His condition is listed as "satisfactory."

Jaycees Sponsor 'Operation Gas-Up'

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will sponsor a civic project "Operation Gas-Up" during which Jaycee members will operate the W. and W. Sinclair Station, North Mechanic Street at the B&O Viaduct.

"Operation Gas-Up" will be held today from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Proceeds will be donated to the Allegany Community College Library.

Chairman of the project is Virgil Twigg who urged the motoring public to stop at the station during the designated hours and lend its support to a worthy project.

Subdivision Rules Go To County Board

C. Lee Renaud, County planning director, yesterday presented the Planning and Zoning Commission's recommendations for adoption of the Subdivision Regulations to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Renaud stated that the subdivision regulations as presented were adopted by the commission at its meeting May 23, 1963. Since the county has adopted a Major Highway Plan, Subdivision Regulations may be adopted as provided in the state enabling legislation for planning and zoning.

It was emphasized that many meetings were held by the commission with citizen advisory groups, local builders, and other interested citizens for approximately one year. In addition to this, Renaud pointed out that the commission had held two public hearings on subdivision regulations to inform the residents of the nature and content of the regulations and to receive the benefit of their comments and specific recommendations.

Renaud stated that all departments and agencies concerned have been consulted in order to assure that the new regulations will not conflict with any existing departmental regulations in effect.

Some changes were made by the commission, which were requested by the builders and other interested citizens through numerous meetings the commission held. The last public hearing held by the commission brought out two major points of criticism, Renaud pointed out. It was felt that the requirement for a performance guarantee were too stringent and there was some question as to the policy of changing assessments after plats are filed.

Renaud stated that the commission is recommending an alternative proposal in lieu of posting a performance bond when the final plat is recorded and still guarantee to the county that improvements will be installed. This will enable a developer to record a final plat with a written agreement between the county without a performance bond immediately.

The existence of this agreement is called to the attention of title examiners by a notation on the recorded final plat which points out that no lot or lots may be sold or building permits issued until improvements are installed or performance guarantee is provided. After the final plat is recorded the developer is assured of all necessary approvals and he may arrange for construction financing and install all or a portion thereof of the required improvements.

By this time the subdivision or a portion thereof is ready for the sale of lots and houses and the subdivider has had no money tied up with a performance guarantee. At this time the subdivider can finish the installation of improvements or provide a performance guarantee on that portion of the subdivision that he wishes to sell lots, and then building permits can be issued. With this procedure the subdivider has had his money invested for a minimum period and still provides the county and the potential lot purchaser the assurance the required improvements will be installed.

Renaud stated that the commission has checked into the policy on changing assessments from acreage to lots.

The Department of Assessment and Taxation advised the commission that the Assessment Department policies are controlled by state laws. In addition, any change in the character or use of land affects the assessed valuation. In order to partially cover the cost of checking and reviewing the plats a filing free schedule was recommended to the Board for adoption, separately, to tie in with the subdivision regulations.

Renaud stated that the commission strongly recommends the adoption of the subdivision regulations as presented and urges that expeditious action be taken.

The board said they would study the proposal over the weekend and make a decision at next Tuesday's meeting on adoption of the regulations.

Frostburg Gets Urban Renewal Planning Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md., announced Friday that a $16,320 federal grant has been approved for urban renewal planning at Frostburg, Md.

Sickles said the Urban Renewal Administration had authorized the grant to the Maryland State Planning Department under the Joint Urban Planning Assistance Program.

He noted that the money would be supplemented by $5,400 in State and local contributions.

Birth Curb Data Goes Begging

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Board of Public Welfare discovered Friday its birth control policy, set forth last September, has not resulted in a significant number of enlightened parents.

The policy permits welfare case workers to take the initiative in referring married couples on the welfare rolls to Planned Parenthood clinics, health departments and physicians for birth control information.

Mrs. Elizabeth Don Leavy, chief of the state department's division of supervision of local services, told the board that only 119 couples in Baltimore City and eight counties had been referred for birth control advice in the last 10 months.

There are 2,974 couples on the welfare rolls. Information from the other 15 counties was not available.

"We ought to have a more dynamic approach," said Howard H. Murphy of Baltimore, a board member.

"We have a gang of large families on our case load," he said.

Attorney Draws 18-Month Term

BALTIMORE (AP(— Attorney J. Thomas Ellicott was sentenced to 18 months in prison and two associates, also lawyers, were fined $2,000 each Friday on charges of mail fraud in connection with a savings and loan operation.

Judge Harrison L. Winter of U.S. District Court told the three men, all from suburban Towson, that in deciding their penalties he had taken into account the fact they were losing their law practices.

Convicted along with Ellicott, 35, after a 15-day trial last April were Lewis L. Fleury, 36, and Harvey C. Jones II, 27. Ellicott is a former president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland.

The judge stayed the sentences pending possible appeals of their convictions. In addition to their fines, Fleury and Jones were placed on one year's probation. The three defendants also were ordered to share the burden of court costs.

Celanese Plans Joint Venture In Nylon Yarn

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Celanese Corporation of America yesterday announced plans to become a major U.S. supplied of nylon yarns in a venture with Imperial Chemical Industries Limited and British Nylon Spinners Limited of Great Britain.

The venture will involve building a new plant with an initial Nylon 66 yarn capacity of 40,000,000 pounds a pear, according to Harold Blancke, president of Celanese. The plant is expected to start producting on a commercial scale during 1965. The location was not revealed.

Blancke reported that the yarn will be manufactured in the U. S. by Fiber Industries Inc., a company to be owned 62½ percent by Celanese, 25 percent by I.C.I. and 12½ percent by British Nylon Spinners. Fiber Industries organized originally in 1958 as a company owned 50 percent each by Celanese and I.C.I. has been producing Fortrel polyester fiber in a plant in Shelby, N. C.

Celanese plans under the new Nylon 66 venture supersede its previously announced intention to undertake manufacture of the yarn alone. Peter H. Conze, president of Celanese Fibers Company, a division of the corporation, pointed out that the interchange of technological knowledge and experience with I.C.I. and British Nylon Spinners will permit Celanese to introduce nylon commercially with a full product range earlier than previously planned.

The fiber industries venture he said affords Celanese a working relationship with two British organizations who are leaders in their fields. I.C.I. is one of the worlds three largest chemical companies in terms of 1962 sales and British Nylon Spinners likewise is one of the world's three largest producers of nylon yarns.

Celanese Fibers Company will undertake the marketing of Nylon 66 yarn as it does fortrel polyester yarn. The nylon will be marketed for apparel, carpet, tire cord and industrial applications. The addition of nylon it was noted further broadens the Celanese Fibers line which also includes acetate, arnel, triacetate, rayon and Fortrel polyester fiber.

The addition of nylon was cited as part of a long-range Celanese program of continuing product diversification within all technological areas of the corporation's activities. Celanese Corporation of America produces organic chemicals pulps fibers polymers and plastics which are marketed throughout the free world. Celanese and affiliated foreign companies operate 41 plants in the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Brazil, Colombia, Venezuela, Germany and Japan.

Urban Renewal Applications Being Studied

An official of the Housing and Home Finance Agency yesterday advised William F. DeMare, executive director, that applications filed recently by the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency are being reviewed.

Jason R. Nathan, Philadelphia, acting regional HHFA director, said the city's two applications have been received by his office, have been given code numbers and are being reviewed.

No indication was given as to how long it might take to process the applications. They must be reviewed and approved in the Philadelphia office and then forwarded to Washington for final approval.

Sought are funds to develop a general neighborhood renewal program for the downtown area and to prepare a specific plan for the proposed George Street urban renewal project.

Cooperators Approved

Five new district cooperators were approved at a meeting last night of district supervisors of Allegany County Soil Conservation Service at the County Agent's office in the Court House.

Kelvinator, the one "No-Frost" that helps you feed your family better ...because it costs you less to run

Other "no-frost" refrigerators can cost you dearly in cold cash every month on your electric bill!

Kelvinator "no-frost" refrigerators never waste electricity. They cost less to run than refrigerators using heating coils or separate tubing to defrost . . . less than models built without the 49 years of experience Kelvinator has had in refrigerator design. This saves you up to $1.41 on your electric bill every month.

Let Kelvinator end messy defrosting and give you every modern convenience and the complete dependability you want. Far less can go wrong with Kelvinator "no-frost" because it uses one trouble-free system for both cooling and removing frost.

Built by American Motors to the same exacting standards as Rambler automobiles, Kelvinator "no-frost" values are unbeatable. Come in today and see the proof!

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann: May I have the last word in regard to the unfortunate girl who complained because she had a shape like an ironing board?

You told her to go to the lingerie store and buy what he needed. I thought your advice was top-notch but one reader wrote to say store-bought curves are dishonest and that such fakery is symbolic of the decay of American integrity.

May I tell you what happened when I was a ninth grade student, back in 1908? In those days the teachers wore white shirtwaists and form-fitting, ankle-length skirts. Our history teacher, Miss Smith, was tall and slender with no hips at all, poor thing. Her long, straight skirts made her look seven feet tall.

One day she appeared in class with a beautiful figure. I was dying of curiosity — and being ten years old I hadn't yet learned it was impolite to ask personal questions. So I asked. This is what she said, "I made myself some hip-pads which I tie around my waist. What God has forgotten I made up with cotton."

So, you see, there's nothing new about it. — SEA WILLOW

Dear Willow: Thanks for the fascinating piece of history, and for a mighty catchy little couplet.

Dear Ann Landers: We are in our early 50s and this is the second marriage for us both. I've always held a responsible job and managed my own money affairs well. When Leonard was widowed ten years ago he turned over his financial matters to his eldest daughter. His wife had always managed the money so his eldest daughter took over where her mother had left off. Leonard handed over his pay check to her and she paid all the bills and gave him an allowance.

We've been married four months and Leonard's daughter is still paying his bills and giving him an allowance.

I am very incomfortable about this but don't know what to do. We are getting along fine and I don't want to rock the boat. Still this is like a bone in my throat. Should I say nothing and hope in time he will offer to let me handle the family finances — or what? — NUMBER TWO

Dear Two: Don't stand on one foot while you're waiting, Lady. It may be a very long wait — like maybe forever.

When Leonard had no wife, it was all right for his daughter to pinch hit, but now he has a wife, the pinch hitter should be benched.

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this for all girls who are going steady and are afraid to break up.

I went steady with Bart for a year. He was selfish and inconsiderate and I was miserable most of the time but I thought that was the way love was supposed to be. One day I realized we were fighting all the time so I told him we'd better call it quits. He agreed but asked if we could date once in a while.

Three weeks went by and he didn't call. I was heartbroken. I regretted the break-up and came close to calling him and admitting it. But somehow I controlled myself.

Then I met Earle. After one date I knew what it was to be treated like a lady. Earle was everything that Bart wasn't. Last night we ran into Bart at a party and for the first time I saw how crude, arrogant and phony he is. Now I could kick myself for being so dumb and wasting a whole year on him. Please pass the word. — HAPPIER NOW

Dear Happier: Hooray for you. You were like that worm in the horseradish who thought it was the sweetest place in the world because it was the only place he'd ever been. (P. S. Students, take note.)

Planning a wedding? Leave nothing to chance. ANN LANDER'S newest booklet, "The Bride's Guide," has all the answers (from announcing the engagement to "who pays for what"). Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Inside And Out

Fashion constantly focuses on the midriff. Whether it be a short-jacket suit, the Dutch-boy look, or a draped chiffon sheath, all demand absolute control of the "middle you." One way of achieving such control is with the right foundation. You want an assurance of a smooth, uninterrupted line that the properly fitted garments can give you.

More and more women are turning to full length corselet that gives them a firm abdomen and hip-controlling panels, plus a good uplift bustline. They find it slims them and gives a youthful look. It is also a gentle reminder to every part of your body to stand tall.

Since a properly fitted garment is as important to health as beauty, check the following points so the one you select doesn't fit too tightly:

1. Is bust cup correct size and shape to provide uplift and support without crowding the flesh?
2. Does corselet "drag downward" over the bust? If it exerts this downward pull, it is not long enough.
3. Are shoulder straps comfortable, supporting the garmet without digging into the flesh?
4. Is the back flesh controlled, so there is no roll above the garment?
5. Is the waistline snug and controlled?
6. Are the hips well-fitted?
7. Do bones curve with and not cut into the body?
8. Is the skirt long enough to "sit into" comfortably?
9. Is garment comfortable through the thighs, or does it cut the flesh?
10. Can you bend and move without constriction?

If you have a problem figure such as being short and thin, or short and plump, or very tall and thin, or short-waisted, you will find further help and suggestions on the best types of foundation garments to wear in "Figured for You." This booklet is yours by writing to me, John Robert Powers, in care of this newspaper enclosing 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann: May I have the last word in regard to the unfortunate girl who complained because she had a shape like an ironing board?

You told her to go to the lingerie store and buy what he needed. I thought your advice was top-notch but one reader wrote to say store-bought curves are dishonest and that such fakery is symbolic of the decay of American integrity.

May I tell you what happened when I was a ninth grade student, back in 1908? In those days the teachers wore white shirtwaists and form-fitting, ankle-length skirts. Our history teacher, Miss Smith, was tall and slender with no hips at all, poor thing. Her long, straight skirts made her look seven feet tall.

One day she appeared in class with a beautiful figure. I was dying of curiosity — and being ten years old I hadn't yet learned it was impolite to ask personal questions. So I asked. This is what she said, "I made myself some hip-pads which I tie around my waist. What God has forgotten I made up with cotton."

So, you see, there's nothing new about it. — SEA WILLOW

Dear Willow: Thanks for the fascinating piece of history, and for a mighty catchy little couplet.

Dear Ann Landers: We are in our early 50s and this is the second marriage for us both. I've always held a responsible job and managed my own money affairs well. When Leonard was widowed ten years ago he turned over his financial matters to his eldest daughter. His wife had always managed the money so his eldest daughter took over where her mother had left off. Leonard handed over his pay check to her and she paid all the bills and gave him an allowance.

We've been married four months and Leonard's daughter is still paying his bills and giving him an allowance.

I am very uncomfortable about this but don't know what to do. We are getting along fine and I don't want to rock the boat. Still this is like a bone in my throat.

Should I say nothing and hope in time he will offer to let me handle the family finances — or what? — NUMBER TWO

Dear Two: Don't stand on one foot while you're waiting, Lady. It may be a very long wait — like maybe forever.

When Leonard had no wife, it was all right for his daughter to pinch hit, but now he has a wife, the pinch hitter should be benched.

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this for all girls who are going steady and are afraid to break up.

I went steady with Bart for a year. He was selfish and inconsiderate and I was miserable most of the time but I thought that was the way love was supposed to be. One day I realized we were fighting all the time so I told him we'd better call it quits. He agreed but asked if we could date once in a while.

Three weeks went by and he didn't call. I was heartbroken. I regretted the break-up and came close to calling him and admitting it. But somehow I controlled myself.

Then I met Earle. After one date I knew what it was to be treated like a lady. Earle was everything that Bart wasn't. Last night we ran into Bart at a party and for the first time I saw how crude, arrogant and phony he is. Now I could kick myself for being so dumb and wasting a whole year on him. Please pass the word. — HAPPIER NOW

Dear Happier: Hooray for you. You were like that worm in the horseradish who thought it was the sweetest place in the world because it was the only place he'd ever been. (P. S. Students, take note.)

Planning a wedding? Leave nothing to chance. ANN LANDER'S newest booklet, "The Bride's Guide," has all the answers (from announcing the engagement to "who pays for what"). Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Inside And Out

Fashion constantly focuses on the midriff. Whether it be a short-jacket suit, the Dutch-boy look, or a draped chiffon sheath, all demand absolute control of the "middle you." One way of achieving such control is with the right foundation. You want an assurance of a smooth, uninterrupted line that the properly fitted garments can give you.

More and more women are turning to full length corselet that gives them a firm abdomen and hip-controlling panels, plus a good uplift bustline. They find it slims them and gives a youthful look. It is also a gentle reminder to every part of your body to stand tall.

Since a properly fitted garment is as important to health as beauty, check the following points so the one you select doesn't fit too tightly:

1. Is bust cup correct size and shape to provide uplift and support without crowding the flesh?
2. Does corselet "drag downward" over the bust? If it exerts this downward pull, it is not long enough.
3. Are shoulder straps comfortable, supporting the garmet without digging into the flesh?
4. Is the back flesh controlled, so there is no roll above the garment?
5. Is the waistline snug and controlled?
6. Are the hips well-fitted?
7. Do bones curve with and not cut into the body?
8. Is the skirt long enough to "sit into" comfortably?
9. Is garment comfortable through the thighs, or does it cut the flesh?
10. Can you bend and move without constriction?

If you have a problem figure such as being short and thin, or short and plump, or very tall and thin, or short-waisted, you will find further help and suggestions on the best types of foundation garments to wear in "Figured for You." This booklet is yours by writing to me, John Robert Powers, in care of this newspaper enclosing 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Winebrenner Rizer Wedding Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Winebrenner, Star Route, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Janet Marie Leonard, to Jackson Randoll Rizer.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized June 29, in the Eckhart Methodist Church, at 2 p.m., with Rev. William Anderson officiating.

Mrs. Janet Hefner was the bride's matron of honor and only attendant. Ronald Stevens served as Mr. Rizer's best man. Miss Donna Smith played the traditional wedding march from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given by the bridgroom's parents at their home.

Since their wedding trip to Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Rizer are making their home in Bowling Green.

Surprise Shower Held

Mrs. Everett Wade entertained with a surprise stork shower for Mrs. Wayne White at Mt. Pleasant Methodist Church. Pink and white streamers formed the background for the gift table, decorated with a miniature stork. Miniature pink and blue booties adorned the shower cake. The same colors were repeated in the favors and table appointments.

Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Philip Allender, Mrs. Talmage Luttrell, Miss Linda McGuire and Mrs. Paul O'Brian. Others present were Mrs. Ralph Garland, Mrs. Ray Evans, Mrs. Arthur Ison, Mrs. William Weber, Mrs. John McGuire, Mrs. William Hout, Mrs. Audrey Chambers, Mrs. Wood Simpson, Mrs. Paul Simpson, Mrs. Darcy Evans, Miss Carol Evans and Miss Diane Rice.

Cumberland DeMolay Discuss August Picnic

Cumberland Chapter DeMolay discussed various activities at the regular meeting, which was held Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple.

Final plans were formulated for the DeMolay - Rainbow Girls picnic. It is to be held August 6 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club, beginning at 1 p. m. Following the picnic, there will be dancing in the Memorial room, beginning at 8 o'clock. Paul Hendrickson is in charge of the recorded music. The picnic lunch will be served by members of McKinley Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and the advisors of the Rainbow Girls.

An attendance committee was appointed by Terry Williams, master counselor. Garry Bobo was named chairman, assisted by Ronald Bird and Robert Richardson. The committee is to write members urging attendance at meetings.

Plans for the initiation were formulated. It is to be held August 28 at 8 p. m., at the temple. Both the initiatory and DeMolay degrees will be presented.

The boys were reminded that the Friday night dances are held at the Shrine Club, and were urged to attend them, or they will be discontinued.

A report on the DeMolay rifle team was given by William Weigelt. It was submitted by Warren Brehm, instructor. Demonstrations in shooting were given by Larry Brock, Fred Shank, Jon Williams, Ronald Bird and Robert Richardson.

Three members from George Flemming Moore Chapter, Bethesda, visited Cumberland Chapter.

The next meeting will be August 14, at which time final plans will be made concerning whether the rifle club is to be continued during the winter; and for the contest for the state DeMolay Sweetheart contest.

Do you ever pause to listen to the voice of God? We hear it every day, wherever we may be.

In the whispering of tall trees . . . the music of rushing brooks . . . the songs of the birds . . . the gay laughter of happy children . . . we hear the voice of the Great Creator. Through his infinite grace a bird is enabled to serenade his mate, a tiny cricket chirps its faint refrain. God is the Bringer of all blessings to man and beast alike.

Let us give thanks to Him who has so enriched our lives. Open church doors beckon all over our land. Let us seek the House of the Lord, and enter in to pay Him homage. Here through prayer and humility, let us re-dedicate ourselves to His service and glorification.

St. James The Great Was Hot-Tempered

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The word "saint" conjures up in most minds the image of a gentle, pious, unselfish person to whom goodness comes as naturally as breathing.

But the church calendar contains the names of many saints who just don't fit that stereotype.

For example, Thursday, July 25 was the feast day of St. James the Great.

The New Testament has quite a lot to say about this fellow. And it depicts him as a very ordinary human being, with a tendency to be vain, ambitious and hot-tempered.

He was the son of a fisherman named Zebedee, who lived in the town of Capernaum, and operated a fleet of fishing boats on the Sea of Galillee.

James had a brother named John and two close friends named Simon and Andrew, who worked with him in the fishing business.

Monotony Was Broken

The monotony of their lives was broken one day by the arrival in Capernaum of a young itinerant preacher named Jesus of Nazareth. When Jesus talked about God, he sounded like he was speaking from first-hand information, rather than quoting out of a book. He was the most alive and compelling person who had ever come to Capernaum, and the four young fishermen were greatly attracted to him.

One day, Jesus walked down to the shore where the four fishermen were at work.

"Follow me," he said, "And I will make you become fishers of men."

James and his three friends didn't hestitate. They didn't tell Jesus they'd need a little time to wind up their business. They just dropped their nets and followed him.

They were the first of the 12 Apostles. And they were destined to remain Jesus' closest friends and confidantes.

Jesus seems to have had a particular affection for Simon, whom He renamed Peter, and for the two brothers, James and John. The New Testament records that He chose Peter, James and John to accompany him on several special occasions, including the last night in the Garden of Gethsemane, when He waited for His arrest and crucifixion.

Didn't Change Immediately

Close association with Jesus did not change James overnight into a gentle and unselfish soul.

Once, when the people of a Samaritan village gave Jesus a discourteous reception, James lost his temper and wanted to call down fire from heaven to wipe out the whole village.

Jesus rebuked James severely for this proposal, and reminded him that "The Son of Man came not to destroy men's lives but to save them."

Later, to rub in the lesson with a little pointed humor, Jesus gave James a nickname: "Son of Thunder."

On another occasion, James and his brother went to Jesus privately, and tried to extract a promise that they would be given the top seats of honor—on his right hand and left hand—when He came to His throne. They were still thinking, as all of the Apostles persisted in doing despite Jesus' efforts to teach them otherwise, that He had come as an earthly messiah or king.

Jesus Rebuked James

Again Jesus had to rebuke his friend, and as always, he used the occasion to teach a positive lesson.

"You know that those who are supposed to rule over the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great men exercise authority among them," Jesus said. "But it shall not be so among you.

"Whoever would be great among you must be your servant, and whoever would be first among you must be slave of all. For the Son of Man also came not to be served, but to serve . . . ."

It took James a long time to understand what it meant to be a disciple of Christ. Perhaps he didn't really comprehend until he had the awesome experience of being a witness to the Resurrection.

But when he finally did get the point, James followed his Lord all the way.

When the first persecution of the infant Christian church was launched in 44 A.D. by King Herod, James was arrested and beheaded.

He was the first Apostle to die a martyr's death.

Do you ever pause to listen to the voice of God? We hear it every day, wherever we may be.

In the whispering of tall trees . . . the music of rushing brooks . . . the songs of the birds . . . the gay laughter of happy children . . . we hear the voice of the Great Creator. Through his infinite grace a bird is enabled to serenade his mate, a tiny cricket chirps its faint refrain. God is the Bringer of all blessings to man and beast alike.

Let us give thanks to Him who has so enriched our lives. Open church doors beckon all over our land. Let us seek the House of the Lord, and enter in to pay Him homage. Here through prayer and humility, let us re-dedicate ourselves to His service and glorification.

St. James The Great Was Hot-Tempered

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The word "saint" conjures up in most minds the image of a gentle, pious, unselfish person to whom goodness comes as naturally as breathing.

But the church calendar contains the names of many saints who just don't fit that stereotype.

For example, Thursday, July 25 was the feast day of St. James the Great.

The New Testament has quite a lot to say about this fellow. And it depicts him as a very ordinary human being, with a tendency to be vain, ambitious and hot-tempered.

He was the son of a fisherman named Zebedee, who lived in the town of Capernaum, and operated a fleet of fishing boats on the Sea of Galillee.

James had a brother named John and two close friends named Simon and Andrew, who worked with him in the fishing business.

Monotony Was Broken

The monotony of their lives was broken one day by the arrival in Capernaum of a young itinerant preacher named Jesus of Nazareth. When Jesus talked about God, he sounded like he was speaking from first-hand information, rather than quoting out of a book. He was the most alive and compelling person who had ever come to Capernaum, and the four young fishermen were greatly attracted to him.

One day, Jesus walked down to the shore where the four fishermen were at work.

"Follow me," he said, "And I will make you become fishers of men."

James and his three friends didn't hestitate. They didn't tell Jesus they'd need a little time to wind up their business. They just dropped their nets and followed him.

They were the first of the 12 Apostles. And they were destined to remain Jesus' closest friends and confidantes.

Jesus seems to have had a particular affection for Simon, whom He renamed Peter, and for the two brothers, James and John. The New Testament records that He chose Peter, James and John to accompany him on several special occasions, including the last night in the Garden of Gethsemane, when He waited for His arrest and crucifixion.

Didn't Change Immediately

Close association with Jesus did not change James overnight into a gentle and unselfish soul.

Once, when the people of a Samaritan village gave Jesus a discourteous reception, James lost his temper and wanted to call down fire from heaven to wipe out the whole village.

Jesus rebuked James severely for this proposal, and reminded him that "The Son of Man came not to destroy men's lives but to save them."

Later, to rub in the lesson with a little pointed humor, Jesus gave James a nickname: "Son of Thunder."

On another occasion, James and his brother went to Jesus privately, and tried to extract a promise that they would be given the top seats of honor—on his right hand and left hand—when He came to His throne. They were still thinking, as all of the Apostles persisted in doing despite Jesus' efforts to teach them otherwise, that He had come as an earthly messiah or king.

Jesus Rebuked James

Again Jesus had to rebuke his friend, and as always, he used the occasion to teach a positive lesson.

"You know that those who are supposed to rule over the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great men exercise authority among them," Jesus said. "But it shall not be so among you.

"Whoever would be great among you must be your servant, and whoever would be first among you must be slave of all. For the Son of Man also came not to be served, but to serve . . . ."

It took James a long time to understand what it meant to be a disciple of Christ. Perhaps he didn't really comprehend until he had the awesome experience of being a witness to the Resurrection.

But when he finally did get the point, James followed his Lord all the way.

When the first persecution of the infant Christian church was launched in 44 A.D. by King Herod, James was arrested and beheaded.

He was the first Apostle to die a martyr's death.

Local Campers To End Long Trip Today

A long and interesting tour of a great portion of the nation ends today for the Cumberland Campers, who left here June 25.

The group, headed by Victor McKay, were in Chicago yesterday morning and while there were guests on the popular radio show, "Don McNeil's Breakfast Club."

The 24 area youngsters and supervisors stopped Wednesday at Abilene, Kan., where they visited the Eisenhower Museum and toured the former home of the ex-president. While touring the museum, a guide brought out a costume, valued at several thousand dollars, which had been presented Mrs. Eisenhower from Hong Kong.

Debbie Webb, one of the local contingent, was permitted to try on the coat of the valuable costume.

While traveling through Colorado, the campers received permission to stay overnight in the Army barracks at historic Fort Carson, and to have their breakfast in the mess hall there the following morning. Leaving there, the campers traveled to Colorado Springs where they visited the Air Force Academy.

One of the memorable stops for the contingent was at the Four Corners monument, where each of the 24 took turns standing on the spot where Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Utah are joined.

The Grand Canyon, they report, is as impressive and beautiful as claimed, while one of the most unusual tours was made through the cliff dwellings near Mesa Verde, Colo. The campers traveled the old Navajo Trail through the noted Painted Desert.

Hearing Set On Power Rates

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Public Service Commission may temporarily reduce electricity rates in Western Maryland.

The PSC said yesterday it will conduct a hearing August 22 in Baltimore on the question of reducing rates charged by the Potomac Edison Co.

Potomac Edison serves about 116,000 customers in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and parts of Montgomery and Carroll counties.

Albert L. Deen, executive secretary of the PSC, said a preliminary analysis by accountants showed Potomac Edison's net operating income was greater than a reasonable return.

The PSC ordered an investigation in May. Deene said yesterday the August 22 hearing will be on the possibility of ordering a temporary reduction while the investigation is being completed.

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Paul Richards, one of Hollywood's most successful "heavies," has switched from hurting people to healing them.

Paul is now playing "Dr. Mac Thompson," a psychiatrist on "Breaking Point" for Bing Crosby Productions.

For the past ten years, Richards, a nice fellow personally, has played some of the meanest men on television. He's died in the dust and gutters of westerns and detective shows. Hardly a viewer has mourned his passing. Usually, Paul got what was coming to him.

As "Dr. Mac," Paul will be curing other persons of their hostilities instead of getting rid of his own with a pistol or knife.

"The producer told me to make 'Mac Thompson' my own man, not a copy of another doctor," he said. "We'll deal with any subject that can be tastefully handled."

Richards said his new role as a doctor will be a welcome change from gangster and gunfighter parts.

"I played a lot of villains who had a lot of the problems I'm not treating in this series," he said. "When I was asked why I played so many villains in the past I said I thought they were the most interesting roles. But now as the psychiatrist I see a force for the good. The villains in 'Breaking Point' are mental problems, the illness. Your psychiatrist has to deal with each one differently unlike the hero who has a gun and solves problems the same way all the time.

"I was on the first 'Gunsmoke' and first 'Rawhide' and the solution was always the same, a sheriff shot me."

Richards, a soft spoken young man, estimates that he's been in more than 150 television shows, been shot more than 75 times and gunned down approximately 75 victims. That's record of violence that few actors can match.

Paul was so mean on video that he finally started to hate himself, so much so that he decided to change images.

"The last year or two the villain roles have changed and I've played fewer of them," he said. "The parts are less neurotic and more romantic, good, bad men."

Richards actively campaigned for the "Breaking Point" lead. The show's producers didn't seek him out. He went to them.

"I demanded that I be tested for this role," he said. "Some persons didn't think I'd be right for it, perhaps they had seen me too often as a villain. Actually, I had stopped playing villains for that reason. I felt I was being limited. I must have turned down 25 starkly villanous roles."

After more than a year of trying to become a good guy, Paul finally made it, but not without paying a price for his new image.

"I didn't eat for a while," he joked. "It was very bad."

Local Campers To End Long Trip Today

A long and interesting tour of a great portion of the nation ends today for the Cumberland Campers, who left here June 25.

The group, headed by Victor McKay, were in Chicago yesterday morning and while there were guests on the popular radio show, "Don McNeil's Breakfast Club."

The 24 area youngsters and supervisors stopped Wednesday at Abilene, Kan., where they visited the Eisenhower Museum and toured the former home of the ex-president. While touring the museum, a guide brought out a costume, valued at several thousand dollars, which had been presented Mrs. Eisenhower from Hong Kong.

Debbie Webb, one of the local contingent, was permitted to try on the coat of the valuable costume.

While traveling through Colorado, the campers received permission to stay overnight in the Army barracks at historic Fort Carson, and to have their breakfast in the mess hall there the following morning. Leaving there, the campers traveled to Colorado Springs where they visited the Air Force Academy.

One of the memorable stops for the contingent was at the Four Corners monument, where each of the 24 took turns standing on the spot where Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Utah are joined.

The Grand Canyon, they report, is as impressive and beautiful as claimed, while one of the most unusual tours was made through the cliff dwellings near Mesa Verde, Colo. The campers traveled the old Navajo Trail through the noted Painted Desert.

Hearing Set On Power Rates

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Public Service Commission may temporarily reduce electricity rates in Western Maryland.

The PSC said yesterday it will conduct a hearing August 22 in Baltimore on the question of reducing rates charged by the Potomac Edison Co.

Potomac Edison serves about 116,000 customers in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and parts of Montgomery and Carroll counties.

Albert L. Deen, executive secretary of the PSC, said a preliminary analysis by accountants showed Potomac Edison's net operating income was greater than a reasonable return.

The PSC ordered an investigation in May. Deene said yesterday the August 22 hearing will be on the possibility of ordering a temporary reduction while the investigation is being completed.

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Paul Richards, one of Hollywood's most successful "heavies," has switched from hurting people to healing them.

Paul is now playing "Dr. Mac Thompson," a psychiatrist on "Breaking Point" for Bing Crosby Productions.

For the past ten years, Richards, a nice fellow personally, has played some of the meanest men on television. He's died in the dust and gutters of westerns and detective shows. Hardly a viewer has mourned his passing. Usually, Paul got what was coming to him.

As "Dr. Mac," Paul will be curing other persons of their hostilities instead of getting rid of his own with a pistol or knife.

"The producer told me to make 'Mac Thompson' my own man, not a copy of another doctor," he said. "We'll deal with any subject that can be tastefully handled."

Richards said his new role as a doctor will be a welcome change from gangster and gunfighter parts.

"I played a lot of villains who had a lot of the problems I'm not treating in this series," he said. "When I was asked why I played so many villains in the past I said I thought they were the most interesting roles. But now as the psychiatrist I see a force for the good. The villains in 'Breaking Point' are mental problems, the illness. Your psychiatrist has to deal with each one differently unlike the hero who has a gun and solves problems the same way all the time.

"I was on the first 'Gunsmoke' and first 'Rawhide' and the solution was always the same, a sheriff shot me."

Richards, a soft spoken young man, estimates that he's been in more than 150 television shows, been shot more than 75 times and gunned down approximately 75 victims. That's record of violence that few actors can match.

Paul was so mean on video that he finally started to hate himself, so much so that he decided to change images.

"The last year or two the villain roles have changed and I've played fewer of them," he said. "The parts are less neurotic and more romantic, good, bad men."

Richards actively campaigned for the "Breaking Point" lead. The show's producers didn't seek him out. He went to them.

"I demanded that I be tested for this role," he said. "Some persons didn't think I'd be right for it, perhaps they had seen me too often as a villain. Actually, I had stopped playing villains for that reason. I felt I was being limited. I must have turned down 25 starkly villanous roles."

After more than a year of trying to become a good guy, Paul finally made it, but not without paying a price for his new image.

Car Thefts May Reach 400,000

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reports that figures compiled by his agency show that 356,100 automobiles were stolen in 1962. Projecting the current trend, the insurance companies' National Automobile Theft Bureau estimates car thefts for 1963 will reach a record 400,000.

Car theft costs motorists millions of dollars each year, even though recoveries range from 80 to 90 per cent. Large amounts must be spent to repair damage caused by the thieves and the high incidence of theft adds greatly to the cost of insurance policies.

Both the FBI and the insurance bureau put much of the blame on the carelessness of owners. The FBI report states that in 42 per cent of all thefts the key was in the car or the ignition was unlocked. More than 50 per cent of the stolen cars were taken from private residences, apartments or residential streets and in more than 50 per cent of these cases the key was in the car or the ignition was unlocked.

Of all those arrested for auto theft, 87 per cent were under 25 and 62 per cent were under 18. Since among young people car theft is generally an act of impulse, the unlocked vehicle is a constant temptation.

The temptation has been lessened somewhat by local ordinances penalizing drivers who leave keys in unattended cars. "Communities which have such ordinances had a lower auto theft rate when the ordinance was enforced," the FBI report observes.

The FBI insists the public "has a definite responsibility" for reducing the opportunity for theft by removing the key and locking the ignition. But in the face of long experience, the FBI cannot have much hope that many will pay attention.

Substituting Coal For Gold

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—When Governors Bert Combs of Kentucky and William Wallace Barron of West Virginia, speaking at the Governors Conference here in Miami Beach, prefaced their demands for increased coal exports by attacking imports of residual oil, no one remarked on the queer irony of trying to sell abroad without buying from abroad. It remained for a non-governor, sitting in a spectator's chair, to offer an idea that would have the virtue of putting miners to work in West Virginia without at the same time attempting to cause unemployment among foreign oil workers abroad.

The non-governor was Joseph Moody, president of the National Coal Policy Conference, who lives and dreams coal. His solid build suggests the amplitude of his old antagonist, United Mine Worker leader John L. Lewis, and he has much of Mr. Lewis's tenacity of purpose. He is, naturally, no friend of imported residual oil, but his particular scheme for promoting coal exports would, in effect, sidestep the entirely unrealistic effort to get foreigners to take our coal without at the same time selling us their products, which might include oil.

What Mr. Moody has noticed is that India, Thailand, Tunisia, Pakistan and Burma are all big consumers of foreign coal. They are also recipients of U.S. foreign aid. As such, they take dollars out of the United States which, after they have been passed around a bit, may be presented as claims on our constantly dwindling gold supply. Meanwhile, Soviet Russia is busy supplying the Indians and the Tunisians with coal.

Mr. Moody's suggestion as it affects African and Asiatic nations is simplicity itself: substitute good American coal from West Virginia for dollars when we are making grants or loans to countries like India. This would lessen the bad effect of our foreign aid program on the international balance of payments situation.

The Indians might grumble at having to take aid "in kind," but Mr. Moody suggests that they have a compelling need for good metallurgical coal which the depressed Appalachian states in America are in a position to supply. Since the Kennedy Administration is troubled by unemployment in West Virginia no less than by an adverse international balance of payments, Mr. Moody is, in effect, trying to hand the White House a stone capable of bringing down two birds at once.

To sweeten the proposition of forcing needy nations to take foreign aid in the shape of coal exports instead of credits that can ultimately be cashed for gold, Mr. Moody suggests that the U.S. might help build unloading facilities in Pakistan or Burma.

"It makes no sense," he says, "to load up a 30,000-ton collier and send it to a port which has to take the coal off in sampans. That's like trying to bail the ocean with a spoon."

As for potential markets for U.S. coal in Japan, England and Western Europe, the attempt to push coal exports is impeded by quotas, tariffs and local subsidies of production. Yet American mining costs are so low in comparison with foreign mining costs that the price bait might be successfully dangled before foreign eyes by a nation willing to give up the idea of increasing quota restrictions on such things as offshore residual oil coming to such fuel-deficit areas as the New England states. To get a concession, the U.S. must be prepared to give concessions.

If free trade in coal could be made a reality, the mountainous states of the now-depressed Appalachian regions might blossom like the rose. In 1961, what with our automated mines, the output per manshift for U.S. coal mining was 14.4 tons compared with 2.1 tons in Britain, 2.4 tons in West Germany, 2.1 in France, and 1.7 in Belgium. This difference between U.S. and foreign efficiency in mining is little short of astounding.

Inasmuch as Western Europe, Canada and Japan account for $35.6 billion of the total foreign gold reserves and dollar holdings of $43.5 billion, additional coal exports to these areas would have a very ponderable impact in lessening the gold drain. And an increase in U.S. coal exports of some 50 million tons in the next few years, which is not a Utopian aim, would on Mr. Moody's estimation, mean a minimum of 17,500 mining jobs and 8,0000 jobs on coal-hauling railroads. Such jobs would, if created, flush the whole economy of the coal mining states and carry any politician associated with the boom back into office in virtual perpetuity.

Stage Set For Dramatic Changes In Russia

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The most important item in the background of the agreement on a nuclear test ban is also one of the most unexpected facts developed for some years by the experts who spend their time tracking down the truth about the Soviet Union.

For at least a decade it has been a standard international cliche that the authoritarian Soviet society, with all its defects, was at least assured of a very high rate of economic growth. In recent years the Soviet growth rate has been noticeably declining, but the cliche has continued to be parroted. It must now be relegated, however, to the intellectual boneyard where the dead cliches of history molder into oblivion.

In the year 1962, to be specific, the Soviet Union's rate of economic growth dropped below 4 per cent per annum. In the days when President Kennedy was promising to "get America moving again," he often pointed with alarm to the higher Soviet growth rate. But in 1962, the U. S. rate of growth was 5.4 per cent, or about 1.5 per cent higher than the Soviet growth rate.

The U. S. growth rate in 1962 also exceeded the average growth rate of all the countries of the NATO alliance, which was 4.8 per cent. And the margin was again wide between the growth rate of the Western allies and the average growth rate of the Warsaw Pact countries in Eastern Europe, which was only 3 per cent.

To see the meaning of these statistics, so startling against the background of the long-accepted cliches, it is needful to remember that there is nothing abstract about growth rates. Instead, they are measures of the food and finished goods and other things that each economy produces, for consumption, and for national defense, and for investment for further growth.

The slippage of the Soviet growth rate below the American level is all the more dramatic because of certain other recent developments which also help to explain the slippage. Just after New Year's of 1962, in brief, the Soviets loudly announced that they had increased their spending on national defense by a whopping 40 per cent; and Soviet defense spending has clearly continued to rise since that announcement.

None of the experts believe, to be sure, that the real increase of outlay on the Soviet armed forces was anything like the claimed increase, which was in part an answer to President Kennedy's Berlin mobilization order.

But it is thought a fair guess that defense spending actually had increased by about 25 per cent at the time of the January 1962 announcement. It is also thought a fair guess that Soviet defense spending has risen by a further 8 or 9 per cent since that time.

There is a double significance in these very large increases in defense outlays, in a period of declining economic growth rate. In the first place, defense has clearly been taking a growing share of the total Soviet pie each year. On the second place, this very fact must have reduced the share of the pie available for growth-causing investment; and thus the decline in the Soviet growth-rate must have been accelerated.

Former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey used to claim there was a dark Marxist plot to win the world for communism, by forcing the U. S. to spend itself into bankruptcy on national defense. In reality, the foregoing facts indicate that the Soviet Union is less well prepared to carry the burden than the U.S. And these facts were clearly in the mind of Nikita S. Khrushchev when he moved to break the log jam that had so long prevented agreement on a nuclear test ban.

The accord reached in Moscow is many things at once, all of them important. But it will be very surprising, indeed, if this accord is not especially important as a landmark of Soviet internal policy. It is a proof that Khrushchev's "co - existence" works; and thus it sets the stage for a change in Soviet investment priorities that may be quite dramatic in character.

There are numerous signs, including indications of a forthcoming withdrawal of the Soviet garrison in Hungary, that Khrushchev is getting ready for another attempt to shrink his armed forces' swollen manpower. The last effort, which failed, called for a manpower reduction from 3.6 million to 2.4, with 1.2 million men in uniform, including 200,000 officers, returning to civil life.

If another such reduction is to be attempted, it will be dramatic in itself. If defense spending for other purposes is also held down, several billions of rubles will then become available for investment in the productive sectors of the Soviet economy.

Finally, if sums thus released are intelligently invested (a very big "if") in solving the Soviet farm problem, the Soviet Union may wear an altogether new look before too many years have passed. Khrushchev may soon be talking, in short, of "getting Russia moving again."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

GOP REACTION—Some Republicans in Congress are far from happy about the collective performance of their party's representatives so far this session. One constant Republican critic of Republican actions, Sen. Norris Cotton, of New Hampshire, put it this way:

"Not once have we held the line. At the session's end we may well say, as did a football coach after a disastrous year, "The greatest single gain we made all season was a two-yard loss."

Cotton's remarks were aimed at the inability of the GOP membership to check non-defense government spending. However, he could have been talking about any of a number of other situations in which Republicans have failed to act as a cohesive group, permitting the Democrats, even though seriously split themselves, to carry the day.

DEFINITIONS—Sen. Stephen M. Young of Ohio says: "A conservative is a fellow who wants to turn back the clock. A liberal is a man who wants to pawn it."

A Marine Corps post doctor, wishing to be helpful, wrote the mother of a new recruit that her son was now fine, but has been "recuperating from an acute attack of nostalgia."

With understandable motherly disturbance, the lady hastily wrote to her senator. She protested vehemently that her son never had any trouble with that ailment until he entered the Marine Corps.

Narcolepsy Can Be A Dangerous Handicap

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

The narcolepsy victim has an uncontrolable desire to sleep while reading, driving a car, or watching TV. A brief nap alleviates the feeling temporarily but shortly thereafter he drifts into drowsiness and other deep sleep. The condition is an obvious handicap and may be dangerous when the need comes on while driving a car or if the victim's work involves machinery.

Not everyone who always is tired has narcolepsy. A lazy thyroid gland leads to symptoms that are easily mistaken for narcolepsy, and vice versa. The glandular disorder is more likely to produce fatigue than drowsiness. In addition, tests show a low metabolism and a low protein bound iodine level in the blood.

In contrast, there are no technical methods to diagnose narcolepsy. The physician suspects the disorder from the history of the patient's complaints and his response to drugs such as the amphetamines, which lead to improvement in more than 85 per cent of all narcolepsy victims.

The abnormality usually develops during adolescence or young adult life. Most of the day is spent in a state halfway between alertness and sleep. Unless treater, narcolepsy persists throughout life and handicaps the working man because he is tired, wornout, and subject to abrupt blackouts.

Other sleep disorders may coexist. Some have cataplexy, a puzzling condition in which the muscles become weak or temporarily paralyzed if the emotions are aroused as in a hearty laugh, surprise, or anger.

Other also develop sleep paralysis, a phenomenon that many normal persons experience at some period of life. This is the peculiar sensation of not being able to move when dozing off or awakening from a nap. The person becomes weak and feels completely paralyzed for a few moments between sleeping and waking.

DEPRESSION AFTER OPERATION

B. D. writes: Are crying spells, nervousness, and headaches to be expected after a hysterectomy?

REPLY

No. This woman is in a depression and in need of psychiatric care. Stress, anxiety, and insecurity are more likely origins, though these symptoms may be precipitated by the operation. Most women who undergo a hysterectomy do so without such an aftermath.

CHEST FLUID

R. S. writes: Can fluid on the chest (as shown by X-ray) be dissolved by medicine?

REPLY

The answer depends upon the cause. If the fluid is pus, surgical drainage will be necessary. On the other hand diuretic pills will eliminate congestion resulting from dropsy, and the anti-tuberculosis tablets will help when tuberculosis is responsible.

PULSE INCREASE

R. L. writes: I have a fast pulse. Will taking a reducing pill make my heart beat increase?

REPLY

I may, especially if the reducing pill contains one of the amphetamisen.

IODINE CONTAINING FOODS

J. D. writes: Will eating foods rich in iodine keep the hair from getting gray?

REPLY

No, but it will help keep your neck from enlarging because of goiter.

PALM PSORIASIS

P. L. writes: Can psoriasis affect the palms of the hands?

REPLY

Yes, although the scalp, elbows, and knees are more popular sites. On the rare occasions when the palms are involved, the lesions exhibit less scaling and more hardening and the patches assume a worm-eaten appearance.

SWEATING IT OUT

M. R. writes: Once in a while I like to take a very hot bath and sweat it out. Is this harmful?

REPLY

The healthy individual usually can take it but the aged and those with heart disease or high blood pressure should not indulge.

SHOULDER DISLOCATION

J. Z. writes: Can periodic dislocations of a shoulder be corrected by surgery in a 30 year old man?

REPLY

Yes, and this is the best way to correct the condition.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Economic Experts Warn 30-Day RR Strike Would Be Disastrous

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's grim warning that a 30-day railroad strike would idle 6,000,000 nonrailroad workers and cause an economic decline four times greater than the worst postwar recession was based upon the sober conclusions of the Labor, Agriculture, and Commerce Departments.

They reported confidentially to the White House that a mere week-long strike would be no calamity, although it would strand 500,000 commuters who ride the trains to work in New York, Chicago, and Philadelphia, would also close down some industrial plants dependent upon rail shipments.

Several automobile plants, for example, operate with less than a week's supply of materials on hand.

A few food shortages would also turn up in New York City during the first week of a strike.

But if the railroad workers should halt the trains for more than 30 days, the experts warned, the results would be disastrous.

Farmers would be unable to ship their August harvest to market; fruits, vegetables and other food would begin to disappear from the grocery stands; prices would start to skyrocket; workers would be laid off in the steel, coal, lumber, paper, stone, glass, and other industries.

Drinking water in many places could not be purified and would be unsafe to drink. The sewage disposal plants in the Upper Ohio Valley, for example, depend upon the railroads for their chlorine. Not enough truck tankers are available to deliver the chlorine needed to keep the water safe downstream.

The economic experts predicted that the nation's gross output would drop an alarming 75 billion dollars if the trains stop running for 30 days.

They also warned that foreign suppliers would take over part of the American market, both here and abroad.

Faced with these dire prospects, President Kennedy told subordinates that a prolonged railroad strike was "unacceptable" and must be headed off for the sake of the national welfare.

Berlin Cools Off

While world attention has been riveted on Moscow, Mayor Willy Brandt of once-embattled Berlin has conceded privately that the Berlin crisis "appears to have passed into the pages of history."

Only a year ago, Khrushchev was threatening war over Berlin. But Brandt told a gathering of liberal leaders in Stockholm the other day that "the pressure is off Berlin."

In an aside to Minnesota's Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Brandt also remarked that Presiednt Kennedy's Berlin visit had bolstered the city "as if you had sent in powerful new forces."

Both men were among the liberal leaders who accepted invitations from Swedish Prime Minister Tag Erlander to attend a private, two-day pow-wow.

At one closed-door session, Brandt also acknowledged that Khrushchev, in going his separate way from the Chinese Communists, appears to be heading down the path of peaceful coexistence. The Berlin mayor then asked Sen. Humphrey what he thought of Khrushchev's latest moves.

Humphrey pointed out that the Communists have been preaching peace and leading ban-the-bomb-demonstrations since 1946, but that Khrushchev had maneuvered the Chinese Communists into taking a stand in favor of nuclear war.

Such a stand is directly counter to fifteen years of Communist propaganda, which, Humphrey said, has made an impact on the world, particularly on the masses of Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

Humphrey predicted that Khrushchev will now use the issue in his ideological struggle with the Chinese Reds. He will be able to argue that the Chinese have deserted the Communist campaign for peace.

"Khrushchev has trapped the Chinese Communists into coming out against a test ban, which puts them on the side of death and destruction," observed the Minnesota Senator.

He also told the Stockholm gathering that Russia doesn't have the means to continue both the arms race and economic development.

Khrushchev And Humphrey

During his own marathon discussion with Khrushchev in 1958, he recalled that he had warned the premier: "You have had it easy the past few years with the Republicans running the United States. When my crowd takes over, we are going to run you right out of the ball park."

True to his prediction, Humphrey said that President Kennedy had stepped up spending on missiles, arms, and economic projects. This had forced Khrushchev to choose whether to speed up his own military program at the expense of economic development.

"We have the means to indulge in both the arms race and economic development," Humphrey told the liberal leaders. "The Russians don't."

British Labor leader Harold Wilson was skeptical, however, about America's economic strength. He recalled that Britain had tried to finance world development in the 1900s but that the drain had been too great. The United States, he said, was now discovering the same problem.

"No country is rich enough any longer to be the world's banker," he said.

Wilson suggested that an international combine should finance the undeveloped countries, establishing international credits, rather than relying on a single country.

The group agreed to appoint a committee, representing the United States, Britain, Germany, and Scandinavia, to study the free world's economic problems. The liberal leaders will gather again in Germany at the end of the year to renew the discussion.

It Just Smells Good

By John Crosby

PARIS

I asked Madame Rochas, who is a lovely ex-mannequin and the only woman in the world who has a perfume named after her, what sells perfume in France and she said, so help me, the smell.

I was brought up at my mother's knee or more probably at M. Walter Thompson's knee to think that what sold perfume was its power as an aphrodisiac. The first perfume ad I can remember is that picture of a woman swooning in the arms of her violin teacher which has been running for decades in the New Yorker. I go way back to the days when perfumes had names like "Surrender," "Swoon," and "Ecstasy."

One of the first things I noticed in France is that perfume ads aren't like that at all. A French perfume ad usually has a picture of the bottle, say, of "Chant d'Aromes" — "Le nouveau parfum de Guerlain," it says. There's a wispy sketch of a girl's head. That's all. No sex. No seduction. The French, in fact, have only recently been persuaded to put any text in their perfume ads at all and then the text simply says the stuff smells good. Or it makes a nice gift. Never, never, never that it contributes to a girl's sexuality.

"We think in France that women don't like a perfume to be sexy," said Mme. Rochas. "A woman buys perfume for herself, to be a part of herself, to complete herself. In America you are obsessed with sexuality. In France, we do it, but we don't talk about it, and we don't want that kind of publicity for our perfume."

As an example of American perfume advertising, I picked out a Dorothy Gray ad in Harper's Bazaar. Three sexy pictures of a girl. The text: "Tantalize with a look . . . with a smile . . . with a mood. Or do it divinely with 'Tantalize,' fascinating feminine fragrance by Dorothy Gray."

Commented Mme. Rochas: "A Frenchwoman doesn't want to use perfume to catch men. She doesn't use perfume to be seductive. In the text, we try to explain why the perfume is good." Actually, she added, the seduction motif is disappearing from American perfume ads, which are beginning to look more French.

My own favorite perfume ad is for "Idole" and shows on a black page a design which might be a bird in a dinner jacket or might be only an abstract design. Underneath a single line: "Un nouveau parfum aime passionement." Lubin. That's the whole ad. Very striking. Very simple. Very abstract as a perfume's virtues actually are.

"I think Madame Rochas is a very modern perfume," said Mme. Rochas, who picked the scent herself. "I try to be a complete woman — with my job and my children and my husband — and I wanted a perfume that expresses all those things — career, marriage, children — and you can wear it night and day." It all sounds severely practical. Nothing in there about woman as temptress. The home, the office, the nursery. Nothing about the boudoir.

The only other perfumes, said Mme. Rochas, that were named after women were "Miss Dior" — but there was no Miss Dior— she's a fictional character. And a scent named "Brigit" after guess who. But "Brigit" was a flop. "Madame Rochas" reigns alone in the perfume field as a living, breathing woman.

I asked her how one successfully sold perfume to the French if sex left them cold, and she said: "A perfume must be a' la mode. And afterwards, it must not be too a' la mode. A perfume must be launched with a little bit of snobbism. Afterwards, it must penetrate the great public."

Thank heavens, some of the old values are holding fast. God knows where this trend will end. If you start selling perfume because of the way the stuff smells, next thing you know they'll be selling cars because of the way they drive. Or advertising soap that gets you clean rather than gets you elected Queen of the May. Maybe even selling wristwatches because they tell time. What will happen to Madison Avenue? Whole street will be out of work.

To get a concession, the U.S. must be prepared to give concessions.

If free trade in coal could be made a reality, the mountainous states of the now-depressed Appalachian regions might blossom like the rose. In 1961, what with our automated mines, the output per manshift for U.S. coal mining was 14.4 tons compared with 2.1 tons in Britain, 2.4 tons in West Germany, 2.1 in France, and 1.7 in Belgium. This difference between U.S. and foreign efficiency in mining is little short of astounding.

Inasmuch as Western Europe, Canada and Japan account for $35.6 billion of the total foreign gold reserves and dollar holdings of $43.5 billion, additional coal exports to these areas would have a very ponderable impact in lessening the gold drain. And an increase in U.S. coal exports of some 50 million tons in the next few years, which is not a Utopian aim, would on Mr. Moody's estimation, mean a minimum of 17,500 mining jobs and 8,0000 jobs on coal-hauling railroads. Such jobs would, if created, flush the whole economy of the coal mining states and carry any politician associated with the boom back into office in virtual perpetuity.

Economic Experts Warn 30-Day RR Strike Would Be Disastrous

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's grim warning that a 30-day railroad strike would idle 6,000,000 nonrailroad workers and cause an economic decline four times greater than the worst postwar recession was based upon the sober conclusions of the Labor, Agriculture, and Commerce Departments.

They reported confidentially to the White House that a mere week-long strike would be no calamity, although it would strand 500,000 commuters who ride the trains to work in New York, Chicago, and Philadelphia, would also close down some industrial plants dependent upon rail shipments.

Several automobile plants, for example, operate with less than a week's supply of materials on hand.

A few food shortages would also turn up in New York City during the first week of a strike.

But if the railroad workers should halt the trains for more than 30 days, the experts warned, the results would be disastrous.

Farmers would be unable to ship their August harvest to market; fruits, vegetables and other food would begin to disappear from the grocery stands; prices would start to skyrocket; workers would be laid off in the steel, coal, lumber, paper, stone, glass, and other industries.

Drinking water in many places could not be purified and would be unsafe to drink. The sewage disposal plants in the Upper Ohio Valley, for example, depend upon the railroads for their chlorine. Not enough truck tankers are available to deliver the chlorine needed to keep the water safe downstream.

The economic experts predicted that the nation's gross output would drop an alarming 75 billion dollars if the trains stop running for 30 days.

They also warned that foreign suppliers would take over part of the American market, both here and abroad.

Faced with these dire prospects, President Kennedy told subordinates that a prolonged railroad strike was "unacceptable" and must be headed off for the sake of the national welfare.

Berlin Cools Off

While world attention has been riveted on Moscow, Mayor Willy Brandt of once-embattled Berlin has conceded privately that the Berlin crisis "appears to have passed into the pages of history."

Only a year ago, Khrushchev was threatening war over Berlin. But Brandt told a gathering of liberal leaders in Stockholm the other day that "the pressure is off Berlin."

In an aside to Minnesota's Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Brandt also remarked that Presiednt Kennedy's Berlin visit had bolstered the city "as if you had sent in powerful new forces."

Both men were among the liberal leaders who accepted invitations from Swedish Prime Minister Tag Erlander to attend a private, two-day pow-wow.

At one closed-door session, Brandt also acknowledged that Khrushchev, in going his separate way from the Chinese Communists, appears to be heading down the path of peaceful coexistence. The Berlin mayor then asked Sen. Humphrey what he thought of Khrushchev's latest moves.

Humphrey pointed out that the Communists have been preaching peace and leading ban-the-bomb-demonstrations since 1946, but that Khrushchev had maneuvered the Chinese Communists into taking a stand in favor of nuclear war.

Such a stand is directly counter to fifteen years of Communist propaganda, which, Humphrey said, has made an impact on the world, particularly on the masses of Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

Humphrey predicted that Khrushchev will now use the issue in his ideological struggle with the Chinese Reds. He will be able to argue that the Chinese have deserted the Communist campaign for peace.

"Khrushchev has trapped the Chinese Communists into coming out against a test ban, which puts them on the side of death and destruction," observed the Minnesota Senator.

He also told the Stockholm gathering that Russia doesn't have the means to continue both the arms race and economic development.

Khrushchev And Humphrey

During his own marathon discussion with Khrushchev in 1958, he recalled that he had warned the premier: "You have had it easy the past few years with the Republicans running the United States. When my crowd takes over, we are going to run you right out of the ball park."

True to his prediction, Humphrey said that President Kennedy had stepped up spending on missiles, arms, and economic projects. This had forced Khrushchev to choose whether to speed up his own military program at the expense of economic development.

"We have the means to indulge in both the arms race and economic development," Humphrey told the liberal leaders. "The Russians don't."

British Labor leader Harold Wilson was skeptical, however, about America's economic strength. He recalled that Britain had tried to finance world development in the 1900s but that the drain had been too great. The United States, he said, was now discovering the same problem.

"No country is rich enough any longer to be the world's banker," he said.

Wilson suggested that an international combine should finance the undeveloped countries, establishing international credits, rather than relying on a single country.

The group agreed to appoint a committee, representing the United States, Britain, Germany, and Scandinavia, to study the free world's economic problems. The liberal leaders will gather again in Germany at the end of the year to renew the discussion.

Stage Set For Dramatic Changes In Russia

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The most important item in the background of the agreement on a nuclear test ban is also one of the most unexpected facts developed for some years by the experts who spend their time tracking down the truth about the Soviet Union.

For at least a decade it has been a standard international cliche that the authoritarian Soviet society, with all its defects, was at least assured of a very high rate of economic growth. In recent years the Soviet growth rate has been noticeably declining, but the cliche has continued to be parroted. It must now be relegated, however, to the intellectual boneyard where the dead cliches of history molder into oblivion.

In the year 1962, to be specific, the Soviet Union's rate of economic growth dropped below 4 per cent per annum. In the days when President Kennedy was promising to "get America moving again," he often pointed with alarm to the higher Soviet growth rate. But in 1962, the U. S. rate of growth was 5.4 per cent, or about 1.5 per cent higher than the Soviet growth rate.

The U. S. growth rate in 1962 also exceeded the average growth rate of all the countries of the NATO alliance, which was 4.8 per cent. And the margin was again wide between the growth rate of the Western allies and the average growth rate of the Warsaw Pact countries in Eastern Europe, which was only 3 per cent.

To see the meaning of these statistics, so startling against the background of the long-accepted cliches, it is needful to remember that there is nothing abstract about growth rates. Instead, they are measures of the food and finished goods and other things that each economy produces, for consumption, and for national defense, and for investment for further growth.

The slippage of the Soviet growth rate below the American level is all the more dramatic because of certain other recent developments which also help to explain the slippage. Just after New Year's of 1962, in brief, the Soviets loudly announced that they had increased their spending on national defense by a whopping 40 per cent; and Soviet defense spending has clearly continued to rise since that announcement.

None of the experts believe, to be sure, that the real increase of outlay on the Soviet armed forces was anything like the claimed increase, which was in part an answer to President Kennedy's Berlin mobilization order.

But it is thought a fair guess that defense spending actually had increased by about 25 per cent at the time of the January 1962 announcement. It is also thought a fair guess that Soviet defense spending has risen by a further 8 or 9 per cent since that time.

There is a double significance in these very large increases in defense outlays, in a period of declining economic growth rate. In the first place, defense has clearly been taking a growing share of the total Soviet pie each year. On the second place, this very fact must have reduced the share of the pie available for growth-causing investment; and thus the decline in the Soviet growth-rate must have been accelerated.

Former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey used to claim there was a dark Marxist plot to win the world for communism, by forcing the U. S. to spend itself into bankruptcy on national defense. In reality, the foregoing facts indicate that the Soviet Union is less well prepared to carry the burden than the U.S. And these facts were clearly in the mind of Nikita S. Khrushchev when he moved to break the log jam that had so long prevented agreement on a nuclear test ban.

The accord reached in Moscow is many things at once, all of them important. But it will be very surprising, indeed, if this accord is not especially important as a landmark of Soviet internal policy. It is a proof that Khrushchev's "co - existence" works; and thus it sets the stage for a change in Soviet investment priorities that may be quite dramatic in character.

There are numerous signs, including indications of a forthcoming withdrawal of the Soviet garrison in Hungary, that Khrushchev is getting ready for another attempt to shrink his armed forces' swollen manpower. The last effort, which failed, called for a manpower reduction from 3.6 million to 2.4, with 1.2 million men in uniform, including 200,000 officers, returning to civil life.

If another such reduction is to be attempted, it will be dramatic in itself. If defense spending for other purposes is also held down, several billions of rubles will then become available for investment in the productive sectors of the Soviet economy.

Finally, if sums thus released are intelligently invested (a very big "if") in solving the Soviet farm problem, the Soviet Union may wear an altogether new look before too many years have passed. Khrushchev may soon be talking, in short, of "getting Russia moving again."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

GOP REACTION—Some Republicans in Congress are far from happy about the collective performance of their party's representatives so far this session. One constant Republican critic of Republican actions, Sen. Norris Cotton, of New Hampshire, put it this way:

"Not once have we held the line. At the session's end we may well say, as did a football coach after a disastrous year, "The greatest single gain we made all season was a two-yard loss."

Cotton's remarks were aimed at the inability of the GOP membership to check non-defense government spending. However, he could have been talking about any of a number of other situations in which Republicans have failed to act as a cohesive group, permitting the Democrats, even though seriously split themselves, to carry the day.

DEFINITIONS—Sen. Stephen M. Young of Ohio says: "A conservative is a fellow who wants to turn back the clock. A liberal is a man who wants to pawn it."

A Marine Corps post doctor, wishing to be helpful, wrote the mother of a new recruit that her son was now fine, but has been "recuperating from an acute attack of nostalgia."

With understandable motherly disturbance, the lady hastily wrote to her senator. She protested vehemently that her son never had any trouble with that ailment until he entered the Marine Corps.

It Just Smells Good

PARIS

I asked Madame Rochas, who is a lovely ex-mannequin and the only woman in the world who has a perfume named after her, what sells perfume in France and she said, so help me, the smell.

I was brought up at my mother's knee or more probably at M. Walter Thompson's knee to think that what sold perfume was its power as an aphrodisiac. The first perfume ad I can remember is that picture of a woman swooning in the arms of her violin teacher which has been running for decades in the New Yorker. I go way back to the days when perfumes had names like "Surrender," "Swoon," and "Ecstasy."

One of the first things I noticed in France is that perfume ads aren't like that at all. A French perfume ad usually has a picture of the bottle, say, of "Chant d'Aromes" — "Le nouveau parfum de Guerlain," it says. There's a wispy sketch of a girl's head. That's all. No sex. No seduction. The French, in fact, have only recently been persuaded to put any text in their perfume ads at all and then the text simply says the stuff smells good. Or it makes a nice gift. Never, never, never that it contributes to a girl's sexuality.

"We think in France that women don't like a perfume to be sexy," said Mme. Rochas. "A woman buys perfume for herself, to be a part of herself, to complete herself. In America you are obsessed with sexuality. In France, we do it, but we don't talk about it, and we don't want that kind of publicity for our perfume."

As an example of American perfume advertising, I picked out a Dorothy Gray ad in Harper's Bazaar. Three sexy pictures of a girl. The text: "Tantalize with a look . . . with a smile . . . with a mood. Or do it divinely with 'Tantalize,' fascinating feminine fragrance by Dorothy Gray."

Commented Mme. Rochas: "A Frenchwoman doesn't want to use perfume to catch men. She doesn't use perfume to be seductive. In the text, we try to explain why the perfume is good." Actually, she added, the seduction motif is disappearing from American perfume ads, which are beginning to look more French.

My own favorite perfume ad is for "Idole" and shows on a black page a design which might be a bird in a dinner jacket or might be only an abstract design. Underneath a single line: "Un nouveau parfum aime passionement." Lubin. That's the whole ad. Very striking. Very simple. Very abstract as a perfume's virtues actually are.

"I think Madame Rochas is a very modern perfume," said Mme. Rochas, who picked the scent herself. "I try to be a complete woman — with my job and my children and my husband — and I wanted a perfume that expresses all those things — career, marriage, children — and you can wear it night and day." It all sounds severely practical. Nothing in there about woman as temptress. The home, the office, the nursery. Nothing about the boudoir.

The only other perfumes, said Mme. Rochas, that were named after women were "Miss Dior" — but there was no Miss Dior— she's a fictional character. And a scent named "Brigit" after guess who. But "Brigit" was a flop. "Madame Rochas" reigns alone in the perfume field as a living, breathing woman.

I asked her how one successfully sold perfume to the French if sex left them cold, and she said: "A perfume must be a' la mode. And afterwards, it must not be too a' la mode. A perfume must be launched with a little bit of snobbism. Afterwards, it must penetrate the great public."

Thank heavens, some of the old values are holding fast. God knows where this trend will end. If you start selling perfume because of the way the stuff smells, next thing you know they'll be selling cars because of the way they drive. Or advertising soap that gets you clean rather than gets you elected Queen of the May. Maybe even selling wristwatches because they tell time. What will happen to Madison Avenue? Whole street will be out of work.

Narcolepsy Can Be A Dangerous Handicap

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

The narcolepsy victim has an uncontrolable desire to sleep while reading, driving a car, or watching TV. A brief nap alleviates the feeling temporarily but shortly thereafter he drifts into drowsiness and other deep sleep. The condition is an obvious handicap and may be dangerous when the need comes on while driving a car or if the victim's work involves machinery.

Not everyone who always is tired has narcolepsy. A lazy thyroid gland leads to symptoms that are easily mistaken for narcolepsy, and vice versa. The glandular disorder is more likely to produce fatigue than drowsiness. In addition, tests show a low metabolism and a low protein bound iodine level in the blood.

In contrast, there are no technical methods to diagnose narcolepsy. The physician suspects the disorder from the history of the patient's complaints and his response to drugs such as the amphetamines, which lead to improvement in more than 85 per cent of all narcolepsy victims.

The abnormality usually develops during adolescence or young adult life. Most of the day is spent in a state halfway between alertness and sleep. Unless treater, narcolepsy persists throughout life and handicaps the working man because he is tired, wornout, and subject to abrupt blackouts.

Other sleep disorders may coexist. Some have cataplexy, a puzzling condition in which the muscles become weak or temporarily paralyzed if the emotions are aroused as in a hearty laugh, surprise, or anger.

Other also develop sleep paralysis, a phenomenon that many normal persons experience at some period of life. This is the peculiar sensation of not being able to move when dozing off or awakening from a nap. The person becomes weak and feels completely paralyzed for a few moments between sleeping and waking.

DEPRESSION AFTER OPERATION

B. D. writes: Are crying spells, nervousness, and headaches to be expected after a hysterectomy?

REPLY

No. This woman is in a depression and in need of psychiatric care. Stress, anxiety, and insecurity are more likely origins, though these symptoms may be precipitated by the operation. Most women who undergo a hysterectomy do so without such an aftermath.

CHEST FLUID

R. S. writes: Can fluid on the chest (as shown by X-ray) be dissolved by medicine?

REPLY

The answer depends upon the cause. If the fluid is pus, surgical drainage will be necessary. On the other hand diuretic pills will eliminate congestion resulting from dropsy, and the anti-tuberculosis tablets will help when tuberculosis is responsible.

PULSE INCREASE

R. L. writes: I have a fast pulse. Will taking a reducing pill make my heart beat increase?

REPLY

I may, especially if the reducing pill contains one of the amphetamisen.

IODINE CONTAINING FOODS

J. D. writes: Will eating foods rich in iodine keep the hair from getting gray?

REPLY

No, but it will help keep your neck from enlarging because of goiter.

PALM PSORIASIS

P. L. writes: Can psoriasis affect the palms of the hands?

REPLY

Yes, although the scalp, elbows, and knees are more popular sites. On the rare occasions when the palms are involved, the lesions exhibit less scaling and more hardening and the patches assume a worm-eaten appearance.

SWEATING IT OUT

M. R. writes: Once in a while I like to take a very hot bath and sweat it out. Is this harmful?

REPLY

The healthy individual usually can take it but the aged and those with heart disease or high blood pressure should not indulge.

SHOULDER DISLOCATION

J. Z. writes: Can periodic dislocations of a shoulder be corrected by surgery in a 30 year old man?

REPLY

Yes, and this is the best way to correct the condition.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Gas Company Building Is Near Finish

Lonaconing Job 80 Per Cent Done

LONACONING — Work is 80 per cent completed on the new $75,000 office and service center of Columbia Gas of Maryland, Inc., here.

District Manager J. S. Wilson, Cumberland, said "the new one-story brick building will provide modern facilities for customers, space for gas-appliance displays, and greatly improved working conditions for area gas company employes."

The building will include an office for Foreman Ernest Painter, administrative space for supervising clerk and teller, storeroom, utility room, record storage area, locker and crewroom, and a large garage area with tool and meter storage facilities. All but the garage area will be cooled and heated by year-round gas air-conditioning equipment.

Parking Available

The front of the building, which will be about two-thirds window area, will be decorated with foliage plantings and accented with two modern gaslights. It is located at the corner of Union and Pleasant Streets.

For customers' convenience, parking will be available along the Pleasant Street side of the building. In winter, the sidewalk areas will be kept free of snow and ice by the gas-fired snow-melting equipment installed beneath the pavement. A fenced pipeyard will be located at the rear of the building.

Columbia Gas will lease its new Lonaconing office from Gasco Realty, Inc. It was built by the Wilson Construction Company.

"The realignment of the West Virginia and Maryland properties in 1961 expanded the Lonaconing customer service area. This made the present collection office and storage and service facilities inadequate and therefore inefficient and uneconomical," Wilson explained.

Wilson added, "As there were not suitable facilities available in Lonaconing to meet our operating requirements, it was necessary that we acquire a new building."

To Hike Staff

Construction is expected to be completed by the first week of August. Allowing time for moving in, the gas company expects to begin full-scale operations about mid-August.

The office serves approximately 3,600 customers and over a dozen communities in an extensive geographical area that includes Westernport, McCoole, and Luke to the south.

Six employes staff the old Lonaconing office, but the work force at the new location will be increased to 11 with the transfer of five construction and maintenance employes.

Service equipment will be increased from the present two pickup trucks and portable air compressor. A one-ton gang truck, a jeep-mounted welder and a tractor with backhoe-hylift combination will be moved to Lonaconing from the gas company service center on Industrial Boulevard in Cumberland.

Frostburg Plans Swimming Classes

FROSTBURG — Swimming lessons will be given at the Frostburg Pool for students of Beall Elementary School from July 29 to August 9 from 11 a. m. to noon.

The Pullen School and Hill Street combined swimming classes will be held during the same weeks from 10 to 11 a. m. each day.

The Red Cross instructors will be assisted by Frostburg area Girl Scouts. Approximately 150 students from the three schools will be receiving instructions.

Dr. E. J. Nesius Will Crown Poultry Queen

20 Candidates Enter Contest At Moorefield

MOOREFIELD — Dr. Ernest J. Nesius, vice president in charge of the West Virginia Center for Appalachian Studies and Development and director of the Cooporative Extension Service of West Virginia University, will crown the 1963 West Virginia Poultry Queen here Wednesday evening at the annual West Virginia Poultry Convention, Wilson H. Smith, Petersburg, executive secretary of the West Virginia Association, announced yesterday.

The Queen will be selected from a group of over 20 candidates who will be participants in the annual Beauty Pageant in conjunction with the Convention.

Dr. Nesius, former Dean of the WVU College of Agriculture, Forestry, and Home Economics, was appointed to his present office when the University created the Appalachian Center. It is a functionary unit, especially created to apply the University's total resources to the social and economic development of West Virginia and of the Appalachian area.

Dr. Nesius has been active in Rural Areas Development as a member of the National Advisory Committees on RAD and as Chairman of the West Virginia Committee on RAD. Before coming to West Virginia in 1960, he was associate director of the Agricultural Extension Service at the University of Kentucky, and was a member of the agricultural staff there from 1946. He has carried out special overseas assignments for the Federal Government in the countries of Austria, Yugoslavia, Greece, Iraq, Iran, Afghanistan, Lebanon, Turkey, and Canada.

Dr. Nesius is an internationally recognized leader in agricultural economics and agricultural extension work, and is the author of more than 25 research publications and papers, Mr. Smith said.

The Poultry convention and festival is sponsored by the West Virginia Poultry Association, cooperating with the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Department. Here poultrymen and poultry leaders throughout West Virginia and the nation meet for educational sessions and to discuss the latest methods and techniques used in the industry.

The festival, annually held in conjunction with the convention, will feature the beauty pageant and the crowning of the queen, the poultry parade—replete with floats and marching bands; the president's banquet on Thursday evening, and chicken barbecues featured each evening of the event.

Keyser Man Faces Charge

KEYSER—Jack Franklin Hood Sr., 39, of 95 North Water Street is being held in Mineral County Jail under $1,000 bond for action of the grand jury on a charge of stealing from the West Virginia Department of Public Welfare.

Hood is alleged to have stolen 22 cases of butter, weighing 75 pounds each, and 23 cases of cheese, weighing 50 pounds each, of commodity food which was for the use of Mineral County residents.

West Virginia State Police here said he had entered a storage building owned by Claudius Vanmeter, Piedmont, on July 23, and left with goods valued at $585.

An employe of the commodity distribution center operated by the State Department of Welfare at Keyser, Hood was given a preliminary hearing Thursday before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle.

Piedmont Centennial Contest Set August 16

PIEDMONT—The date for Piedmont's centennial beauty contest and program has been advanced to August 16 so as not to conflict with Keyser's centennial pageant which will be held at Stayman Field at Potomac State College August 20, 21 and 22.

Miss Sue Ellen Fike, Mineral County's centennial queen, and Miss Kathryn Carvey, "Miss Eastern West Virginia," who placed fourth in the state competition, will be honor guests at the local event in Piedmont High School auditorium. Miss Carvey will read her talent selection from Kipling.

Ten or 12 young women are expected to take part in the beauty contest. A contestant must reside in Piedmont, Beryl or along the Keyser Road, or be a graduate of Piedmont High School, and between 16 and 23 years of age.

The centennial queen and the two runnersup will ride on a float sponsored by the Tri-Towns Community Council in parades at Keyser August 24 and in Piedmont August 31.

"Little Miss Centennial," Miss Junior Centennial" and "Little Mr. Mountaineer" will also ride on a float.

Jack Husson, Keyser, will be master of ceremonies at the local pageant. Mrs. Mary Ord is arranging for talent to appear on the program.

Gas Company Building Is Near Finish

Lonaconing Job 80 Per Cent Done

LONACONING — Work is 80 per cent completed on the new $75,000 office and service center of Columbia Gas of Maryland, Inc., here.

District Manager J. S. Wilson, Cumberland, said "the new one-story brick building will provide modern facilities for customers, space for gas-appliance displays, and greatly improved working conditions for area gas company employes."

The building will include an office for Foreman Ernest Painter, administrative space for supervising clerk and teller, storeroom, utility room, record storage area, locker and crewroom, and a large garage area with tool and meter storage facilities. All but the garage area will be cooled and heated by year-round gas air-conditioning equipment.

Parking Available

The front of the building, which will be about two-thirds window area, will be decorated with foliage plantings and accented with two modern gaslights. It is located at the corner of Union and Pleasant Streets.

For customers' convenience, parking will be available along the Pleasant Street side of the building. In winter, the sidewalk areas will be kept free of snow and ice by the gas-fired snow-melting equipment installed beneath the pavement. A fenced pipeyard will be located at the rear of the building.

Columbia Gas will lease its new Lonaconing office from Gasco Realty, Inc. It was built by the Wilson Construction Company.

"The realignment of the West Virginia and Maryland properties in 1961 expanded the Lonaconing customer service area. This made the present collection office and storage and service facilities inadequate and therefore inefficient and uneconomical," Wilson explained.

Wilson added, "As there were not suitable facilities available in Lonaconing to meet our operating requirements, it was necessary that we acquire a new building."

To Hike Staff

Construction is expected to be completed by the first week of August. Allowing time for moving in, the gas company expects to begin full-scale operations about mid-August.

The office serves approximately 3,600 customers and over a dozen communities in an extensive geographical area that includes Westernport, McCoole, and Luke to the south.

Six employes staff the old Lonaconing office, but the work force at the new location will be increased to 11 with the transfer of five construction and maintenance employes.

Service equipment will be increased from the present two pickup trucks and portable air compressor. A one-ton gang truck, a jeep-mounted welder and a tractor with backhoe-hylift combination will be moved to Lonaconing from the gas company service center on Industrial Boulevard in Cumberland.

Frostburg Plans Swimming Classes

FROSTBURG — Swimming lessons will be given at the Frostburg Pool for students of Beall Elementary School from July 29 to August 9 from 11 a. m. to noon.

The Pullen School and Hill Street combined swimming classes will be held during the same weeks from 10 to 11 a. m. each day.

The Red Cross instructors will be assisted by Frostburg area Girl Scouts. Approximately 150 students from the three schools will be receiving instructions.

Piedmont Centennial Contest Set August 16

PIEDMONT—The date for Piedmont's centennial beauty contest and program has been advanced to August 16 so as not to conflict with Keyser's centennial pageant which will be held at Stayman Field at Potomac State College August 20, 21 and 22.

Miss Sue Ellen Fike, Mineral County's centennial queen, and Miss Kathryn Carvey, "Miss Eastern West Virginia," who placed fourth in the state competition, will be honor guests at the local event in Piedmont High School auditorium. Miss Carvey will read her talent selection from Kipling.

Ten or 12 young women are expected to take part in the beauty contest. A contestant must reside in Piedmont, Beryl or along the Keyser Road, or be a graduate of Piedmont High School, and between 16 and 23 years of age.

The centennial queen and the two runnersup will ride on a float sponsored by the Tri-Towns Community Council in parades at Keyser August 24 and in Piedmont August 31.

"Little Miss Centennial," Miss Junior Centennial" and "Little Mr. Mountaineer" will also ride on a float.

Jack Husson, Keyser, will be master of ceremonies at the local pageant. Mrs. Mary Ord is arranging for talent to appear on the program.

A water carnival will be held at the Piedmont swimming pool August 19 under the direction of James Skidmore and sponsored by the Tri-Towns Community Council.

nesday night at the town parking
nesday night at he town parking lot between Second and Third Streets. Les Clifford and his Catalinas provided music. Town officials roped off the parking lot and helped clean up afterwards.

Among persons helping with the dance were Mrs. Virginia Poland, Mrs. Catherine Burgess, Mrs. Glenn Bittinger, Mrs. Carl Davisson, Mrs. Dolores Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harshbarger, Misses Rebecca and Carolyn Harshbarger and Robert Shook.

Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, American Legion, provided public address equipment. Harold Simpson, William Hood and other members of the Tri-Towns Fire Company 1 also assisted.

Planning Unit Advisers Hold First Session

WESTERNPORT — Citizens Advisory Committees of the Westernport Planning Commission held their first meeting Thursday evening, at the Union Hall, with 18 members present.

During the orientation period, Okey Michaels, chairman, reviewed the work of the commission.

The committees then met separately with their commission member, serving ex-officio, explaining the purpose and duties of each as follows; Maurice Brundige, central business district; Alvin Pence, capital improvement and public facilities; John Potter, transportation and traffic; Rev. Henry G. Laube, land use and building.

Regular meeting of the planning Commission will be Thursday, August 1, 8 p.m. at the Union Hall.

Frederick And Cumberland Open Junior Legion Series Today

Francis Scott Key Team Host In Double Bill

Third Game Sunday, If Necessary; Victor Gets State Berth

Ralph Wilson, the Mt. Savage southpaw, and Ronnie Manges, former Fort Hill athlete, have been nominated to pitch today for Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, when the Mountain District League champions clash with Francis Scott Key Post in the first two games of a best-of-three series at McCurdy Field, Frederick, to determine Western Maryland's standard bearer in the Maryland American Legion Junior Baseball Tournament at College Park, August 3-6.

The first game of today's twin bill is scheduled to get under way at 1 p.m. In event the teams split even today the third and deciding game is set for Sunday at 2 p.m.

A year ago Fort Cumberland Post eliminated Frederick and went on to win the Maryland title.

Must Drop Two Players

Robert Koch, of Baltimore, Maryland Department chairman of American Legion junior baseball, informed the News yesterday that Fort Cumberland Post will play without the services of David Carl and Ronnie Combs, of Romney. The local post was forced to drop the Romney hurlers, Koch said, because the players on the Cumberland roster came from schools whose total enrollment had exceeded the limit of 3,000 set for tournment games. Carl posted two wins and Combs won one game during the league season.

Despite the loss of two players Manager Bob Shelley takes a well balanced team into the series with Frederick. In fact, Shelley feels he has a better team than last season.

Cumberland Roster

For pitching he has available Ralph Wilson, Steve Vandenberg, Ronnie Manges, Paul Kidwell, Howard Reynolds and Roland Hamilton and Jimmie Powelson, relief specialist. Vandenberg won two games during the regular campaign and Manges and Reynolds scored one victory each.

Leroy Hanekamp and Eddie Martin will share the receiving chores. Infielders are Lonnie Lewis or Ralph Wilson, first base; Jan Withrow, second base; Howard Reynolds or Roland Hamilton, shortstop, and Bobby Robertson, third base. Outfielders are Vince DelaGrange, Manges, Larry Snyder, Vandenberg and Kidwell.

Francis Scott Key Post was undefeated in league play this season but was beaten by Leone's, of Baltimore, 13-2, and lost to Gaslight Post, American Legion, of Washington.

Winner Plays Essex

The winner of the Frederick-Cumberland series will meet Essex Post, Baltimore area champion, in the opening game of the state tournament Saturday, August 3 at 10 a.m. In the 1 p.m. game on the same day, Cheverley or Cecil Saxon Post of Silver Spring will oppose either Easton or Perryville.

Essex Post, which was eliminated by Cumberland in the state tourney last year (9-5), qualified for this year's event by beating Waverly Post, of Baltimore.

Markleysburg Tests Mount Storm Sunday

Undefeated since May 12 and victorious in 20 consecutive games, Mt. Storm, the leader of the Town & Country Softball League, invades Markleysburg Sunday for an important doubleheader with the third place team in the circuit.

Mt. Storm holds 6-1 and 6-4 decisions over the Pennsylvania team which owns a 16-6 record. Mt. Storm (21-2) holds a two-game lead over Loch Lynn (19-4) which hosts the National Guard in a Sunday twin bill.

In other doubleheaders at 2 p.m. tomorrow Friendsville is at Oakland, Swallow Falls at Accident and Petersburg at Kitzmiller.

Connellsville Races Scheduled Aug. 10-11

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. — This scenic Fayette County community is busy preparing for the mass invasion of some 200 sports car competition drivers who will take part in the Annual Connellsville Northeastern Divisional "road" race meeting next month.

The Connellsville races are slated for Saturday and Sunday, August 10 and 11 and will be staged on the city's Municipal Airport Course.

THE DEATH of Eugene T. Gunning, 61, editor of the Cumberland Sunday Times, yesterday, brought back memories of the days when he was a youngster and made his debut as a newspaper sports columnist under the byline of "Rabbit" on the old Daily News.

Gene was graduated from LaSalle Institute, then located on Fayette Street, in 1918. While attending West Virginia University, he worked on the News during the summer vacation period.

While at West Virginia, Gunning was sports publicist in the days Dr. Clarence Spears was the football coach and Francis Stadsvold handled the reins of Mountaineer basketball teams. After graduating from the university, Gene was employed on the Morgantown paper until 1932 when he joined the Cumberland Evening and Sunday Times as sports editor.

Gunning was the promoter of the West Virginia-Maryland basketball game in which Charley "King Kong" Keller played with the Terps and he also staged several games at Fort Hill between West Virginia and George Washington University. "Red" Auerbach, now coach of the famous Boston Celtics, played with GWU in those days.

Gene also was instrumental in bringing the first college boxing match to Cumberland — that between West Virginia and Western Maryland, coached by Dick Harlow.

We have always felt that Gene Gunning was one of the most devoted newspapermen we have known in our forty years as a member of the Fourth Estate. That goes back to the days when we came in and such fellows as Garland Magruder, Somerville Nicholson, "Ike" Love, Harry Beneman, "Hank" Hayward, etc., were on the old News staff.

ROBERT KOCH, of Baltimore, chairman of American Legion Junior Baseball in Maryland for the 18th consecutive year, reports that 42 teams have engaged in the sport this season.

College Park will be the site for the state tourney August 3 to 6, as well as the Middle Atlantic regional event August 14-19. Both are double elimination affairs.

Champions of Maryland, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia and the District of Columbia will compete in the regional tourney and the winner along with seven other regional teams will vie for the national title at Keene, New Hampshire. Last year the national event was staged at Bismarck, N. D.

Members of the championship team will attend all of the World Series games with all expenses paid.

THIS YEAR'S punt, pass and kick competition, to be sponsored for the third straight year by the Ford Motor Company, will be kicked off September 3 with the beginning of the six weeks' registration period which will extend through Oct. 11 at the Ford dealers.

Eligible to participate in the punting, passing and kicking contests are all boys whose ages range from eight through eleven.

Prizes on the local level include a warm-up jacket, football helmet and autographed footballs.

Top prizes for the national finalists will be an all-expense paid tour of champions — including a trip for the winners and their parents to the National Football League championship game.

The agensy handling local competition is Gratton Ford, Inc.

A FORMER Cumberland sandlot baseball player and bowler, who learned the machinist trade at the local B. & O. shops over 40 years ago, is recuperating at Fairmont, W. Va., after being shot at his home in Brownsville, Pa., a month ago.

Frank James Harsh, 63, who once resided on the Oldtown Road, and pitched for local baseball teams, was shot five times in the head and neck, three times in the hands and once in the chest by his wife Mabel, 60, who used a .22 calibre target pistol.

Mrs. Harsh, 60, declared her husband had abused her.

While her husband is now staying with their daughters at Fairmont, Mrs. Harsh has been released under bond and is living at Belle Vernon, Pa.

Only one of the three slugs have been removed from Harsh's head. One eye and one ear have been damaged.

When he resided in Cumberland, Frank was a rabid Pittsburgh Pirates' rooter and was an admirer of Chief Yellowhorse, the hard-working relief pitcher for the Buccos. Local baseball fans tagged Harsh with the nickname "Yellowhorse" and he is still known by that name in the Brownsville section, according to Mayor Marion Klingensmith.

Lloyd Marker, union official at Brownsville, says Harsh left Cumberland in 1923 to work there. He also was employed at Fairmont about ten years and then returned to Brownsville. In recent years Frank has been a foreman for the Monongahela Railway Company.

MAYOR Klingensmith, incidentally, is the same Marion Klingensmith, the middleweight, who boxed Holly Mims in the last professional show staged in Cumberland by Vic Ricker, April 25, 1949.

Klingensmith was a Brownsville policeman in those days. He had a winning streak of 19 bouts and among his victims was Henry Brimm, a tough hombre out of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mims, who was a split decision over Klingensmith here 14 years ago, is still fighting and is slated to meet champion Emile Griffith at the forthcoming centennial celebration at Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Klingensmith, a Republican, is serving his second term as mayor in a Democratic stronghold. He says he is a candidate for a post on the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission and he feels he has a good chance of landing the job.

A vacancy on the commission has been created by the resignation of Jimmy Crowley, one-time Notre Dame grid star. The other members are Paul Sullivan, Pittsburgh, and Alfred Klein, Philadelphia.

The Sullivans, Paul and his sister Miriam, were one-time tennis stars, and played in Cumberland and Mt. Lake Park tournaments.

THE PASSING of Hammersmith's Restaurant brings back memories of the days when members of the Fourth Estate gathered there regularly in the wee sma' hours of the morning.

Charles W. Donnelly, "Hank" Hayward, J. William Hunt, Jim Halloran, Joe "Pappy" Mackert, Burke P. Brown, Horace Fyle, etc., were among the Times and News employes who were regular customers at the Queen City pavement establishment.

John, Tom, Bill and Sebastian, better known as "Bess" Hammersmith, and Mrs. Landis were running the business in those days and they used to pack 'em in for their famous hamburgers, bean soup and hot roast beef sandwiches and last but not least those delicious pies.

Burke Brown floored one of the waitresses when he asked for an order of banana fritters. "Never heard of that," she said. Tom promised to get a recipe and would have banana fritters the next time. He did and the fritters were good.

"Zip" Krause was one of the cooks and he was known as the "Hamburger King." And how can we forget Jake, the French chef, from Higginsville, W. Va.

Yanks' Blanchard Is Hospitalized

NEW YORK (UPI) — Johnny Blanchard became the New York Yankees' latest casualty when he was taken to Lenox Hill Hospital Friday for a bronchial condition.

He is expected to remain in the hospital for about a week.

Blanchard, the Yankees' hottest hitter at this time, had been playing regular since July 7 when rightfielder Roger Maris was sidelined. Since taking over for Maris, Blanchard compiled a .322 batting average and in his last four games hit four home runs.

Maris returned to the lineup for Friday night's game against the Minnesota Twins.

St. Louis Tops Chicago, 4-1

Bob Gibson Posts 12th Victory, 4-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Gibson became the third National League pitcher to beat every rival at least once this season as he pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday.

Gibson turned his 19th start into his fifth straight victory and 11th in the past 12 decisions as he four-hit the Cubs. Also it was the tall right-hander's 12th triumph of the year as he joined San Francisco's Juan Marichal and Chicago's Dick Ellsworth making the cycle of beating everybody in the league.

Paul Toth, a former Cardinal took the loss as the Cubs suffered their fourth defeat in the past five games.

The teams exchanged runs in the second, and this 1-1 deadlock stood up until the sixth when Bill White opened with a single. Ken Boyer drove Toth's one strike serve over the left field bleachers for his 13th homer and scored behind White.

Second Baptist Upsets Emmanuel

Second Baptist halted league-leading Emmanuel Methodist in a 3-2 eight inning thriller at Potomac Park yesterday for Emmanuel's third loss in 20 games this season. Cresaptown Methodist romped over Zion Methodist, 11-1, at Rolling Mill.

Ronnie Peters, who went the route for Second Baptist and struck out seven, came through with a single in the top of the eighth to score the tie-breaking run. Gary Crabtree worked for Emmanuel and fanned 13. Each team collected four hits.

Cresaptown's Eddie Cecil tossed a three-hitter and was supported by a 13-hit attack that included a home run by Wes Broadwater.

The Giants tied the Cardinals for second place in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by beating the Cubs yesterday at Leiper Street Field by the score of 8-2.

Jimmie Hamilton turned back the Cubs with four hits, including a triple by Everly, and struck out seven.

The Giants collected eight hits, six of which were shared by Danny Young, Ronnie Kunis and Steve Clark while Jack Willits rapped a two-bagger. Kunis in left field and Campbell, Cubs' right fielder, turned in nice running catches.

Dick Alderson fired a three-hitter to give the Orioles a 6-2 decision over the Yankees at Constitution Park.

Larry Winslow smacked a two-run double during the Orioles' four-run rally in the fifth inning. Gary Ullery had a three-bagger for the victors and Dave Whitman smacked a double for the Yankees.

The Pirates racked up an even dozen blows to down the Phillies at East Side by the score of 7-3.

John Graham collected a pair of triples while Scott Deneen and Jack Grahame each garnered three hits in four official trips.

Allen Fadley fanned nine Phillies and yielded five hits, including a two-bagger by Billy Lindner.

Mexico Leads 2-0

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox gave Mexico a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five Davis Cup playoff series today by winning their singles matches.

Osuna defeated Francois Godbout of Montreal, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2, while Palafox downed Toronto's Harry Faquier, 9-7, 6-4, 6-1.

Hots Win All-Star Tilt, 4-3

Brannon Is Victor, Norris Belts Homer

The Hots pushed over a run in the last of the 9th inning to edge the Stoves 4 to 3 in the 13th annual All-Star Game of the Hot Stove Baseball League last night at Penn Avenue Field.

With the score knotted at 3-3, Jerry Growden drew a walk to open the ninth. After Gene Wright beat out a bunt both runners advanced on a passed ball. Joe Wilson's grounder to short scored Growden with the deciding run.

The win went to Jim Brannon, of the Kiwanis Club, fifth pitcher sent to the mound by the Hots. Teddy Malloy, of the Salvation Army, was tagged with the loss.

Blair Norris, of the Lions Club, was the only player to obtain two hits. He homered in the third and also had a single to his credit. Tommy Clay blasted a triple for the victors.

Steve Walters, of the Jaycess, turned in the fielding gem for the Stoves by converting a one-hand stab of a line drive into a double play. He also rapped a two-bagger for the losers' only extra base blow.

The four pitchers used by the Stoves struck out ten and issued four passes. Ollie Newcomer of the Cumberland Optimists accounted for five of the victims. Five Hots hurlers whiffed 11 and five were credited by Tommy Clay, of B'nai B'rith. The quintet gave up four free tickets.

The Hots team was composed of players from the Kiwanis Club, B.P.O. Elks, Outdoor Club, B'nai B'rith and Lions Club. The opposition comprised tossers of the Salvation Army, Bedford Road Optimists, Cumberland Optimitst, Jaycees and Rotary Club.

Pennel Equals Own Pole Vault Mark Amid Confusion, Darkness

U.S. Takes Wide Lead Over Poles In Warsaw Meet

By DON LARRIMORE
United Press International

WARSAW (UPI) — America's John Pennel equalled his own world pole vault record of 16 feet, 8¾ inches amid confusion thicker than the darkness in the stadium Friday to lead the United States men's team to a 68-36 lead over Poland on the first day of their dual track meet.

Just as the American men improved over their disappointing showing in Moscow last week by winning nine of 10 events, the U.S. girl's team won two of five events and trailed the Polish women by only 27-23.

Pennel, Northeast Louisiana State star competing despite a strained back muscle suffered in a workout here this week, wound up the day's competition at 10th Anniversary Stadium by soaring over the pole vault bar as a crowd of 40,000 gave him an ovation. What followed was one of the most confused scenes in recent track history.

Measured Six Times

The bar was measured and then re-measured at least six times. Pennel's height first was announced as 16 feet, 9 3-16 inches, then as 16 feet, 10½ inches, and at last as 5.10 meters (16 feet, 8¾ inches). That equalled the record he set in London on July 13.

By the time all this measuring was finished, darkness in the huge arena was almost complete. Automobiles were brought onto the field and their headlights were turned on, pointing at the pole vault bar and pit. By their uncertain light, Pennel made one try at history's first 17-foot vault (actually 5.19 meters—17 feet, ¾ inches) and failed.

Jones Wins Hurdles

In addition to Pennel, other U.S. winners in men's events were Hayes Jones of Detroit in the 110-meter hurdles, Ulis Williams of Arizona State U. in the 400-meter run, Bob Hayes of Florida A.&M. in the 100-meter dash, Darrell Horn of the U.S. Air Force in the broad jump, Dyrol Burleson of Eugene, Ore., in the 1,500 meter run, Bob Hemphrey of Los Angeles in the discus, Pete McArdle of New York in the 10,000 meter run, and the U.S. 400-meter relay team of John Gilbert, John Moon, Paul Drayton, and Hayes.

U.S. women's winners were Edith McGuire of Atlanta, Ga., in the 100-meter dash and Eleanor Montgomery of Cleveland in the high jump. These were the first victories scored in Europe by the U.S. girls, who lost all 10 events in Moscow.

Frederick And Cumberland Open Junior Legion Series Today

Third Game Sunday, If Necessary; Victor Gets State Berth

Ralph Wilson, the Mt. Savage southpaw, and Ronnie Manges, former Fort Hill athlete, have been nominated to pitch today for Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, when the Mountain District League champions clash with Francis Scott Key Post in the first two games of a best-of-three series at McCurdy Field, Frederick, to determine Western Maryland's standard bearer in the Maryland American Legion Junior Baseball Tournament at College Park, August 3-6.

The first game of today's twin bill is scheduled to get under way at 1 p.m. In event the teams split even today the third and deciding game is set for Sunday at 2 p.m.

A year ago Fort Cumberland Post eliminated Frederick and went on to win the Maryland title.

Must Drop Two Players

Robert Koch, of Baltimore, Maryland Department chairman of American Legion junior baseball, informed the News yesterday that Fort Cumberland Post will play without the services of David Carl and Ronnie Combs, of Romney. The local post was forced to drop the Romney hurlers, Koch said, because the players on the Cumberland roster came from schools whose total enrollment had exceeded the limit of 3,000 set for tournment games. Carl posted two wins and Combs won one game during the league season.

Despite the loss of two players Manager Bob Shelley takes a well balanced team into the series with Frederick. In fact, Shelley feels he has a better team than last season.

Cumberland Roster

For pitching he has available Ralph Wilson, Steve Vandenberg, Ronnie Manges, Paul Kidwell, Howard Reynolds and Roland Hamilton and Jimmie Powelson, relief specialist. Vandenberg won two games during the regular campaign and Manges and Reynolds scored one victory each.

Leroy Hanekamp and Eddie Martin will share the receiving chores. Infielders are Lonnie Lewis or Ralph Wilson, first base; Jan Withrow, second base; Howard Reynolds or Roland Hamilton, shortstop, and Bobby Robertson, third base. Outfielders are Vince DelaGrange, Manges, Larry Snyder, Vandenberg and Kidwell.

Francis Scott Key Post was undefeated in league play this season but was beaten by Leone's, of Baltimore, 13-2, and lost to Gaslight Post, American Legion, of Washington.

Winner Plays Essex

The winner of the Frederick-Cumberland series will meet Essex Post, Baltimore area champion, in the opening game of the state tournament Saturday, August 3 at 10 a.m. In the 1 p.m. game on the same day, Cheverley or Cecil Saxon Post of Silver Spring will oppose either Easton or Perryville.

Essex Post, which was eliminated by Cumberland in the state tourney last year (9-5), qualified for this year's event by beating Waverly Post, of Baltimore.

Markleysburg Tests Mount Storm Sunday

Undefeated since May 12 and victorious in 20 consecutive games, Mt. Storm, the leader of the Town & Country Softball League, invades Markleysburg Sunday for an important doubleheader with the third place team in the circuit.

Mt. Storm holds 6-1 and 6-4 decisions over the Pennsylvania team which owns a 16-6 record. Mt. Storm (21-2) holds a two-game lead over Loch Lynn (19-4) which hosts the National Guard in a Sunday twin bill.

In other doubleheaders at 2 p.m. tomorrow Friendsville is at Oakland, Swallow Falls at Accident and Petersburg at Kitzmiller.

Connellsville Races Scheduled Aug. 10-11

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. — This scenic Fayette County community is busy preparing for the mass invasion of some 200 sports car competition drivers who will take part in the Annual Connellsville Northeastern Divisional "road" race meeting next month.

The Connellsville races are slated for Saturday and Sunday, August 10 and 11 and will be staged on the city's Municipal Airport Course.

Devoted Scribe Dies — Legion Has 42 Teams

Punt, Pass And Kick — Harsh Is Recovering

By C. V. BURNS

THE DEATH of Eugene T. Gunning, 61, editor of the Cumberland Sunday Times, yesterday, brought back memories of the days when he was a youngster and made his debut as a newspaper sports columnist under the byline of "Rabbit" on the old Daily News.

Gene was graduated from La-Salle Institute, then located on Fayette Street, in 1918. While attending West Virginia University, he worked on the News during the summer vacation period.

While at West Virginia, Gunning was sports publicist in the days Dr. Clarence Spears was the football coach and Francis Stadsvold handled the reins of Mountaineer basketball teams. After graduating from the university, Gene was employed on the Morgantown paper until 1932 when he joined the Cumberland Evening and Sunday Times as sports editor.

Gunning was the promoter of the West Virginia-Maryland basketball game in which Charley "King Kong" Keller played with the Terps and he also staged several games at Fort Hill between West Virginia and George Washington University. "Red" Auerbach, now coach of the famous Boston Celtics, played with GWU in those days.

Gene also was instrumental in bringing the first college boxing match to Cumberland — that between West Virginia and Western Maryland, coached by Dick Harlow.

We have always felt that Gene Gunning was one of the most devoted newspapermen we have known in our forty years as a member of the Fourth Estate. That goes back to the days when we came in and such fellows as Garland Magruder, Somerville Nicholson, "Ike" Love, Harry Beneman, "Hank" Hayward, etc., were on the old News staff.

ROBERT KOCH, of Baltimore, chairman of American Legion Junior Baseball in Maryland for the 18th consecutive year, reports that 42 teams have engaged in the sport this season.

College Park will be the site for the state tourney August 3 to 6, as well as the Middle Atlantic regional event August 14-19. Both are double elimination affairs.

Champions of Maryland, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia and the District of Columbia will compete in the regional tourney and the winner along with seven other regional teams will vie for the national title at Keene, New Hampshire. Last year the national event was staged at Bismarck, N. D.

Members of the championship team will attend all of the World Series games with all expenses paid.

THIS YEAR'S punt, pass and kick competition, to be sponsored for the third straight year by the Ford Motor Company, will be kicked off September 3 with the beginning of the six weeks' registration period which will extend through Oct. 11 at the Ford dealers.

Eligible to participate in the punting, passing and kicking contests are all boys whose ages range from eight through eleven.

Prizes on the local level include a warm-up jacket, football helmet and autographed footballs.

Top prizes for the national finalists will be an all-expense paid tour of champions — including a trip for the winners and their parents to the National Football League championship game.

The agensy handling local competition is Gratton Ford, Inc.

A FORMER Cumberland sandlot baseball player and bowler, who learned the machinist trade at the local B. & O. shops over 40 years ago, is recuperating at Fairmont, W. Va., after being shot at his home in Brownsville, Pa., a month ago.

Frank James Harsh, 63, who once resided on the Oldtown Road, and pitched for local baseball teams, was shot five times in the head and neck, three times in the hands and once in the chest by his wife Mabel, 60, who used a .22 calibre target pistol.

Mrs. Harsh, 60, declared her husband had abused her.

While her husband is now staying with their daughters at Fairmont, Mrs. Harsh has been released under bond and is living at Belle Vernon, Pa.

Only one of the three slugs have been removed from Harsh's head. One eye and one ear have been damaged.

When he resided in Cumberland, Frank was a rabid Pittsburgh Pirates' rooter and was an admirer of Chief Yellowhorse, the hard-working relief pitcher for the Buccos. Local baseball fans tagged Harsh with the nickname "Yellowhorse" and he is still known by that name in the Brownsville section, according to Mayor Marion Klingensmith.

Lloyd Marker, union official at Brownsville, says Harsh left Cumberland in 1923 to work there. He also was employed at Fairmont about ten years and then returned to Brownsville. In recent years Frank has been a foreman for the Monongahela Railway Company.

MAYOR Klingensmith, incidentally, is the same Marion Klingensmith, the middleweight, who boxed Holly Mims in the last professional show staged in Cumberland by Vic Ricker, April 25, 1949.

Klingensmith was a Brownsville policeman in those days. He had a winning streak of 19 bouts and among his victims was Henry Brimm, a tough hombre out of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mims, who was a split decision over Klingensmith here 14 years ago, is still fighting and is slated to meet champion Emile Griffith at the forthcoming centennial celebration at Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Klingensmith, a Republican, is serving his second term as mayor in a Democratic stronghold. He says he is a candidate for a post on the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission and he feels he has a good chance of landing the job.

A vacancy on the commission has been created by the resignation of Jimmy Crowley, one-time Notre Dame grid star. The other members are Paul Sullivan, Pittsburgh, and Alfred Klein, Philadelphia.

The Sullivans, Paul and his sister Miriam, were one-time tennis stars, and played in Cumberland and Mt. Lake Park tournaments.

THE PASSING of Hammersmith's Restaurant brings back memories of the days when members of the Fourth Estate gathered there regularly in the wee sma' hours of the morning.

Charles W. Donnelly, "Hank" Hayward, J. William Hunt, Jim Halloran, Joe "Pappy" Mackert, Burke P. Brown, Horace Fyle, etc., were among the Times and News employes who were regular customers at the Queen City pavement establishment.

John, Tom, Bill and Sebastian, better known as "Bess" Hammersmith, and Mrs. Landis were running the business in those days and they used to pack 'em in for their famous hamburgers, bean soup and hot roast beef sandwiches and last but not least those delicious pies.

Burke Brown floored one of the waitresses when he asked for an order of banana fritters. "Never heard of that," she said. Tom promised to get a recipe and would have banana fritters the next time. He did and the fritters were good.

"Zip" Krause was one of the cooks and he was known as the "Hamburger King." And how can we forget Jake, the French chef, from Higginsville, W. Va.

Yanks' Blanchard Is Hospitalized

NEW YORK (UPI) — Johnny Blanchard became the New York Yankees' latest casualty when he was taken to Lenox Hill Hospital Friday for a bronchial condition.

He is expected to remain in the hospital for about a week.

Blanchard, the Yankees' hottest hitter at this time, had been playing regular since July 7 when rightfielder Roger Maris was sidelined. Since taking over for Maris, Blanchard compiled a .322 batting average and in his last four games hit four home runs.

Maris returned to the lineup for Friday night's game against the Minnesota Twins.

St. Louis Tops Chicago, 4-1

Bob Gibson Posts 12th Victory, 4-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Gibson became the third National League pitcher to beat every rival at least once this season as he pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday.

Gibson turned his 19th start into his fifth straight victory and 11th in the past 12 decisions as he four-hit the Cubs. Also it was the tall right-hander's 12th triumph of the year as he joined San Francisco's Juan Marichal and Chicago's Dick Ellsworth making the cycle of beating everybody in the league.

Paul Toth, a former Cardinal took the loss as the Cubs suffered their fourth defeat in the past five games.

The teams exchanged runs in the second, and this 1-1 deadlock stood up until the sixth when Bill White opened with a single. Ken Boyer drove Toth's one strike serve over the left field bleachers for his 13th homer and scored behind White.

Second Baptist Upsets Emmanuel

Second Baptist halted league-leading Emmanuel Methodist in a 3-2 eight inning thriller at Potomac Park yesterday for Emmanuel's third loss in 20 games this season. Cresaptown Methodist romped over Zion Methodist, 11-1, at Rolling Mill.

Ronnie Peters, who went the route for Second Baptist and struck out seven, came through with a single in the top of the eighth to score the tie-breaking run. Gary Crabtree worked for Emmanuel and fanned 13. Each team collected four hits.

Cresaptown's Eddie Cecil tossed a three-hitter and was supported by a 13-hit attack that included a home run by Wes Broadwater.

The Giants tied the Cardinals for second place in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by beating the Cubs yesterday at Leiper Street Field by the score of 8-2.

Jimmie Hamilton turned back the Cubs with four hits, including a triple by Everly, and struck out seven.

The Giants collected eight hits, six of which were shared by Danny Young, Ronnie Kunis and Steve Clark while Jack Willits rapped a two-bagger. Kunis in left field and Campbell, Cubs' right fielder, turned in nice running catches.

Dick Alderson fired a three-hitter to give the Orioles a 6-2 decision over the Yankees at Constitution Park.

Larry Winslow smacked a two-run double during the Orioles' four-run rally in the fifth inning. Gary Ullery had a three-bagger for the victors and Dave Whitman smacked a double for the Yankees.

The Pirates racked up an even dozen blows to down the Phillies at East Side by the score of 7-3.

John Graham collected a pair of triples while Scott Deneen and Jack Grahame each garnered three hits in four official trips.

Allen Fadley fanned nine Phillies and yielded five hits, including a two-bagger by Billy Lindner.

Mexico Leads 2-0

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox gave Mexico a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five Davis Cup playoff series today by winning their singles matches.

Osuna defeated Francois Godbout of Montreal, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2, while Palafox downed Toronto's Harry Faquier, 9-7, 6-4, 6-1.

Hots Win All-Star Tilt, 4-3

Brannon Is Victor, Norris Belts Homer

The Hots pushed over a run in the last of the 9th inning to edge the Stoves 4 to 3 in the 13th annual All-Star Game of the Hot Stove Baseball League last night at Penn Avenue Field.

With the score knotted at 3-3, Jerry Growden drew a walk to open the ninth. After Gene Wright beat out a bunt both runners advanced on a passed ball. Joe Wilson's grounder to short scored Growden with the deciding run.

The win went to Jim Brannon, of the Kiwanis Club, fifth pitcher sent to the mound by the Hots. Teddy Malloy, of the Salvation Army, was tagged with the loss.

Blair Norris, of the Lions Club, was the only player to obtain two hits. He homered in the third and also had a single to his credit. Tommy Clay blasted a triple for the victors.

Steve Walters, of the Jaycess, turned in the fielding gem for the Stoves by converting a one-hand stab of a line drive into a double play. He also rapped a two-bagger for the losers' only extra base blow.

The four pitchers used by the Stoves struck out ten and issued four passes. Ollie Newcomer of the Cumberland Optimists accounted for five of the victims. Five Hots hurlers whiffed 11 and five were credited by Tommy Clay, of B'nai B'rith. The quintet gave up four free tickets.

The Hots team was composed of players from the Kiwanis Club, B.P.O. Elks, Outdoor Club, B'nai B'rith and Lions Club. The opposition comprised tossers of the Salvation Army, Bedford Road Optimists, Cumberland Optimitst, Jaycees and Rotary Club.

Pennel Equals Own Pole Vault Mark Amid Confusion, Darkness

U.S. Takes Wide Lead Over Poles In Warsaw Meet

By DON LARRIMORE
United Press International

WARSAW (UPI) — America's John Pennel equalled his own world pole vault record of 16 feet, 8¾ inches amid confusion thicker than the darkness in the stadium Friday to lead the United States men's team to a 68-36 lead over Poland on the first day of their dual track meet.

Just as the American men improved over their disappointing showing in Moscow last week by winning nine of 10 events, the U.S. girl's team won two of five events and trailed the Polish women by only 27-23.

Pennel, Northeast Louisiana State star competing despite a strained back muscle suffered in a workout here this week, wound up the day's competition at 10th Anniversary Stadium by soaring over the pole vault bar as a crowd of 40,000 gave him an ovation. What followed was one of the most confused scenes in recent track history.

Measured Six Times

The bar was measured and then re-measured at least six times. Pennel's height first was announced as 16 feet, 9 3-16 inches, then as 16 feet, 10½ inches, and at last as 5.10 meters (16 feet, 8¾ inches). That equalled the record he set in London on July 13.

By the time all this measuring was finished, darkness in the huge arena was almost complete. Automobiles were brought onto the field and their headlights were turned on, pointing at the pole vault bar and pit. By their uncertain light, Pennel made one try at history's first 17-foot vault (actually 5.19 meters—17 feet, ¾ inches) and failed.

Jones Wins Hurdles

In addition to Pennel, other U.S. winners in men's events were Hayes Jones of Detroit in the 110-meter hurdles, Ulis Williams of Arizona State U. in the 400-meter run, Bob Hayes of Florida A.&M. in the 100-meter dash, Darrell Horn of the U.S. Air Force in the broad jump, Dyrol Burleson of Eugene, Ore., in the 1,500 meter run, Bob Hemphrey of Los Angeles in the discus, Pete McArdle of New York in the 10,000 meter run, and the U.S. 400-meter relay team of John Gilbert, John Moon, Paul Drayton, and Hayes.

U.S. women's winners were Edith McGuire of Atlanta, Ga., in the 100-meter dash and Eleanor Montgomery of Cleveland in the high jump. These were the first victories scored in Europe by the U.S. girls, who lost all 10 events in Moscow.

Orioles Grab Second Place With 6-0 Triumph Over White Sox

Pappas Fires Three-Hitter, Gets 9th Win

Powell, Orsino Supply Birds' Batting Punch

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Milt Pappas stopped the Chicago White Sox 6-0 on three hits and pitched the Baltimore Orioles into second place in the American League Friday night.

Boog Powell and John Orsino supplied the Oriole batting punch for the second straight game.

Orsino Clouts 10th

Orsino clouted his 10th homer with two runners aboard in the fifth inning, giving him 16 runs batted in for his last 20 games and nine since he took over as Baltimore's cleanup hitter last Saturday. The runs were unearned scoring after third baseman Pete Ward muffed a grounder.

Baltimore, which won its fourth in a row, scored the final run in the sixth off Taylor Phillips on Aparicio's run-producing single.

Pappas allowed a single by Charlie Maxwell in the second inning, and two-out singles in the fifth by Ron Hansen and J. C. Martin. After that, two walks were the only base runners he permitted.

Hurls Third Shutout

Pappas pitched his third shutout of the season running his lifetime record against the White Sox to 11-3.

He is 9-5 for the year.

Yanks Edge Twins, 6-5

Bouton Is Belted, Still Wins 13th

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim (Bulldog) Bouton was clipped for two homers, two triples and two doubles, but also struck out 10 Minnesota batters Friday night to receive credit for a 6-5 victory by the league-leading New York Yankees.

The defeat was doubly costly for the Twins in that third baseman Rich Rollins suffered a concussion of the left cheekbone when he was hit by a savage grounder off Hector Lopez' bat during the fourth inning. Rollins lost consciousness momentarily, then regained it and was taken to Lenox Hill Hospital for X-rays.

Bouton, credited with his 13th victory against five defeats, hung on for 8 1-3 innings but finally was chased when Johnny Goryl slammed a two-run homer in the ninth. Southpaw Steve Hamilton took over and retired the next two batters in order.

Lopez provided Bouton with an early lead when he belted his 12th homer with one on off loser Lee Stange in the second inning, and the Twins were never able to catch up.

Piersall Expected To Sign With Angels

BOSTON (UPI) — Veteran outfielder Jimmy Piersall arrived here Friday and was expected to sign Saturday with the Los Angeles Angels.

Piersall was quoted by Boston Traverler sports writer Bill Liston as saying he "had a job" but indicated the club which had picked him up would not be identified officially until Saturday.

Frostburg Seeks Two-Game Sweep To Grab Lead In Pen-Mar League

Hosts Hyndman Today, Mt. Savage In Sunday Game

Frostburg's Merchants are scheduled to play two important games today and tomorrow and if they can make a sweep they'll take sole possession of first place in the Pen-Mar Baseball League Sunday evening.

The Mountain City team (15-7) trails Mt. Savage (16-6) by one game and each team has eight more games on its schedule before the pennant race ends on Sunday, August 25.

Game At Frostburg Today

In the only game scheduled today, Frostburg entertains Hyndman at 3:30 p.m. Lonaconing was originally carded to play at Mt. Savage today but the game was postponed until Saturday, August 3 because several Mt. Savage players are participating in the Cumberland - Frederick Legion series at Frederick this weekend.

Frostburg and Hyndman will be tangling for the fifth time this season and Manager Gary Keedy's tossers will be angling for their fifth win of the series. Frostburg has won by 8-4, 8-2, 3-2 and 8-1 scores. One game ended in a 2-2 tie.

Tomorrow Frostburg plays host to Mt. Savage in the fifth game of the series in which the Mountain City team holds a 3-1 edge in victories. Frostburg has won by scores of 9-5, 6-3 and 7-5 while Mt. Savage copped a 13-8 decision.

Hermans Visit Hyndman

In other Sunday action, the Cumberland Hermans visit Hyndman and Barrelville invades Lonaconing.

Cumberland (11-12) needs a victory to crash the .500 column. Lonaconing is the occupant of third place with a 12-10 record. The Hermans have whipped 'Coney 1-0 and 13-7 and lost by scores of 6-2 and 4-2.

Lonaconing has copped four straight from Barrelville, 8-1, 3-1, 13-12 and 11-7.

Hyndman and Barrelville, leading contenders in recent years, are now battling to keep from finishing in the league basement. Hyndman is 6-15 and Barrelville 6-16.

Sunday games are scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

Barrelville rolled to its ninth straight County Softball League win yesterday, dumping visiting Hyndman by the score of 8-1. Stringtown scored a 10-6 win over Kennell's Mill on its home diamond, and Corriganville battered National Jet, 18-1, at Narrows Park.

Although outhit 6-5, the pacesetting Old Germans never trailed after taking a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the third. They scored six times in the fourth on three bases-loaded walks and Bob Cessna's three-run double.

Cessna also had a single, and Joe Glass belted a three-bagger for Barrelvlle. Irvin Hosselrode collected a pair of singles, and Bowser doubled for Hyndman.

Stringtown tallied in every inning but the third and raked a pair of Kennell's Mill pitchers for 15 hits. Sonny Logsdon had three safeties including a double, winning pitcher Paul Stair tagged three singles and Steve Faulkner came through with a triple and double.

Donald May went three-for-three and Clyde Kennell socked a two-bagger and single for Kennell's Mill.

Corriganville had no trouble dealing National Jet its ninth straight loss and 23rd in 24 games. Gary Butts and Terry Burkett contributed homers to the Corg's 20-hit assault and Dick Niner enjoyed a perfect day at the plate in four trips.

Mickey Keller obtained two of the three hits surrendered by Corriganville's Lee Raygor.

Stringtown and Corriganville remained tied for second place, both sporting 15-9 records.

Westernport extended its winning streak to eight games in the Bi-State Pony Baseball League by defeating the Frostburg Mounties by the score of 5-0 yesterday at Frostburg in a five-inning affair halted by rain.

The win upped Westernport's lead to 3½ games.

John Prado limited the Mounties to five hits and struck out five in recording his sixth victory against a single loss. Bill Cutter went the route for Frostburg, gave up six hits and whiffed six.

Leo Mazzone of Westernport and Bernie Connors of the Mounties paced the hitters with a double and single each.

Mt. Savage and Lonaconing battled to an 8-8 deadlock, darkness halted hostilities after the completion of seven innings.

In other games, Cresaptown broke a six-game losing streak by beating the Frostburg Little Moes, 4-1, and the last place LaVale Pirates downed the LaVale Cubs, 5-1.

Tom Sindy fired a three-hitter for Cresaptown while Ronnie Weber rapped a two-run single and Pete Shoup drove in the other two runs with a double.

The Pirates collected only four hits but took advantage of eight bases on balls issued by Jim Evans, who fanned seven.

Corbyn "Corky" Hickle went the distance for the Buccaneers, yield five hits, struck out eight and gave up five passes.

Bill Poorbaugh collected a homer and single and Jeff Williams had a pair of the base knocks for the Cubs.

Retzer's Homer Gives Nats 3-1 Win Over Tigers

DETROIT (UPI) — Catcher Ken Retzer slammed a two-run homer in the seventh inning Friday night off Frank Lary to power the Washington Senators to a 3-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Retzer, who came to the plate in the seventh with a .189 average and just one homer this season, broke up a 1-1 tie with his two-run shot into the second-deck in rightfield.

The victory went to Washington lefthander Don Rudolph who needed help from Ron Kline in the ninth.

Indians Snap KC Streak, 3-2

Kralick Wins 10th After Rocky Start

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Southpaw Jack Kralick survived a rocky start and hurled a six-hitter when the Cleveland Indians rallied to defeat the Kansas City Athletics, 3-2, Friday night on a wild pitch by Moe Drabowsky.

Kralick, now 10-9, gave up two runs in the first three innings, but then settled down and allowed only two hits the rest of the way. He struck out five and retired 15 men in a row in one stretch as the Indians snapped the Athletics five-game winning streak.

The Indians scored the winning run in the seventh when Al Luplow walked, raced to third on Woodie Held's single and scored as Drabowsky unleashed a wild pitch — one of three during the seven innings he pitched.

Trailing, 2-0, the Indians got one run back when Max Alvis led off the fourth with a home run. They tied the score at 2-2 an inning later when Tito Francona singled home Held, who had singled and moved to third on a wild pitch and Kralick's infield out.

Terrell, Folley Fight In Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—Zora Folley and Ernie Terrell, a couple of full-sized heavyweight contenders whose managers say they want their fighters to meet champion Sonny Liston, clash in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Whether the fighters want any part of Liston is something else again. If Terrell keeps on winning he's liable to find himself a possible challenger in a year or so whether or not he's really eager to get in there with the champion.

Terrell, a 6-foot-4, 200 pounder from Chicago, put himself into the picture when he whipped clouting Cleveland Williams for his seventh straight victory last April 13.

As a result the 24-year-old Terrell earned himself a No. 8 rating from the WBA and a No. 9 berth from Ring Magazine. His record is 30-4, including 16 knockouts.

Folley's record now is 63-6-3, including 35 knockouts.

The bout will be telecast by ABC-TV starting at 9 p.m., EST.

Hawkins Leads Western Open By Four Shots

Texan Has 135 Card, Palmer Trails At 140

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Long-hexed Fred Hawkins continued his blazing mastery of tricky Beverly Country Club course Friday with a 3-under-par 68 giving the lean Texan from El Paso a sizzling 36-hole total of 135 at the halfway mark of the 60th Western Open Golf Tournament. Hawkins opened Thursday with a pacesetting 67.

That put Hawkins—whose only official PGA triumph in 16 years was the 1956 Oklahoma City Open—four strokes ahead of a pair of rallying stars, U.S. Open champion Julius Boros and inimitable Sam Snead, who fired 67 and 68, and consistent Bob McCallister, whose 69-70 also gave him 139.

Palmer Posts 140

A third star perking in the second round of the 72-hole chase for the $10,000 top swag in the $50,000 meet was leading money winner Arnold Palmer, rebounding to a 67 after a shaky opening 73.

On the other hand, National PGA and Masters champ, Jack Nicklaus, slumped to 74 after a 69 and fell to a one-over-par 143.

Palmer played in the same threesome with Snead and Art Wall, who shot even par 71, and the intermingling of Arnie's Army and Snead's Faithful produced a gallery including most of the announced attendance of 13,100.

Boros, 43, whose $65,546 this season tops previous campaign earnings in his 31-year PGA career, got his 67 after an opening 72 mainly with a hot streak of four successive birdies from the 10th through the 13th.

Snead Shoots 67

Snead, 51, after an opening 71, nailed his 67 by staying out of trouble as he hit 16 greens and had no bogeys.

It generally was a fine day for oldsters on the humid par 36-35—71 Beverly course, paced by the 39-year-old Hawkins' second torrid round.

The one-two clubs in the Rec Softball League came through with victories yesterday, as the Old Germans blanked the Pepsi-Colas 4-0 at Post Field, and the Old Exports defeated sports Shoppe 6-3 at Stitcher Field.

Max Cline twirled a two-hitter in registering his fifth shutout of the season for the Old Germans, who hiked their league-leading record to 11-4. Bob Young had a pair of singles for the only hits off Cline.

Phil Barbe homered and singled, and Rich Cross singled twice to pace the Old Gees. Allen Knotts sparkled in leftfield with several over-the-shoulder catches.

The Old Exports backed up Eddie Root's five-hit effort with 15 safeties. Joe Biggs clouted a triple and three singles, Jamie Taylor hit a two-bagger and pair of singles, Walter Younger collected two hits and Hank Page doubled for the Exports. Losing pitcher Moe Barrett obtained two of the losers' base knocks.

Bedford And Garlitz Net Teams To Clash

A women's tennis team from Bedford, Pa., will make its first appearance here today when it engages the Garlitz Recreation Courts women at 10:30 a.m. on the Williams Road courts.

Four singles and two doubles matches will be played.

Representing Cumberland will be Miss Sandra Roeder, Mrs. Robert Roberts, Miss Betty Flake, Mrs. James Klosterman and Mrs. Alta Cannon. Miss Roeder and Mrs. Roberts will play one doubles match while Miss Flake and Mrs. Cannon will team in the other, according to Joseph R. Garlitz, manager.

Ducky Medwick's Hit Gives NL 1-0 Win In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The National League defeated the American League 1-0 Friday night in a two-inning re-enactment of the 1938 All Star Game.

A two-out single by Joe Medwick drove in Don Gutteridge in the first inning with the only run of the exhibition, played prior to the regularly scheduled Chicago White sox - Baltimore Orioles game.

Gutteridge and Tony Cuccinello, now coaches for the White Sox, opened the inning with hits off American League starter Lefty Gomez. After Ival Goodman lined into a double play, Medwick delivered his winning hit.

Babe Phelps and Billy Jurges also had hits for the National League team—which won the 1938 game 4-1.

Joe DiMaggio, who received the biggest cheers from the crowd, collected one of the two hits off winning pitcher Johnny Vander Meer. The other was made by Doc Cramer.

The game was part of the fourth annual Maryland Shrine of Immortals night.

Red Sox Rally To Nip Angels

Stuart Homers In 5-4 Victory

BOSTON (UPI) — A mighty Dick Stuart homer and clutch hits by Ed Bressoud and Bob Tillman Friday night gave the Boston Red Sox a come back 5-4 win over the Los Angeles Angels.

Stuart hit his 21st homer of the year with one man on in the sixth inning to tie the score. The blast left Fenway Park, easily clearing the 60 foot fence and screen in left center field.

A Bressoud double off rookie Los Angeles starter Fred Newman and a Bob Tillman single off Angel reliefer Dean Chance then produced the winning run and broke a four game losing streak.

Newman, a former Boston farm hand, making his second major league start, got tagged with his second loss. He also gave up a first inning solo home run to Gary Geiger, his 11th of the year.

Though he didn't get the victory, Bob Turley started for the Red Sox and was charged with all four Los Angeles runs after being lifted with none out in the fifth.

Turley was signed by the Red Sox earlier this week after being released by Los Angeles. He gave up eight hits and struck out eight during his first Red Sox appearance.

Boston reliefer Jack Lamabe, who gave up a two-run single to Angel Ken Hunt after taking over for Turley in the sixth, collected his fifth victory against one loss.

Toy Shop Hands VFW 2nd Loss

Toy Shop, the only Rec High School League team to have the number of VFW, scored a 7-4 decision over the Vets yesterday at Municipal Field in a game limited to five and one-half innings.

Bernstein's and 40&8 Club were tied 6-6 after seven complete innings when darkness halted play in their game at Fort Hill Field.

The league-leading Vets have now lost twice in 11 starts, both defeats coming at the hands of manager George Flynn's Toy Shop club.

Dave Price, who beat the VFW 8-6 the first time, turned the trick again yesterday. The righthander failed to walk a batter and struck out eight, pitching scoreless ball over the last four frames.

Jim Arrowood's two-run homer highlighted a four-run outburst by Toy Shop in the first inning. Arrowood also singled for the winners, who moved into sole possession of second place with a 7-5 mark.

Injured Schofield Sent Home By Bucs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates sent shortstop Dick Schofield home Friday because of an injured knee which has sidelined him since Wednesday night.

Schofield sustained the injury when catcher John Roseboro of the Los Angeles Dodgers fell on him while making a play at the plate.

"We don't know how long Schofield will be out," manager Danny Murtaugh said. "He may have some bruised ligaments."

The veteran Johnny Logan has taken over shortstop for the Pirates.

Orioles Grab Second Place With 6-0 Triumph Over White Sox

Pappas Fires Three-Hitter, Gets 9th Win

Powell, Orsino Supply Birds' Batting Punch

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Milt Pappas stopped the Chicago White Sox 6-0 on three hits and pitched the Baltimore Orioles into second place in the American League Friday night.

Boog Powell and John Orsino supplied the Oriole batting punch for the second straight game.

Orsino Clouts 10th

Orsino clouted his 10th homer with two runners aboard in the fifth inning, giving him 16 runs batted in for his last 20 games and nine since he took over as Baltimore's cleanup hitter last Saturday. The runs were unearned scoring after third baseman Pete Ward muffed a grounder.

Baltimore, which won its fourth in a row, scored the final run in the sixth off Taylor Phillips on Aparicio's run-producing single.

Pappas allowed a single by Charlie Maxwell in the second inning, and two-out singles in the fifth by Ron Hansen and J. C. Martin. After that, two walks were the only base runners he permitted.

Hurls Third Shutout

Pappas pitched his third shutout of the season running his lifetime record against the White Sox to 11-3.

He is 9-5 for the year.

Yanks Edge Twins, 6-5

Bouton Is Belted, Still Wins 13th

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim (Bulldog) Bouton was clipped for two homers, two triples and two doubles, but also struck out 10 Minnesota batters Friday night to receive credit for a 6-5 victory by the league-leading New York Yankees.

The defeat was doubly costly for the Twins in that third baseman Rich Rollins suffered a concussion of the left cheekbone when he was hit by a savage grounder off Hector Lopez' bat during the fourth inning. Rollins lost consciousness momentarily, then regained it and was taken to Lenox Hill Hospital for X-rays.

Bouton, credited with his 13th victory against five defeats, hung on for 8 1-3 innings but finally was chased when Johnny Goryl slammed a two-run homer in the ninth. Southpaw Steve Hamilton took over and retired the next two batters in order.

Lopez provided Bouton with an early lead when he belted his 12th homer with one on off loser Lee Stange in the second inning, and the Twins were never able to catch up.

Piersall Expected To Sign With Angels

BOSTON (UPI) — Veteran outfielder Jimmy Piersall arrived here Friday and was expected to sign Saturday with the Los Angeles Angels.

Piersall was quoted by Boston Traverler sports writer Bill Liston as saying he "had a job" but indicated the club which had picked him up would not be identified officially until Saturday.

Frostburg Seeks Two-Game Sweep To Grab Lead In Pen-Mar League

Hosts Hyndman Today, Mt. Savage In Sunday Game

Frostburg's Merchants are scheduled to play two important games today and tomorrow and if they can make a sweep they'll take sole possession of first place in the Pen-Mar Baseball League Sunday evening.

The Mountain City team (15-7) trails Mt. Savage (16-6) by one game and each team has eight more games on its schedule before the pennant race ends on Sunday, August 25.

Game At Frostburg Today

In the only game scheduled today, Frostburg entertains Hyndman at 3:30 p.m. Lonaconing was originally carded to play at Mt. Savage today but the game was postponed until Saturday, August 3 because several Mt. Savage players are participating in the Cumberland - Frederick Legion series at Frederick this weekend.

Frostburg and Hyndman will be tangling for the fifth time this season and Manager Gary Keedy's tossers will be angling for their fifth win of the series. Frostburg has won by 8-4, 8-2, 3-2 and 8-1 scores. One game ended in a 2-2 tie.

Tomorrow Frostburg plays host to Mt. Savage in the fifth game of the series in which the Mountain City team holds a 3-1 edge in victories. Frostburg has won by scores of 9-5, 6-3 and 7-5 while Mt. Savage copped a 13-8 decision.

Hermans Visit Hyndman

In other Sunday action, the Cumberland Hermans visit Hyndman and Barrelville invades Lonaconing.

Cumberland (11-12) needs a victory to crash the .500 column. Lonaconing is the occupant of third place with a 12-10 record. The Hermans have whipped 'Coney 1-0 and 13-7 and lost by scores of 6-2 and 4-2.

Lonaconing has copped four straight from Barrelville, 8-1, 3-1, 13-12 and 11-7.

Hyndman and Barrelville, leading contenders in recent years, are now battling to keep from finishing in the league basement. Hyndman is 6-15 and Barrelville 6-16.

Sunday games are scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

Barrelville rolled to its ninth straight County Softball League win yesterday, dumping visiting Hyndman by the score of 8-1. Stringtown scored a 10-6 win over Kennell's Mill on its home diamond, and Corriganville battered National Jet, 18-1, at Narrows Park.

Although outhit 6-5, the pacesetting Old Germans never trailed after taking a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the third. They scored six times in the fourth on three bases-loaded walks and Bob Cessna's three-run double.

Cessna also had a single, and Joe Glass belted a three-bagger for Barrelvlle. Irvin Hosselrode collected a pair of singles, and Bowser doubled for Hyndman.

Stringtown tallied in every inning but the third and raked a pair of Kennell's Mill pitchers for 15 hits. Sonny Logsdon had three safeties including a double, winning pitcher Paul Stair tagged three singles and Steve Faulkner came through with a triple and double.

Donald May went three-for-three and Clyde Kennell socked a two-bagger and single for Kennell's Mill.

Corriganville had no trouble dealing National Jet its ninth straight loss and 23rd in 24 games. Gary Butts and Terry Burkett contributed homers to the Corg's 20-hit assault and Dick Niner enjoyed a perfect day at the plate in four trips.

Mickey Keller obtained two of the three hits surrendered by Corriganville's Lee Raygor.

Stringtown and Corriganville remained tied for second place, both sporting 15-9 records.

Westernport extended its winning streak to eight games in the Bi-State Pony Baseball League by defeating the Frostburg Mounties by the score of 5-0 yesterday at Frostburg in a five-inning affair halted by rain.

The win upped Westernport's lead to 3½ games.

John Prado limited the Mounties to five hits and struck out five in recording his sixth victory against a single loss. Bill Cutter went the route for Frostburg, gave up six hits and whiffed six.

Leo Mazzone of Westernport and Bernie Connors of the Mounties paced the hitters with a double and single each.

Mt. Savage and Lonaconing battled to an 8-8 deadlock, darkness halted hostilities after the completion of seven innings.

In other games, Cresaptown broke a six-game losing streak by beating the Frostburg Little Moes, 4-1, and the last place LaVale Pirates downed the LaVale Cubs, 5-1.

Tom Sindy fired a three-hitter for Cresaptown while Ronnie Weber rapped a two-run single and Pete Shoup drove in the other two runs with a double.

The Pirates collected only four hits but took advantage of eight bases on balls issued by Jim Evans, who fanned seven.

Corbyn "Corky" Hickle went the distance for the Buccaneers, yield five hits, struck out eight and gave up five passes.

Retzer's Homer Gives Nats 3-1 Win Over Tigers

DETROIT (UPI) — Catcher Ken Retzer slammed a two-run homer in the seventh inning Friday night off Frank Lary to power the Washington Senators to a 3-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Retzer, who came to the plate in the seventh with a .189 average and just one homer this season, broke up a 1-1 tie with his two-run shot into the second-deck in rightfield.

The victory went to Washington lefthander Don Rudolph who needed help from Ron Kline in the ninth.

Indians Snap KC Streak, 3-2

Kralick Wins 10th After Rocky Start

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Southpaw Jack Kralick survived a rocky start and hurled a six-hitter when the Cleveland Indians rallied to defeat the Kansas City Athletics, 3-2, Friday night on a wild pitch by Moe Drabowsky.

Kralick, now 10-9, gave up two runs in the first three innings, but then settled down and allowed only two hits the rest of the way. He struck out five and retired 15 men in a row in one stretch as the Indians snapped the Athletics five-game winning streak.

The Indians scored the winning run in the seventh when Al Luplow walked, raced to third on Woodie Held's single and scored as Drabowsky unleashed a wild pitch — one of three during the seven innings he pitched.

Trailing, 2-0, the Indians got one run back when Max Alvis led off the fourth with a home run. They tied the score at 2-2 an inning later when Tito Francona singled home Held, who had singled and moved to third on a wild pitch and Kralick's infield out.

Terrell, Folley Fight In Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—Zora Folley and Ernie Terrell, a couple of full-sized heavyweight contenders whose managers say they want their fighters to meet champion Sonny Liston, clash in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Whether the fighters want any part of Liston is something else again. If Terrell keeps on winning he's liable to find himself a possible challenger in a year or so whether or not he's really eager to get in there with the champion.

Terrell, a 6-foot-4, 200 pounder from Chicago, put himself into the picture when he whipped clouting Cleveland Williams for his seventh straight victory last April 13.

As a result the 24-year-old Terrell earned himself a No. 8 rating from the WBA and a No. 9 berth from Ring Magazine. His record is 30-4, including 16 knockouts.

Folley's record now is 63-6-3, including 35 knockouts.

The bout will be telecast by ABC-TV starting at 9 p.m., EST.

Hawkins Leads Western Open By Four Shots

Texan Has 135 Card, Palmer Trails At 140

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Long-hexed Fred Hawkins continued his blazing mastery of tricky Beverly Country Club course Friday with a 3-under-par 68 giving the lean Texan from El Paso a sizzling 36-hole total of 135 at the halfway mark of the 60th Western Open Golf Tournament. Hawkins opened Thursday with a pacesetting 67.

That put Hawkins—whose only official PGA triumph in 16 years was the 1956 Oklahoma City Open—four strokes ahead of a pair of rallying stars, U.S. Open champion Julius Boros and inimitable Sam Snead, who fired 67 and 68, and consistent Bob McCallister, whose 69-70 also gave him 139.

Palmer Posts 140

A third star perking in the second round of the 72-hole chase for the $10,000 top swag in the $50,000 meet was leading money winner Arnold Palmer, rebounding to a 67 after a shaky opening 73.

On the other hand, National PGA and Masters champ, Jack Nicklaus, slumped to 74 after a 69 and fell to a one-over-par 143.

Palmer played in the same threesome with Snead and Art Wall, who shot even par 71, and the intermingling of Arnie's Army and Snead's Faithful produced a gallery including most of the announced attendance of 13,100.

Boros, 43, whose $65,546 this season tops previous campaign earnings in his 31-year PGA career, got his 67 after an opening 72 mainly with a hot streak of four successive birdies from the 10th through the 13th.

Snead Shoots 67

Snead, 51, after an opening 71, nailed his 67 by staying out of trouble as he hit 16 greens and had no bogeys.

It generally was a fine day for oldsters on the humid par 36-35—71 Beverly course, paced by the 39-year-old Hawkins' second torrid round.

The one-two clubs in the Rec Softball League came through with victories yesterday, as the Old Germans blanked the Pepsi-Colas 4-0 at Post Field, and the Old Exports defeated sports Shoppe 6-3 at Stitcher Field.

Max Cline twirled a two-hitter in registering his fifth shutout of the season for the Old Germans, who hiked their league-leading record to 11-4. Bob Young had a pair of singles for the only hits off Cline.

Phil Barbe homered and singled, and Rich Cross singled twice to pace the Old Gees. Allen Knotts sparkled in leftfield with several over-the-shoulder catches.

The Old Exports backed up Eddie Root's five-hit effort with 15 safeties. Joe Biggs clouted a triple and three singles, Jamie Taylor hit a two-bagger and pair of singles, Walter Younger collected two hits and Hank Page doubled for the Exports. Losing pitcher Moe Barrett obtained two of the losers' base knocks.

Ducky Medwick's Hit Gives NL 1-0 Win In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The National League defeated the American League 1-0 Friday night in a two-inning re-enactment of the 1938 All Star Game.

A two-out single by Joe Medwick drove in Don Gutteridge in the first inning with the only run of the exhibition, played prior to the regularly scheduled Chicago White sox - Baltimore Orioles game.

Gutteridge and Tony Cuccinello, now coaches for the White Sox, opened the inning with hits off American League starter Lefty Gomez. After Ival Goodman lined into a double play, Medwick delivered his winning hit.

Babe Phelps and Billy Jurges also had hits for the National League team—which won the 1938 game 4-1.

Joe DiMaggio, who received the biggest cheers from the crowd, collected one of the two hits off winning pitcher Johnny Vander Meer. The other was made by Doc Cramer.

The game was part of the fourth annual Maryland Shrine of Immortals night.

Red Sox Rally To Nip Angels

Stuart Homers In 5-4 Victory

BOSTON (UPI) — A mighty Dick Stuart homer and clutch hits by Ed Bressoud and Bob Tillman Friday night gave the Boston Red Sox a come back 5-4 win over the Los Angeles Angels.

Stuart hit his 21st homer of the year with one man on in the sixth inning to tie the score. The blast left Fenway Park, easily clearing the 60 foot fence and screen in left center field.

A Bressoud double off rookie Los Angeles starter Fred Newman and a Bob Tillman single off Angel reliefer Dean Chance then produced the winning run and broke a four game losing streak.

Newman, a former Boston farm hand, making his second major league start, got tagged with his second loss. He also gave up a first inning solo home run to Gary Geiger, his 11th of the year.

Though he didn't get the victory, Bob Turley started for the Red Sox and was charged with all four Los Angeles runs after being lifted with none out in the fifth.

Turley was signed by the Red Sox earlier this week after being released by Los Angeles. He gave up eight hits and struck out eight during his first Red Sox appearance.

Boston reliefer Jack Lamabe, who gave up a two-run single to Angel Ken Hunt after taking over for Turley in the sixth, collected his fifth victory against one loss.

Toy Shop Hands VFW 2nd Loss

Toy Shop, the only Rec High School League team to have the number of VFW, scored a 7-4 decision over the Vets yesterday at Municipal Field in a game limited to five and one-half innings.

Bernstein's and 40&8 Club were tied 6-6 after seven complete innings when darkness halted play in their game at Fort Hill Field.

The league-leading Vets have now lost twice in 11 starts, both defeats coming at the hands of manager George Flynn's Toy Shop club.

Dave Price, who beat the VFW 8-6 the first time, turned the trick again yesterday. The righthander failed to walk a batter and struck out eight, pitching scoreless ball over the last four frames.

Jim Arrowood's two-run homer highlighted a four-run outburst by Toy Shop in the first inning. Arrowood also singled for the winners, who moved into sole possession of second place with a 7-5 mark.

Injured Schofield Sent Home By Bucs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates sent shortstop Dick Schofield home Friday because of an injured knee which has sidelined him since Wednesday night.

Schofield sustained the injury when catcher John Roseboro of the Los Angeles Dodgers fell on him while making a play at the plate.

"We don't know how long Schofield will be out," manager Danny Murtaugh said. "He may have some bruised ligaments."

Market Trading Slowest Of Year; Averages Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks clung stubbornly to a nominal gain in the slowest trading of the year Friday but buying interest increased in the final minutes of trading and a number of issues spurted ahead.

Dow - Jones industrial average was up 1.67 to 689.38 and Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tacked on 0.28 to 68.54. Trading totaled 2,510,000 shares, 1,200,000 shares behind Thursday's 3,710,000 and the smallest volume since Jan. 2 when 2,543,720 shares changed hands.

1,259 issues traded, 570 advanced, 19 to new 1963 highs and 414 declined, 32 to new lows.

Brokers had hoped for little more than a steady trend in Friday's pre-weekend dealings, a period normally characterized by a degree of profit-taking.

Chrysler again topped the market in activity, rising ½ to 59½ on a turnover of 51,800 shares. It was followed in activity by Royal Dutch up ½ to 48⅛. General Motors up 1⅛ to 69⅛, Electronic Associates up 3 to 68 and U.S. Smelting up 1¼ to 85½.

Bethlehem recovered from an earlier loss to finish unchanged in the steels were Republic, Youngstown and U.S. Steel posted fractional gains.

On the American Exchange prices were mixed on a turnover of 1,100,000 shares compared with 1,210,000 shares Thursday. Data Control was the most active issue, dropping 5¼ on a volume of 145,300 shares. The stock was off 3 points after a late opening on a block of 20,700 shares. The company reported a slight increase in first half earnings Thursday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wheat futures ended firm while other grain dropped sharply Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the close, wheat was up ¼ to 1⅛; corn off ⅞ to 1⅜; oats off 1 to 1¾; rye off ¾ to 1⅝, and soybeans off 2⅝ to 3⅛.

Many traders felt yesterday's soybeans stocks report was ambiguous and chose to discount its bullish aspects, instead keeping an eye on the weather. A forecast for showers and good crop news brought active selling to soybeans and prices were down more than 3 cents a bushel.

Corn lost more than a cent on word of rains and favorable crop news.

Wheat prices steadied after commercial offerings were absorbed. Local buying and short covering firmed prices.

Liquidation and stop-loss selling followed hedging in oats and prices slid below a cent.

Rye plunged with other grains in featureless trade.

Kansas city wheat firmed but other outside markets ended lower.

Cholera Strikes

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI)— Authorities declared the twin cities of Bangkok and Dhonburi as cholera-affected areas Friday and urged citizens to report for inoculations against the disease. Thirteen persons have been admitted to the municipal hospital with symptoms of the disease but only one case thus far has been definitely diagnosed as cholera.

Cargo Sets Trial

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)— The Congo government announced Friday that soldiers responsible for the murder of 13 Italian pilots in 1961 will be brought to trial soon. The Italians were attached to the United Nations forces. They were killed by soldiers loyal to Antoine Gizenga, leader of a breakaway faction in the troubled republic.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Market Trading Slowest Of Year; Averages Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks clung stubbornly to a nominal gain in the slowest trading of the year Friday but buying interest increased in the final minutes of trading and a number of issues spurted ahead.

Dow - Jones industrial average was up 1.67 to 689.38 and Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tacked on 0.28 to 68.54. Trading totaled 2,510,000 shares, 1,200,000 shares behind Thursday's 3,710,000 and the smallest volume since Jan. 2 when 2,543,720 shares changed hands.

1,259 issues traded, 570 advanced, 19 to new 1963 highs and 414 declined, 32 to new lows.

Brokers had hoped for little more than a steady trend in Friday's pre-weekend dealings, a period normally characterized by a degree of profit-taking.

Chrysler again topped the market in activity, rising ½ to 59½ on a turnover of 51,800 shares. It was followed in activity by Royal Dutch up ½ to 48⅛. General Motors up 1⅛ to 69⅛, Electronic Associates up 3 to 68 and U.S. Smelting up 1¼ to 85½.

Bethlehem recovered from an earlier loss to finish unchanged in the steels were Republic, Youngstown and U.S. Steel posted fractional gains.

On the American Exchange prices were mixed on a turnover of 1,100,000 shares compared with 1,210,000 shares Thursday. Data Control was the most active issue, dropping 5¼ on a volume of 145,300 shares. The stock was off 3 points after a late opening on a block of 20,700 shares. The company reported a slight increase in first half earnings Thursday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wheat futures ended firm while other grain dropped sharply Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the close, wheat was up ¼ to 1⅛; corn off ⅞ to 1⅜; oats off 1 to 1¾; rye off ¾ to 1⅜, and soybeans off 2⅝ to 3⅛.

Many traders felt yesterday's soybeans stocks report was ambiguous and chose to discount its bullish aspects, instead keeping an eye on the weather. A forecast for showers and good crop news brought active selling to soybeans and prices were down more than 3 cents a bushel.

Corn lost more than a cent on word of rains and favorable crop news.

Wheat prices steadied after commercial offerings were absorbed. Local buying and short covering firmed prices.

Liquidation and stop-loss selling followed hedging in oats and prices slid below a cent.

Rye plunged with other grains in featureless trade.

Cholera Strikes

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI)—Authorities declared the twin cities of Bangkok and Dhonburi as cholera-affected areas Friday and urged citizens to report for inoculations against the disease. Thirteen persons have been admitted to the municipal hospital with symptoms of the disease but only one case thus far has been definitely diagnosed as cholera.

Cargo Sets Trial

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The Congo government announced Friday that soldiers responsible for the murder of 13 Italian pilots in 1961 will be brought to trial soon. The Italians were attached to the United Nations forces. They were killed by soldiers loyal to Antoine Gizenga, leader of a breakaway faction in the troubled republic.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Float Glass Unit Here Featured In Article

Ford City Faces Part Time Work

Cumberland and Ford City, Pa., are featured in an article, "Tale of Two Factories," by J. Russell Boner in yesterday's issue of the Wall Street Journal.

He said that as nearly 100 workers go to man the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's float glass line here early next year some 1,600 employes of the firm's Ford City plant may face the prospect of only part - time employment.

The two communities were used to illustrate the clash which occurs as companies, led to competition to adopt new machines and processes, meet union reluctance to resist change.

The tale, he said, points out that "this union intransigence can prove costly to workers in the long run."

The writer recounts the decisions which led the company to decide to build the first float glass line in the United States here.

He said that when PPG management outlined its plan to labor leaders at Ford City, it explained it would need contract changes to make the process economically feasible.

Mr. Boner reported the union there, faced with a 25 per cent reduction in the work force and lower pay for others if it agreed on the changes, stood fast to the old contract.

He said union members knew that converting the Ford City plant would allow PPG to introduce the float process months earlier and save $12,000,000 in construction costs.

Company officials, he reported, think the union felt they were bluffing when they insisted they would have to build a new plant in Cumberland unless consessions were granted.

He said that with labor representing about half the cost of making glass, the company figured the extra cost and delay in building in Cumberland would be more beneficial in the long run unless concessions were granted.

Workers at Cumberland and Crystal City, Mo., Mr. Boner reported, were willing to accept the company's demands. Once this happened, he said, workers at Ford City realized their error and agreed.

But he said that by that time it was too late and that Ford City workers face the prospect of only part-time work if the company's plans for the float process are fulfilled.

There is no question he concluded, that economic change can be painful but said the Ford City story illustrates what "it may be even fore painful to fight it."

83 Oldtown Residents Sign Road Petition

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received a petition signed by 83 residents of the Oldtown area requesting the surfacing of a three-mile strip of road.

The signers asked that the county "tar and chip the remaining unpaved portion of East Wilson Road."

Gratton Ford Inc. was awarded the contract for a "medium-priced" station wagon. Cost of the vehicle, which will be for the use of the county engineer, was listed at $2,295.07.

A report was drawn up yesterday concerning an informal meeting of members of the Planning and Zoning Commission and several area contractors. Opposion was voiced by the contractors regarding the "county policy of surfacing and resurfacing roads and streets at the taxpayers' expense."

John W. Ridenbaugh, of Oldtown, appeared before the commissioners at yesterday's meeting claiming that he represented 20 residents of that area who request that Horse Pack Road be surfaced.

Mrs. William Cutter, of Midlothian, complained of a hump in a road in that area which has recently been graded by the County Roads Commission.

Are Featured At Hootenanny

The Tune Tumblers from Oakland, seen providing some close harmony, were featured at a Hootenanny staged last night in Constitution Park. They are, left to right, Jay Bell, tenor; Bob Alt, baritone; Don Friend, lead, and Stan Callis, bass. The song session was sponsored by the Queen City Girls Chorus and the Queen City Kings Chorus, both sponsored by the Cumberland Recreational Department. A picnic supper was served by the local groups after the singing session.

Garrett Historic Study Cites House In Oakland

A house in Oakland with a special link to the Star Spangled Banner is just one of the historic sites of Garrett County given emphasis in a 16-page report on Garrett County historic sites recently completed by Miss Mary-Carter Roberts of the Tourist Division of the State Department of Economic Development.

The widow of Francis Scott Key, author of the National Anthem, acquired this residence in 1859. Her daughter, Phoebe, married Charles Howard, a descendant of John Eager Howard, the Revolutionary hero. The house passed into possession of the Howard family, whose members came there for their summers until 1959, rounding out a century. At that time the Howard owner died and left the building to a next door neighbor. It has been unoccupied for the last four years and there has been a suggestion that it be presented to the Garrett County Historical Society but no action has been taken on the proposal.

Athough this house is not open to the public, Miss Roberts includes it in her report because of an exterior feature of fascinating interest. It is a small platform built out from the center of the front porch.

Band Salute

It seems that the people of Oakland never forgot that the owners of the house descended from the author of the National Anthem. When the Howards arrived for the summer, the town band would present a concert in front of the residence. The program inevitably would conclude with the National Anthem and the members of the family would move forward on their special platform to join in the singing.

Miss Roberts notes the house is unmarked, is in need of repair and the grounds are badly grown up.

Other historic sites of Garrett County which relate to national history include the Casselman Bridge at Grantsville, the church of the presidents in Oakland, the B&O Railroad station in Oakland, the Casselman Hotel in Grantsville and the Fairfax Stone near Kempton, marking the source of the Potomac River.

Three American presidents of the last three decades of the 19th century, Ulysses Grant, Benjamin Harrison and Grover Cleveland, all chose Garrett County for their summer vacations. They all attended worship services in a modest stone church which still stands at the corner of Second and Liberty streets in Oakland.

Not In Use

However, Miss Roberts notes that this old church is not now in use, is not open to the public and is unmarked. She believes that it is very likely that visitors would be interested in it if they knew of its distinction.

Three other famous Americans of the past are mentioned in connection with her notation about Muddy Creek Falls in Swallow Falls recreation area. She notes that the purpose of her report was not to mention scenic attractions. She lists the 64-foot falls because of its historic associations. She reports that the land beside the falls was the site of the camp of Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and Harvey Firestone.

She reports as follows about this camp:

"The site of the camp is not marked in any way. The area, as noted above, is now in a state property though it was not so in the years when the great men came there. It is beautifully kept up. Many people visit it for its scenic perfection. It would seem that a sign informing these travel-

EUGENE T. GUNNING

Service Set Monday For Local Editor

Requiem mass for Eugene T. Gunning, 61, editor of the Cumberland Sunday Times, who died suddenly at his home, 8 Decatur Street, yesterday morning, will be celebrated Monday at 10 a.m. at St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Interment will be in SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery.

Mr. Gunning, whose newspaper career began as a youth attending high school here, was fatally stricken as he prepared to go to work.

Mr. Gunning had recuperated from a gall bladder operation which he underwent in March while vacationing in Miami, Fla.

Mr. Gunning was a son of the late Edward Eugene and Ethel (Frantz) Gunning and was born in Cumberland June 20, 1902.

He was graduated from LaSalle High School and during his school years there and in summer vacations, he worked as a reporter and sports writer for the old Daily News.

From September 1920, to June 1923 when he was graduated from West Virginia University, Mr. Gunning was employed by the WVU athletic department as sports publicity writer.

In 1923, he became assistant director in charge of publicity and minor sports schedules, and retained this position until August 1926 when he became sports editor of the Morgantown Post.

Mr. Gunning returned to his home town in August 1932 when he became sports editor of the Cumberland Evening and Sunday Times.

In 1944, he became city editor of the Evening Times. For the ten years prior to July 1, 1957 when he was named editor of the Sunday Times, Mr. Gunning was assistant managing editor of the Evening Times.

He was a member of the Maryland Press Association and served on its University of Maryland journalism committee.

Active in West Virginia Alumni Association, he was founder and a former president of the Potomac Valley Chapter which is comprised of members in Western Maryland and adjacent West Virginia.

A charter member of Cumberland Local 137, American Newspaper Guild, in 1937, he served as its president.

Haddon Avenue Sewer Project Is Completed

The completion of the Haddon Avenue sewer project was announced yesterday by Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

The project was accepted late yesterday afternoon after a final inspection by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who reported the Hout Construction Company had completed the work according to plans and specifications.

The firm began work on July 10 on the $9,650 contract which called for the installation of the eight-inch Haddon Avenue-Williams Road sanitary sewer line.

The project was constructed under the Accelerated Public Program and costs, except for rights of way, will be shared equally by the city and the government.

The city's first APW project, the $16,220 Ridge Terrace water and sewer line program, was completed early this month.

Native Will Become 100 On Sunday

A Cumberland native who is still clinging to life on the eve of a full century of living will observe her 100th birthday in a nursing home near Winchester, Va., tomorrow.

She is Mrs. W. A. Cordry, who was born in Cumberland 100 years ago tomorrow as Letha Wolford.

For many years her husband ran a confectionary along Queen City Pavement. He has been dead for quite a while.

Mrs. Cordry lived here until she was about 90 years old. She resided on Waverly Terrace. From here she moved to Winchester to reside with her daughter, Mrs. N. G. Maxson. As her health has failed in the past several years she has been moved to a nursing home.

In addition to Mrs. Maxson she has a son, J. Homer Cordry, who lives on Bedford Road. Another son, Murray, died some years ago. She also has two grandchildren, a half sister, Mrs. Raymond Armbruster, Bedford Road, and two half brothers, William Wolford, Bedford Road, and Reese Wolford, Youngstown, Ohio.

Funeral Rites Sunday For Two Murder Victims

Funeral services will be held Sunday and Monday for the three victims of an apparent double murder and suicide Thursday morning at the Guy Propst home on old U. S. 40 about six miles east of Cumberland.

A joint service for Bonita Louise Harrison, 16, and her brother, Richard Lee Harrison, 15, who were killed by their stepfather will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at St. Luke's Lutheran Church. Rev. Vernon I. Naugle will officiate and interment will be in St. Luke's Cemetery. The bodies will be taken to the church at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

A private family service for the stepfather, Guy Propst, 47, who took his own life after the double slaying, will be conducted at the Silcox Funeral Residence Monday at 1 p.m. Pastor Naugle will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Went Berserk

Authorities said the stepfather evidently went berserk and killed his two stepchildren and then turned a weapon on himself, blowing off the top of his head. An argument evidently started to trigger the slayings with neighbors reporting Propst was abusive to the children on numberous occasions. He also reportedly had been ill recently and was easily upset.

State's Attorney James S. Getty and County Investigator William F. Baker said investigation indicates Propst, said to have been a man of violent temper, apparently used a .22 calibre rifle to slay the two children and then used a 30.30 rifle to kill himself.

The Harrison girl died of a severe fracture of the skull, evidently caused by a brutal blow with the stock of the .22 rifle. The impact was heavy enough to cause the stock to break apart and to bend the barrel of the weapon. She also had been shot in the thigh and lower part of the right leg.

The youth had been shot five times, the lethal one entering his left chest. Other shots entered his

A group of local Baptists will be among the expected 1,100 pastors and lay churchmen attending the Maryland Baptist Assembly at Hood College in Fredrick next week. Ten people from Grace Baptist Church and five from LaVale Baptist are planning to attend the six-day encampment which starts Monday.

Those from Grace Baptist who will attend are Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Keefe, Nancy and Carolyn Merrick, Mrs. Wayman Calhoun and her two children, David and Karen; Mrs. George L. Harris and her son, Ben. From LaVale Baptist are Rev. and Mrs. Finney B. Bragg and their son, Gilbert; Mrs. Richard Flannigan and Mrs. Lester Whitesides.

Rev. Dr. Roy C. Gresham, executive secretary of the Maryland Baptist State Mission Board, will preside at the assembly sessions.

Petersburg Boy Drowns In Potomac

Is Swept Away While Wading

A 10-year-old Petersburg, W. Va., boy drowned last night in the South Branch of the Potomac River near Petersburg.

Edward Lee Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cook, and his younger brother, Harold, were wading near the river's edge when Edward was apparently swept away. He could not swim.

Another child in the group hailed an adult, who notified the Petersburg Fire Department. By the time firemen had been alerted and were on the scene, Edward had been in the water approximately 32 minutes, and efforts to revive him by artificial respiration proved unsuccessful. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Grant Memorial Hospital.

He was born in Bergton, Va., Dec. 5, 1952.

Besides his mother and father and younger brother, he is survived by three other brothers, Banjamin Lee, Douglas M., and William M., all of Arlington, Va.; and a sister, Frances Louise Cook, at home.

The body is at the Schaeffer Funeral Home in Petersburg.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

State Colleges Asked To Push Liberal Arts

Wilson Calls For Shift In Emphasis

BALTIMORE (AP) — The five state colleges were urged Friday to move "as rapidly as is academically possible" in building up their liberal arts departments.

The plea came from William L. Wilson Jr., Cumberland attorney who was named only Thursday as chairman of the new State College Board of Trustees.

Wilson said he believed a rapid shift in emphasis would not harm but actually help the teacher-training functions of the schools. This help would come, he said, from broader courses and from teachers with broader academic backgrounds.

Under a 1963 act of the Maryland Legislature, five schools that had existed as teachers colleges — Salisbury, Frostburg, Bowie, Towson and Coppin — were converted into liberal arts colleges.

The nine-member board of trustees, appointed earlier this month by Gov. Tawes, was created to administer the colleges.

Wilson said no immediate changes in administration of the colleges were anticipated. He said the board would visit the schools as soon as possible, then recommend possible changes.

Fugitive Arrested In Entry Try

A Chicago youth wanted by the FBI for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution was arrested by City Police early yesterday mornng. Marvin M. Robaire, 20, was apprehended by Officer Harold E. Gibson at 4:45 a.m. as he was attempting an entry at the Memorial Hospital nurses' residence.

A routine check yesterday afternoon revealed that Robaire was wanted by California authorities for grand theft. He reportedly stole a sum of money from the Kit Carson Motel Assn., in California, and later left the state, thus requiring the intervention of the FBI.

Capt. James E. Van, of the detective bureau, said a report was received early yesterday morning from the nurses' residence that a man was trying to enter the building. When Officer Gibson arrived at the scene he found Robaire and a window screen which had apparently been removed in his entry attempt.

Capt. Van stated that prosecution would probably be waived and that Robaire will be turned over to federal authorities sometime next week.

Boys Placed On Probation

Three juvenile boys from Frostburg and Carlos were given suspended sentences and placed on probation yesterday at a hearing in Juvenile Court in connection with the theft of blasting caps and dynamite from a mine in the Klondyke area on June 17.

An 18-year old youth from Carlos was given a suspended six months sentence to the House of Correction and placed on probation of the court for a period of two years.

Juvenile Magistrate Louis A. Fakin declared two Frostburg youths, ages 17 and 15 delinquent minors and gave them suspended sentences to Maryland Training School for Boys. They were also placed on indefinite probation.

All of the caps and dynamite involved in the theft were recovered by Tfc. Milton G. Hart, Tfc. Bernard J. Chabot, criminal investigators for the State Police and Assistant Chief Leslie Bevans of Frostburg, who arrested the youths. Deputy Sheriff William E. Orr assisted in the investigation.

Four Suspected Of Robbery

Four persons are being held in connection with a burglary Thursday at the home of Wallace Smith, about one-half mile west of Augusta on U.S. Route 50, fter they were apprehended Thursday evening in Moorefield by Cpl. Joseph Shrout of the West Virginia State Police there.

Cpl. Shrout stopped the car, which was bearing Ohio license plates, after road blocks had been set up in the area.

Returned to Romney Friday with Trooper John Leeson for questioning were James Sykes, 26, Cincinnati; Tom Hammond, 44, Columbus; Mary Janet Fielden, 18, Summersville; Tenn.; and Roberta Malone, 24, Washington Court House, Ohio.

No further information was available as the suspects were due for further questioning.

Native Will Become 100 On Sunday

A Cumberland native who is still clinging to life on the eve of a full century of living will observe her 100th birthday in a nursing home near Winchester, Va., tomorrow.

She is Mrs. W. A. Cordry, who was born in Cumberland 100 years ago tomorrow as Letha Wolford.

For many years her husband ran a confectionary along Queen City Pavement. He has been dead for quite a while.

Mrs. Cordry lived here until she was about 90 years old. She resided on Waverly Terrace. From here she moved to Winchester to reside with her daughter, Mrs. N. G. Maxson. As her health has failed in the past several years she has been moved to a nursing home.

In addition to Mrs. Maxson she has a son, J. Homer Cordry, who lives on Bedford Road. Another son, Murray, died some years ago. She also has two grandchildren, a half sister, Mrs. Raymond Armbruster, Bedford Road, and two half brothers, William Wolford, Bedford Road, and Reese Wolford, Youngstown, Ohio.

Deaths

BARNES — Gust Hilry, 89, Augusta.

JUDY — Mrs. Marie, 45, Maysville.

KILBRIDE — John, Philadelphia.

POLAND — Homer C., 38, Keyser.

RALEY—James H., 68, Ellerslie

REPHANN — William, 81, McMullen Highway.

RUDY — Irvin R. Sr., 67, Oakland.

Funeral Rites Sunday For Two Murder Victims

Funeral services will be held Sunday and Monday for the three victims of an apparent double murder and suicide Thursday morning at the Guy Propst home on old U. S. 40 about six miles east of Cumberland.

A joint service for Bonita Louise Harrison, 16, and her brother, Richard Lee Harrison, 15, who were killed by their stepfather will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at St. Luke's Lutheran Church. Rev. Vernon I. Naugle will officiate and interment will be in St. Luke's Cemetery. The bodies will be taken to the church at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

A private family service for the stepfather, Guy Propst, 47, who took his own life after the double slaying, will be conducted at the Silcox Funeral Residence Monday at 1 p.m. Pastor Naugle will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Went Berserk

Authorities said the stepfather evidently went berserk and killed his two stepchildren and then turned a weapon on himself, blowing off the top of his head. An argument evidently started to trigger the slayings with neighbors reporting Propst was abusive to the children on numberous occasions. He also reportedly had been ill recently and was easily upset.

State's Attorney James S. Getty and County Investigator William F. Baker said investigation indicates Propst, said to have been a man of violent temper, apparently used a .22 calibre rifle to slay the two children and then used a 30.30 rifle to kill himself.

The Harrison girl died of a severe fracture of the skull, evidently caused by a brutal blow with the stock of the .22 rifle. The impact was heavy enough to cause the stock to break apart and to bend the barrel of the weapon. She also had been shot in the thigh and lower part of the right leg.

After slaying the children, authorities surmise Propst went

15 To Attend Baptist Meet

A group of local Baptists will be among the expected 1,100 pastors and lay churchmen attending the Maryland Baptist Assembly at Hood College in Fredrick next week. Ten people from Grace Baptist Church and five from LaVale Baptist are planning to attend the six-day encampment which starts Monday.

Those from Grace Baptist who will attend are Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Keefe, Nancy and Carolyn Merrick, Mrs. Wayman Calhoun and her two children, David and Karen; Mrs. George L. Harris and her son, Ben. From LaVale Baptist are Rev. and Mrs. Finney B. Bragg and their son, Gilbert; Mrs. Richard Flannigan and Mrs. Lester Whitesides.

Rev. Dr. Roy C. Gresham, executive secretary of the Maryland Baptist State Mission Board, will preside at the assembly sessions.

Petersburg Boy Drowns In Potomac

Is Swept Away While Wading

A 10-year-old Petersburg, W. Va., boy drowned last night in the South Branch of the Potomac River near Petersburg.

Edward Lee Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cook, and his younger brother, Harold, were wading near the river's edge when Edward was apparently swept away. He could not swim.

Another child in the group hailed an adult, who notified the Petersburg Fire Department. By the time firemen had been alerted and were on the scene, Edward had been in the water approximately 32 minutes, and efforts to revive him by artificial respiration proved unsuccessful. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Grant Memorial Hospital.

He was born in Bergton, Va., Dec. 5, 1952.

Besides his mother and father and younger brother, he is survived by three other brothers, Banjamin Lee, Douglas M., and William M., all of Arlington, Va.; and a sister, Frances Louise Cook, at home.

The body is at the Schaeffer Funeral Home in Petersburg.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Will Take Course

Robert C. Petersen, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, will be in Syracuse, N. Y., next week, attending the annual seminar given by the University of Syracuse for Chamber of Commerce executives.

Sunshine Camp Season Comes To A Close

The five youngsters shown in this picture were among the outstanding boy campers at the Sunshine Camp, which ends its four-week season this morning under the sponsorship of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club. In the front row, left to right, are John Bittner, Charles Pettie, Carl Hockenberry and Joe Breighner. In the background, same order, are Herman J. Koegel, camp director: Gary Carroll, another camper; Norman D. Messman, vice president of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club, and Ray D. Riley of Westminster, lieutenant - governor of the Kiwanis Ninth Division, who was a guest at the camp Thursday. The Kiwanis Club held its meeting at the camp that day.

State Colleges Asked To Push Liberal Arts

Wilson Calls For Shift In Emphasis

BALTIMORE (AP) — The five state colleges were urged Friday to move "as rapidly as is academically possible" in building up their liberal arts departments.

The plea came from William L. Wilson Jr., Cumberland attorney who was named only Thursday as chairman of the new State College Board of Trustees.

Wilson said he believed a rapid shift in emphasis would not harm but actually help the teacher-training functions of the schools. This help would come, he said, from broader courses and from teachers with broader academic backgrounds.

Under a 1963 act of the Maryland Legislature, five schools that had existed as teachers colleges — Salisbury, Frostburg, Bowie, Towson and Coppin — were converted into liberal arts colleges.

The nine-member board of trustees, appointed earlier this month by Gov. Tawes, was created to administer the colleges.

Wilson said no immediate changes in administration of the colleges were anticipated. He said the board would visit the schools as soon as possible, then recommend possible changes.

Fugitive Arrested In Entry Try

A Chicago youth wanted by the FBI for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution was arrested by City Police early yesterday mornng. Marvin M. Robaire, 20, was apprehended by Officer Harold E. Gibson at 4:45 a.m. as he was attempting an entry at the Memorial Hospital nurses' residence.

A routine check yesterday afternoon revealed that Robaire was wanted by California authorities for grand theft. He reportedly stole a sum of money from the Kit Carson Motel Assn., in California, and later left the state, thus requiring the intervention of the FBI.

Capt. James E. Van, of the detective bureau, said a report was received early yesterday morning from the nurses' residence that a man was trying to enter the building. When Officer Gibson arrived at the scene he found Robaire and a window screen which had apparently been removed in his entry attempt.

Capt. Van stated that prosecution would probably be waived and that Robaire will be turned over to federal authorities sometime next week.

Boys Placed On Probation

Three juvenile boys from Frostburg and Carlos were given suspended sentences and placed on probation yesterday at a hearing in Juvenile Court in connection with the theft of blasting caps and dynamite from a mine in the Klondyke area on June 17.

An 18-year old youth from Carlos was given a suspended six months sentence to the House of Correction and placed on probation of the court for a period of two years.

Juvenile Magistrate Louis A. Fakin declared two Frostburg youths, ages 17 and 15 delinquent minors and gave them suspended sentences to Maryland Training School for Boys. They were also placed on indefinite probation.

All of the caps and dynamite involved in the theft were recovered by Tfc. Milton G. Hart, Tfc. Bernard J. Chabot, criminal investigators for the State Police and Assistant Chief Leslie Bevans of Frostburg, who arrested the youths. Deputy Sheriff William E. Orr assisted in the investigation.

Four Suspected Of Robbery

Four persons are being held in connection with a burglary Thursday at the home of Wallace Smith, about one-half mile west of Augusta on U.S. Route 50, fter they were apprehended Thursday evening in Moorefield by Cpl. Joseph Shrout of the West Virginia State Police there.

Cpl. Shrout stopped the car, which was bearing Ohio license plates, after road blocks had been set up in the area.

Returned to Romney Friday with Trooper John Leeson for questioning were James Sykes, 26, Cincinnati; Tom Hammond, 44, Columbus; Mary Janet Fielden, 18, Summersville; Tenn.; and Roberta Malone, 24, Washington Court House, Ohio.

No further information was available as the suspects were due for further questioning.

Bazaar Ends Tonight

Tonight is the final night of the annual bazaar sponsored by the Bowling Green Fire Company, and prizes will be given away every half hour. The event is held yearly by the fire company as part of their fund raising campaign to buy and maintain equipment.

Wedding Bells Family Affair

Jill Killmar now has two members of the family involved in television. The first was her famous mother, Dorothy Kilgallen, veteran "What's My Line" panelist in addition to her columning, and the latest is her brand new husband, Lawrence Grossman who's in the production end of the business on the staff of Bob Banner Associates (which does the Garry Moore Show, the Carol Burnett special, and the upcoming Jimmy Dean Show among others).

Thirty-Four New Shows Lined Up For Fall Season

NEW YORK (NEA) — From deep in the slough of despond (alias summer repeat season), television viewers can see activity on the horizon. Warming up on the calendar are 34 brand new night-time shows, just waiting until the repeats have run their weary course.

It is probably unethical for a critic to say so, but some of next season's new shows look good. Of course, these may not be the ones the public likes.

At this writing, these look like the cream of the incoming crop:

ABC's Arrest and Trial, The Fugitive and The Breaking Point; CBS's East Side, West Side, The Great Adventure and variety shows starring Danny Kaye and Judy Garland; NBC's Espionage and The Richard Boone Show.

ABC, in particular, is showing sudden signs of maturity in its programming. Where once Hawaiian Eye and Bourbon Street Beat were this network's idea of great drama, now they are approaching the home screen with some inventiveness.

Arrest and Trial is a unique idea. It is a 90-minute show, but really two separate 45-minute shows. In one, Ben Gazzara will be a detective, and we'll watch as he "Arrests" a criminal. Next comes the "Trial" segment, with Chuck Connors as a district attorney.

The Fugitive is another different idea. David Janssen stars as a fugitive from justice—innocent, of course—and for 13 weeks Barry Morse will try to capture him while he in turn tries to capture the genuinely guilty parties.

The Breaking Point is a new entry in the medical show derby; this one has Paul Richards and Eduard Franz as psychiatrists.

Among ABC's 13 new shows will be several other dramas — The Greatest Show On Earth, with Jack Palance and a circus background; The Outer Limits, a science fiction anthology series; The Travels of Jamie McPheeters, homey stories set in the gold-rush days; and Channing, set on a college campus.

There will also be new variety hours starring Jimmy Dean and Jerry Lewis, the latter a two-hour affair. Two new situation comedies are The Patty Duke Show (with Patty in a dual role) and The Farmer's Daughter starring Inger Stevens. And a new big money quiz, 100 Grand.

CBS' East Side, West Side is an attempt to make a social worker into a leading man. George C. Scott will star in this drama, which could be a new season hit. The Great Adventure, narrated by Van Heflin, will be a series of dramas built around actual historical events.

CBS has the fewest new programs—nine—including three situation comedies (My Favorite Martian; Glynis with Glynis Johns messing around with crime, and The Phil Silvers Show, with Phil back in a variation of the Bilko personality); the long-awaited variety series debuts of Miss Garland and Kaye; a new documentary series, Chronicle, which will alternate with CBS Reports; and—hold on to your bonnet, Sarahbelle — a spin-off from The Beverly Hillbillies called Petticoat Junction. Yuch.

Over at NBC, the emphasis is heavily on drama, with seven of the 12 new shows being full-hour dramas. The Richard Boone Show will be watched with great interest, because of its use of the repertory company technique — the same actors in different roles and stories each week. Espionage shapes up as a winner; this anthology of spy stories is being shot on location in England by the same company that produces the successful The Defenders and The Nurses.

Other dramas: The Robert Taylor Show ,with Taylor and Robert Loggia as agents of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; the Chrysler Theater, an anthology series which will alternate with Bob Hope; the Kraft Mystery (or maybe it will be Suspense) Theater, alternating with Perry Como; Mr. Novak, another educational series (a coming trend?), this one set in a high school; and The Lieutenant, built around the peacetime Marine Corps.

Besides dramas, NBC also has Imogene Coca as Grindl, a domestic who always gets involved with criminals; a filmed-in Europe situation comedy, Harry's Girls; Bill Dana as Jose Jimenez in his first series; Redigo, which is really just refugees from Empire in a half-hour show; and The Hollywood Story, a documentary about movies and movie stars.

Flirtatious Con Man Irks NBCNewsman

NBC Newsman, Richard Harkness is pretty mad about a confidence man he's never met who is trading on the Harkness name.

Worse yet, explains the innocent Richard Harkness, the phony William Harkness (who glibly says that he is the newsman's son) has a strange habit of proposing marriage to beautiful girls then leaving them, literally, at the church.

In fact, while a girl in Dallas, her family, the minister and the wedding guests were waiting he cooly phoned that he had a flat tire and would be 15 minutes late. That was the last they heard of him.

He always "travels first class" and by pretending relationship endears himself to the community. After running up big bills (and getting engaged) he vanishes. Localities which have been victimized are Las Vegas, Los Angeles, Houston, Denver, New York, of course Dallas and most recently, Tampa, Florida.

The FBI describes the phony Harkness as "about 33, 6 feet 9, 140 pounds, a dishwater blond with light green eyes." Two other known aliases he uses are Scott Lee Harkness and William Scott.

Richard Harkness has even used an NBC news program to warn the unsuspecting. Says he, "William Marshall Harkness is not my son. Although right now I'd like to meet him face to face!"

Jackie Gleason, CBS Television Network comedy star, has been an entertainer since he won an amateur night contest in Brooklyn at 15.

New Audience For Shirl

Shirl Conway, who's gotten pretty used to looking out at white caps when she speaks (because she's now in such demand at nurses graduations as a result of her "Liz Thorpe" role in "The Nurses") had a different audience the last week in June when she went back to her home town of Franklinville, New York, as guest speaker for the high school graduation exercises.

Laugh Lines

Using his "Beverly Hillbillies" drawl, Buddy Ebsen declares a woman is someone who will stand 20 minutes talking at the door because she hasn't time to come in.

Tom Poston who, when he's not panelling on "To Tell The Truth," is collecting and inventing cynicisms for maybe-a-book someday offers his lates, the first of which concerns an actor telling why he should get on a new TV show. "I'm a master at funny faces," he said as a clincher. "I know," said Poston as a squelcher, "I've seen some of your dates."

Tom's other truism of the week in that "opposites usually attract . . . especially when they leave the shades up."

Swimming Around The Channels

Want to sell automobiles to television stars? Better think twice. Lucille Ball has just bought herself a golf cart the better to scoot around the Desilu studio acreage and Steve Franken who's working both on "The Lieutenant" as a happy-go-lucky Marine and on "Mr. Novak" as a shy school teacher races from one set to another by bicycle. Just for a touch of irony we're reminded he first became known as "the snobby millionaire, Chatsworth" on "Dobie Gillis."

Arthur Godfrey has let it be known that he's weighing the possibility of doing a movie . . . and strange as it seems it would be the famous redhead's first!

The reason Arlene Francis stepped in for Bill Cullen who'd planned to step in for Johnny Carson as guest host during the first week of Johnny's vacation is that one of Bill's sponsors objected.

When "Mr. Novak" premieres in September there'll be a credit line saluting as "special guest stars, one thousand wonderful students from John Marshall High, Los Angeles." After the mob scene of opening day, though, things seem to be simmering down. The latest word is that "fifty typical high school students have been selected to appear as a rotating student body of the fictional Jefferson High School."

Let any such take heart. Just before his recent illness Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America said of Ed Sullivan, "He has routed the myth of overexposure by being good for nearly 800 programs in a row."

MAKES ONE SLOPPY—Jack Warden (above) says he turned down a television series that would have made him financially independent to do an off-Broadway play, "Cages." Making films for television and movies makes an actor inclined to become sloppy, he said.

Ecumenical

A Protestant clergyman will be the guest of "The Catholic Hour" Sunday, August 4, on NBC when the program commences a special four-part series of "Conversations On the Second Vatican Council." He is Dr. Frederick Grant, one of the offiical delegate observers appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury. He represents the Episcopal Church in America. Host for the series is James O'Gara, managing editor of The Commonweal Magazine.

Bob Denver of the CBS Television Network's "Dobie Gillis" once taught history and arithmetic and coaches athletics in a California school.

Preview Series

The Vacation Playhouse offering Monday, August 5 (CBS, 8:30), will constitute a sort of preview of a forthcoming series in "Hide And Seek." Glynis Johns and Keith Andes portray Mr. and Mrs. John Granville, the characters of their forthcoming comedy-mystery series. From now on it seem that Glynis is going to act the scatterbrain who creates almost more problems than she solves.

Speaking of "The Virginian," did you know that Doug McClure, formerly of "Checkmate" and a regular in the outdoor opus was a three-letter man in sports at UCLA?

Flirtatious Con Man Irks NBCNewsman

NBC Newsman, Richard Harkness is pretty mad about a confidence man he's never met who is trading on the Harkness name.

He always "travels first class" and by pretending relationship endears himself to the community. After running up big bills (and getting engaged) he vanishes. Localities which have been victimized are Las Vegas, Los Angeles, Houston, Denver, New York, of course Dallas and most recently, Tampa, Florida.

The FBI describes the phony Harkness as "about 33, 6 feet 9, 140 pounds, a dishwater blond with light green eyes." Two other known aliases he uses are Scott Lee Harkness and William Scott.

Richard Harkness has even used an NBC news program to warn the unsuspecting. Says he, "William Marshall Harkness is not my son. Although right now I'd like to meet him face to face!"

Jackie Gleason, CBS Television Network comedy star, has been an entertainer since he won an amateur night contest in Brooklyn at 15.

"Today" In Michigan

NBC "Today" regulars: Hugh Downs, Jack Lescoulie and Pat Fontaine are hitting the road again as the program leaves its home base of "The Florida Show Case" on 49th Street in New York's Radio City and takes off for a week in Michigan.

They'll lead off with two programs (August 5 and 6) at Mackinac Island.

New Audience For Shirl

Shirl Conway, who's gotten pretty used to looking out at white caps when she speaks (because she's now in such demand at nurses graduations as a result of her "Liz Thorpe" role in "The Nurses") had a different audience the last week in June when she went back to her home town of Franklinville, New York, as guest speaker for the high school graduation exercises.

Laugh Lines

Using his "Beverly Hillbillies" drawl, Buddy Ebsen declares a woman is someone who will stand 20 minutes talking at the door because she hasn't time to come in.

Tom Poston who, when he's not panelling on "To Tell The Truth," is collecting and inventing cynicisms for maybe-a-book someday offers his lates, the first of which concerns an actor telling why he should get on a new TV show. "I'm a master at funny faces," he said as a clincher. "I know," said Poston as a squelcher, "I've seen some of your dates."

Tom's other truism of the week in that "opposites usually attract . . . especially when they leave the shades up."

Swimming Around The Channels

Want to sell automobiles to television stars? Better think twice. Lucille Ball has just bought herself a golf cart the better to scoot around the Desilu studio acreage and Steve Franken who's working both on "The Lieutenant" as a happy-go-lucky Marine and on "Mr. Novak" as a shy school teacher races from one set to another by bicycle. Just for a touch of irony we're reminded he first became known as "the snobby millionaire, Chatsworth" on "Dobie Gillis."

Arthur Godfrey has let it be known that he's weighing the possibility of doing a movie . . . and strange as it seems it would be the famous redhead's first!

The reason Arlene Francis stepped in for Bill Cullen who'd planned to step in for Johnny Carson as guest host during the first week of Johnny's vacation is that one of Bill's sponsors objected.

When "Mr. Novak" premieres in September there'll be a credit line saluting as "special guest stars, one thousand wonderful students from John Marshall High, Los Angeles." After the mob scene of opening day, though, things seem to be simmering down. The latest word is that "fifty typical high school students have been selected to appear as a rotating student body of the fictional Jefferson High School."

Let any such take heart. Just before his recent illness Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America said of Ed Sullivan, "He has routed the myth of overexposure by being good for nearly 800 programs in a row."

MAKES ONE SLOPPY—Jack Warden (above) says he turned down a television series that would have made him financially independent to do an off-Broadway play, "Cages." Making films for television and movies makes an actor inclined to become sloppy, he said.

Ecumenical

A Protestant clergyman will be the guest of "The Catholic Hour" Sunday, August 4, on NBC when the program commences a special four-part series of "Conversations On the Second Vatican Council." He is Dr. Frederick Grant, one of the offiical delegate observers appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury. He represents the Episcopal Church in America. Host for the series is James O'Gara, managing editor of The Commonweal Magazine.

Bob Denver of the CBS Television Network's "Dobie Gillis" once taught history and arithmetic and coaches athletics in a California school.

Preview Series

The Vacation Playhouse offering Monday, August 5 (CBS, 8:30), will constitute a sort of preview of a forthcoming series in "Hide And Seek." Glynis Johns and Keith Andes portray Mr. and Mrs. John Granville, the characters of their forthcoming comedy-mystery series. From now on it seem that Glynis is going to act the scatter-brain who creates almost more problems than she solves.

Speaking of "The Virginian," did you know that Doug McClure, formerly of "Checkmate" and a regular in the outdoor opus was a three-letter man in sports at UCLA?

TV Sports Lineup Heavy; ABC Has AFL Exclusive

ABC-TV has a heavy sports line-up set for fall beginning with both exclusive coverage of American Football League games and a weekly half-hour roundup report of all games starting Saturday, September 7 (4:30 p. m.).

January 11 is another day that looms big in ABC's date book because at 3:30 they begin their third year's live coverage of the Professional Bowlers Tour (3:30 p. m.).

They advise that the new format and scoring system recently adopted by the PBA will be used for all televised tournaments. The network states "this system will bring viewers more bowling during the telecasts."

January 11 is also the day ABC commences its second season of "Challenge Gold" teaming Arnold Palmer and Gary Player in 13 matches against teams of top pro golfers. The winnings can go up to $50,000. The matches, which are to be filmed, will be telecast in color.

And NBC announces that for the first time a Junior Rose Bowl Game will be televised nationally. The date is December 14.

CONFIDENT—Just by changing into civvies, Billy "Tinker Bell" Sands goes around practically incognito. The comic predicts "McHale's Navy" in which he appears on ABC-TV will run five years. Now, on the basis of his own prediction he's sold himself on the idea of buying a house in Hollywood.

Asked to describe her home, Nancy "Beverly Hillbillies" Kulp pinned it down aptly as "shabby Cape Cod, located in Tarzan California, and furnished in early vaudeville."
